Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with Illinois license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rnd Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track. Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search

Expect Approval Within A Month

Schaumburg Residents Can Get Flood Insurance Soon

Schaumburg residents should be eligible to purchase flood insurance within the month.

John Coste, Schaumburg village administrator said Thursday approval has been given to the village application for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program.

Coste was responding to the Schaumburg Township Library Board's statement Wednesday that they would petition the village to declare itself a flood prone area so the library could apply for flood insurance.

"It's already been taken care of," Coste said.

He explained the Village of Schaumburg, months before the library sustained flood damage from a creek back-up, had filed an application with the department of housing and urban development (HUD) and the Illinois Department of Local Governmental Affairs.

"NO ANNOUNCEMENT of the approval was made because it came just Wednesday and so far it has been verbal. No written confirmation has been received by the village," said Coste.

The village expects to receive written confirmation within 10 days, he said, adding, until that time he knows nothing more than that the petition has been approved.

He urged Schaumburg citizens to wait until the village makes formal announcement and has further information before calling the village for information.

Schaumburg homes suffered a minor amount of flood damage during last month's rains. The library suffered the largest loss with latest estimates placing damage at $11,633.

The library board members were not aware Schaumburg had made application and were concerned about the possibility of future flooding.

LIBRARY BOARD Atty. John Juergensmeyer has filed application with the office of emergency preparedness, (OEP) and the Illinois Civil Defense Agency; the agencies he says will pick up the bill for the libraries flood damage.

Damage to the library was contained in the new wing. Although a ten-foot high water level was recorded inside the building it was empty of carpeting, furniture and books. The damage was to electrical, heating and air conditioning equipment.

Repairs are almost completed.

Guidance Department To Administer Tests

The Conant High School guidance department will administer the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) Oct. 28, at 7:45 a.m.

Juniors who plan college following graduation, may take the test as "practice" for college entrance tests taken later in the year. Also, students who wish to enter competition for the National Merit Awards must take the test on this date.

An application fee of $3.00 is required to cover the cost of scoring by the test company and the administration of the test. Students may pay the fee and register for the test in the school's guidance office (Room 160). Registration will remain open between Oct. 10 and 25 or until all seats are assigned.

TEARS OF JOY roll on the face of Donna Vom Brack, 17, selected yesterday as homecoming queen at Conant High School. She'll reign over events to be held this weekend. Her

Oust Student For False Fire Alarm

An expulsion from school was approved Wednesday for a Schaumburg High School student who allegedly activated a false fire alarm during last month's student walk out.

The action was unanimously taken by the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education.

The student was expelled for the remainder of the semester for "endangering the life and safety of other students."

During the walkout about 400 students left the school and issued a series of demands. Following the walkout a fire alarm was activated emptying the building.

In other action the board agreed to annex part of Schaumburg Township now served by Barrington High School Dist. 224.

The board voted to submit a petition to the Cook and Lake County boards of school trustees asking that the boundary change be made.

The Barrington district last week voted to submit the same petition to the two boards which control school boundaries. Both Lake and Cook County trustees are involved because Dist. 224 is partly in each county.

The area to be added to Dist. 211 is about 400 acres in the Northwest corner of Schaumburg Township which includes the Barrington Square condominium development.

THE AREA IS within the village of Hoffman Estates and in Schaumburg Township Elementary Dist. 54 but high school students ride the bus about 45 minutes each way to attend Barrington High School.

Cubs Hold Drive

Cub Scout Pack 193 conducted its first fund-raising drive, a flea market, last Saturday at Lakeview School, 280 Lakeview Ln., Hoffman Estates. Following the flea market a hayrack ride and Wiener roast were held.

Building Moratorium Urged By John Kelly

Another local political candidate John Kelly, has called for a moratorium on building in the area until adequate flood controls can be established.

"The solution lies partially in local governments exercising self control in issuance of building permits, in not issuing more building permits until problems relating to flood control, roads, highways, sanitary and storm sewers systems and educational facilities are solved, said Kelly, Democratic candidate for state representative from the third district.

He joins State Rep. Gene Schlickman (R-3rd) and State Sen. John Graham (R-3rd) in calling for the building ban.

Kelly cited two main reasons in his call for the moratorium. He said immediate action is needed while land which may be necessary for flood control can be purchased.

He added that if local governmental units do not take immediate action they may face the possible intervention of state and federal officials in zoning matters.

Kelly said local governments are better suited to handle the problem, adding he is against state and federal intervention.

"I'm against the federal government dictating zoning laws," Kelly said.

Studies of the problem are necessary, but construction must be halted now, because in five years it may be too late to correct the problems, he added.

Church Pancake Day Saturday

"Call it breakfast, lunch or brunch, but try it," urge Prince of Peace Lutheran Church congregation members as they issue an invitation to pancake day at the church Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Women of the parish will serve all you can eat of pancakes, sausages, juice, coffee or milk for $1.75. The price for children 5 to 10 is 75 cents and children under five may enjoy the meal free.

Tickets are available at the church at 900 W. Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates, and also at the door Saturday.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy. He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in Chicago that the drug problem in America has been aided by the advertising of pharmaceutical companies.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his state" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist-Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connelly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 50th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 30.01 to 841.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Search NW Area For Kidnaped Cop

activities.

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five..." before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

Equivalency Testing Applications Taken

Applications for High School equivalency tests will be accepted at Harper College Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the college counseling center.

Application is restricted to persons over 19 years old living in Cook County who have not received a high school diploma. Applicants must have lived in Illinois for at least one year.

Testing is scheduled for three sessions on Oct. 20, 21 and 27. A $5 fee covers all sessions.

Check Marks Replace ABCs On District's Grade Cards

by JERRY THOMAS

Check marks on report cards have replaced the old A, B and C grades that used to tell parents how the kids are doing in school.

Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 Principal Don Stocker worked for two years in committee to make sure the check marks tell parents more than the letters ever did.

Stocker, who chaired a committee of teachers from the district, said the new progress report cards to be used for the first time in this district look at each child as an individual.

Instead of the traditional four printed reports parents would have received during the year, the first marking period will end with a personal parent-teacher conference.

Parents will receive printed report cards on the second and fourth grading periods in January and June but this November report and the April report will be verbal.

STOCKER SAID new programs now in use in the district do not call for the ABC type of grading.

"If a student did his very best and the teacher and parents both agree that he has studied and participated in class but still fails a written test with a 55 percentage grade, his old mark would have had to be a failure grade," said Stocker.

"That's the old way."

"On the new report cards the teacher can tell parents the student is below grade level in that subject but also what amount of effort has been shown.

Stocker said he polled the opinions of about 900 parents while working on the new report system and found those were the two major concerns of parents:

—How much effort their children are putting into their school work.

—Where they stand in relationship to other students in their class.

THE NEW PROGRESS reports the youngsters will be bringing home tell parents those two things and a lot more.

They stress the growth in skills and knowledge in each subject but also include a progress report on the child's behavior patterns.

Interestingly enough, dress and excessive talking have been taken out of the behavior report section.

However items such as the section that tells a parent if the child is courteous in dealing with others gives a good picture of how the child relates to other children.

Parents are encouraged to call their youngsters' teachers and arrange conferences anytime and not feel they are limited to just the two conferences the school schedules.

STOCKER SAID the only good report card system is one that encourages a lot of communication between parents and teachers.

"This report system will tell parents a lot about their children and the progress they make in school," said Stocker.

The new reporting system now will cover first through sixth grades. Stocker and his committee are currently working on changes in the kindergarten and junior high school grading system.

Highpoint Park Flooding Discussed

A possible solution to the flooding problems at Highpoint Park in Hoffman Estates was reviewed earlier in the week by the Hoffman Estates Park District Board of Commissioners.

The park area, slated for extensive development as part of the district's park improvement program, has been subjected to extensive flooding in recent months.

Park officials had been told correcting the problem might be costly, but the latest recommended solution can probably be implemented with funds allocated for the area.

The solution recommended by John Mackey of the Lochner Engineering Co. calls for the enlargement of the lake at the park and extensive use of fill material to raise a portion of the park site above flood level.

MACKEY SAID the plan will not reduce the retention capacity of the lake. He added the solution, which might cost about $30,000, is the most economical remedy for the flooding problem.

Park district officials expressed confidence they could obtain the 80,000 cubic yards of fill needed for the project at no cost from various construction sites in the area. If the district had to pay for the fill, the project could cost over $160,000.

The district has planned several recreation fields, tennis courts and play apparatus for the park.

Park Comm. Fred Weaver said the district was aware of the flooding problem prior to last June's $875,000 referendum, but went ahead with planning because the park is one of the largest in the district. He said the solution will give the district 20 acres of usable park land.

PARK OFFICIALS will study the feasibility of the proposal before granting final approval.

In other action, the board reviewed plans for development of Armstrong, Cottonwood, Blackhawk, Twinbrook parks and the Twin Lakes. Bids on development of these areas will probably be let in about two weeks. The district hopes to complete some of the work this fall.

MSD, Village Discuss Problem

Seek Compromise On Del Lago Villas

A compromise is being sought between the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) and the Village of Schaumburg over construction of the Del Lago Villas development on the south side of Higgins Road west of Meacham Road.

MSD officials have refused a sewer permit for the proposed septimum project charging that the development is in conflict with the Upper Salt Creek Watershed work plan. The work plan was just recently approved by the MSD and various Northwest suburban communities.

"The homes in the development would be subject to flooding," MSD General Supt. Ben Sosewitz said at yesterday's MSD meeting.

"There is a strong possibility there would be flooding in the area," MSD Chief Eng. Forest C. Neil said.

MOREOVER, THE proposed project does not include provisions for preserving in its natural state a 700-foot-wide flood plain strip along the west branch of Salt Creek which flows through the Del Lago Villas property.

The Salt Creek work plan calls for Schaumburg to keep such a strip of flood plain free of buildings.

At yesterday's MSD meeting an attorney for Consumers' Development and Construction Ltd., builders of the proposed project, said Del Lago Villas would help rather than increase flooding in the area.

Atty. David Mellor pointed out that the proposed sewer connection meets all MSD ordinance requirements. He called the Salt Creek work plan a "a hypothetical situation," pointing out federal funding has not yet been approved to assure implementation of the plan.

ROGER PATSOR OF Applied Engineering Co., Arlington Heights, said the proposed retention basin in the development more than meets MSD requirements. He said that even if the creek is not deepened and improved as proposed, Del Lago Villas will not flood unless there is a storm more intense than any in the past.

Patsor said the lowest building in the project would be higher than any water level that has yet appeared. He said the 40-acre flood retention basin in the proposed project would help areas downstream by holding back water which now flows directly into the creek.

Neil admitted the basin would "improve the situation downstream somewhat," but he pointed out there are no homes in the area now to be affected by flooding and there will be homes if Del Lago Villas is built. He said the U.S. Soil and Conservation Service has found the project to be incompatible with the Salt Creek work plan.

SOSEWITZ SUGGESTED further meetings to see if a compromise could be reached. He admitted the development meets MSD ordinances, yet he noted the MSD has a $1 million commitment to the Salt Creek work plan and must try to implement it whenever possible.

Sosewitz said he could see that keeping the 700-foot-wide flood plain open might be impossible for the developer to consider. "Let's defer action and see if we can't go back and find a middle ground," he suggested to other MSD officials and the developer.

After Sosewitz suggested the delay, Schaumburg Village Eng. Joseph Zgonina spoke to the MSD board. He said the village agrees with the developer even though it has endorsed the Salt Creek work plan. He said the work plan is "too much of a burden on that area of Schaumburg."

"We are controlling development in the east half of the village." There are other areas which can be substituted for the retention in the Del Lago project, he said, "including an enclosed natural arboretum on property to the south."

THE J. EMIL ANDERSON and Sons property north of Del Lago Villas will also have retention when it is developed, the Schaumburg Industrial Park already has retention, and the Wiley Farm, which is 90 per cent in the flood plain, will never be developed. "There will be sufficient retention upstream," he said.

He assured the MSD the Village of Schaumburg would guarantee land in the area by the creek would be developed with large planned developments including retention facilities, not in parcels smaller than five acres which are exempt from MSD retention requirements.

"We feel Schaumburg has stringent guidelines for development... We are aware of the problem with Salt Creek and we don't want the problems with the creek that Palatine, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows have experienced," he said.

Consumer Bill Big Issue In Senate

by BOB LAHEY

Attempt by Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois to secure legislation for creation of a Consumer Protection Agency highlighted action in the U.S. Senate last week.

The continuing debate led to charges by Percy that the Nixon administration was behind efforts to stall the consumer bill, co-sponsored by Percy, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Following is a partial summary of the voting records and other activities of Illinois' two senators and congressmen from the Northwest suburbs. (Due to mail service, not all copies of the Congressional Record, from which this summary is taken, were available. Votes not included in this summary will be published next Friday.)

Included in the summary are Illinois' two senators Percy and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, and Northwest suburban congressmen Harold Collier, R-10th, Philip M. Crane, R-13th, and Robert McClory, R-12th.

Also included are Rep. Abner Mikva, D-2nd, candidate for reelection in the new 10th Congressional District; and Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-11th, candidate for the U.S. Senate.

State Board Of Education Gets Support Of Chapman

State Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, has expressed her tentative support for a proposed bill to form a state board of education by mid-1973.

The bill, in tentative form, was presented last month to the Illinois School Problems Commission, which screens proposals and recommends them to the legislature.

The proposal, drawn up by the commission's research director, Ben Hubbard, calls for a 15-member state board appointed by the governor. The state board would be responsible for public and private schools, preschool through 12th grade.

Mrs. Chapman said the provisions of the tentative draft of the bill "sound pretty good and politically feasible, but this is a proposal they should have had a year ago."

The new Illinois Constitution called for creation of a state board of education on July 1, 1971, she said, adding, "I introduced a measure on it in the 1971 session and the 1972 session and it didn't move out of the Senate education committee."

The state board will take over full control of state education matters when the term of State School Supt. Michael Bukalski expires in Jan., 1975. At that time, the state board will have to appoint the next school superintendent.

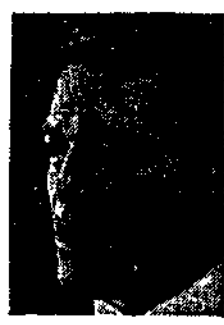

"The important thing," Mrs. Chapman said, "is that we get the state board operating right away. We need a tradition-setting period so that decisions will be well-planned and we want the board to make a national search for the state superintendent."

Psychic Dreamers - Reality Or Dream?

Section I Friday, October 6, 1972 THE HERALD

by TOM TIEDE
NEW YORK — Last spring, during the presidential primaries, a woman wrote a letter to a New York man saying she had just dreamt that "Governor George Wallace is going to be shot. . . at a rally. . . as he steps off a stage." Few weeks later, as events had it, Wallace was shot, almost exactly as the woman had written. On the night of the shooting, the woman contacted the New York man again, this time by phone, saying: "My God, it really happened. I'm afraid to go to bed and dream again."

The woman's name is unimportant; she is merely one of a thousand, perhaps a million, people in the world who reportedly dream psychic dreams. The man in New York is Robert D. Nelson, a student of the subconscious; he says he calmed the woman, then urged her to get back to sleep and get back to dreaming because: "It's just possible, I think that some day a lady like this is going to avert a similar tragedy."

Nelson is the director of something called the Central Premonitions Registry (Box 482, Times Square Station, N.Y.), and his hobby and passion is collecting the queer dreams and outlandish hunches of people from Lansing to London. Why? "Well, I don't think we should just ignore the strong feelings people get. Time and again we see where people have actually predicted events before they happen. My idea is to scrutinize these predictions, to gather them together and to see if some good can be made of them. For example, if I got three or four letters suddenly, advising me that Richard Nixon was going to be in a plane crash on a certain day, I would not hesitate to pick up the phone, call the White House, and advise his people of the hunch."

STOP HERE. For a moment please. This is not one of those snicker articles about a visionary fruitcake. Neither is it a story of crystal balls or third-eye peeping. People have been successfully predicting events since Nostradamus. A sailor once wrote a book foreseeing the sinking of the Titanic. Dozens of citizens had premonitions about Lincoln's assassination. Few people, in fact, lack a ripe personal story of some unexplained dream come true. Sound scientific evidence says such things are poppycock. Robert Nelson himself says they are "essentially impossible" — but they happen anyway and Nelson's interest lies in exploring the fact that they do.

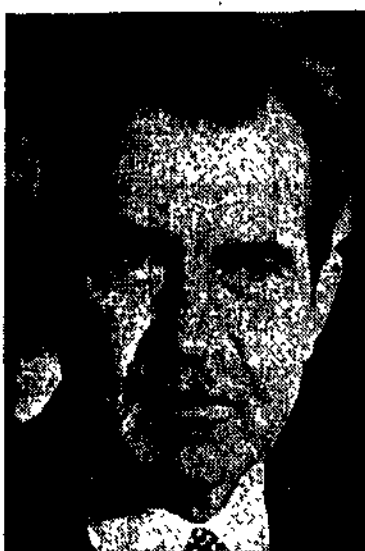

To get on with it, then, Nelson's call to his peculiar avocation began some years ago when he assisted staffers in the Dream Laboratory in Brooklyn's Maimonides hospital. The long-established laboratory studies such things as sleepers' ability to remember their dreams. During experiments, Nelson found that a few of the volunteer dreamers not only remembered what they had dreamed the night before, but what they were going to dream the night to come. Thus: "I was bitten. I had to take it out of the laboratory and to the general population. I set my registry up in 1968."

Since then, Nelson has received more than 3,500 dreams and predictions. Most of them so far off mark as to be idiotic. One lady dreamed that radical pediatrician Benjamin Spock would be President Nixon's next secretary of Health, Education and Welfare — before, of course, Spock began his own presidential candidacy. Another sleeper dreamed the Los Angeles Dodgers would win the world series — before teams like Cincinnati and Pittsburgh had placed them 10 games off the divisional pace.

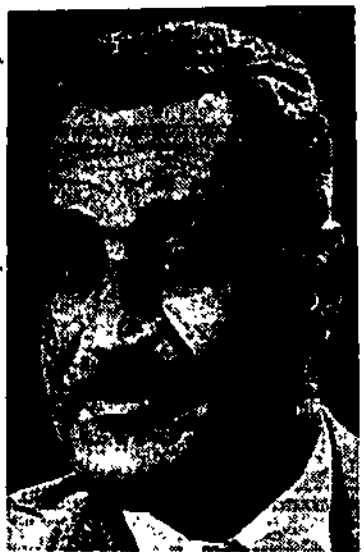

YET ABOUT 1 per cent of the predictions have been, says Nelson, "close enough to be encouraging." And at least 25 premonitions have been smack on the

GEORGE WALLACE

RICHARD M. NIXON

GAMAL NASSER

nose. Wallace, for example. And a prediction of Gamal Abdel Nasser's 1971 death. So, says Nelson. It happens. "Recently I've gotten separately two letters predicting that Johnny Bench (the Cincinnati baseball catcher) is going to be injured. On the arm. The reason I mention this is because both predictions came in at about the same time, from people who have no contact with each other. I don't really think Mr. Bench should stay indoors for the next few weeks — but well, for what it's worth."

Nelson, doubtless, thinks some of the premonitions he receives are worth plenty. He hesitates to come right out solidly behind the idea that some men dream the future, but he leaves the possibility open for healthy inspection. "I was recently in Moscow for a conference there. The Russians, by the way, are very interested in premonitions. Anyway, while I was there I saw two Russian women move objects around a table entirely by thought control. Honest. I saw it. Ever since then, I tell you, I've had an open mind about everything. I know people will call me balmy, but I have to risk that. I'm just not going to shut out any possibilities."

Thus he goes on with his one-man investigation of what happens when the world slumbers. Right now, with the help of his willing, but less than convinced wife, he indexes all premonitions into 13 categories — (the most popular one: "Famous Personalities, Injury or Death"). He also, whenever opportunity allows, encourages people to remember and record their dreams. "Everybody dreams, that's a scientific fact. Four or five dreams a night for a couple of hours. MY HOPE is that people will train themselves to remember their dreams. Especially their psychic dreams. What is a psychic dream? We find they usually can be defined when (1) they are dreams of tremendous impact, (2) they are vivid technicolor dreams, or (3) the dreamer tends to be an observer rather than a participant in what he's dreaming."

As of now, admittedly, Robert Nelson's probe is a puny one. One woman guessing the Wallace fate, and a few others with similar accuracies, is not a platform on which to build a new science. But, Well, Heck, Bob Nelson has dreams too. He dreams of computerized premonitions, whole rows of cardfile hunches, and eventually an "early warning system" to prevent disasters. Ah, Yes. He can see it now. "Mr. President," he sees himself saying, in 1992, "concerning your trip to the moon today. I don't want to alarm you but, according to last night's snoring report, the 5:22 rocket is a no-no."

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Political prognosticating is always a chancy business, but if we can believe what the polls and pundits tell us about the presidential campaign, two things shall come to pass:

1. The Committee to Reelect the President will continue to amass vast sums in campaign contributions until finally it controls 51 per cent of the nation's wealth.

Campaign strategists then meet to decide what to do with the surplus.

"This is great," one strategist chortles. "The President won't have to depend on a Democratic Congress to appropriate funds for his programs."

"He can just tell us how much he needs to run the government and the committee will write him a check."

"THAT WON'T DO," another strategist demurs. "The problem is not getting Congress to provide funds; the problem is getting Congress not to provide excessive funds. We'll have to think of something else."

After lengthy discussion the committee hits upon a solution: give every man, woman and child in the United States $1,000.

The Committee admits borrowing the idea from George McGovern, but points out a major difference.

McGovern had planned to get the money from the U.S. Treasury, which couldn't afford it.

2. The final public opinion polls before the election will show the President is only one vote short of a unanimous victory.

Through the use of computers and other scientific survey techniques, the lone holdout is identified as Delbert Dalperdang, a retired bear bristle importer now living in Fort Snowtread, Colo.

This is a shock to the President's campaign strategists, who thought they had the retired bear bristle importer vote sewed up.

The Committee to Reelect the President immediately brings its entire campaign apparatus to bear on Dalperdang.

VICE PRESIDENT Agnew flies to Fort Snowtread to solicit his vote. The President himself appears before Dalperdang on closed circuit television.

"The President has his heart set on being the first Republican chief executive ever reelected by acclamation," Dalperdang is told. "What would it take to get you to change your mind? A Cabinet post perhaps? Henry Kissinger's phone book? You can name your own terms."

"Sorry, fellows," Dalperdang replies. "I've already voted by absentee ballot."

And that takes all the suspense out of the election.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

North's hand is weak for a limit jump raise since his queen of clubs is not likely to be worth much if it is worth anything. South has a clear-cut rebid to game.

West opens the queen of spades and South sees that in spite of the surprisingly poor dummy he has a diamond finesse for game.

If South is in a hurry he wins the spade in dummy, tries and loses the diamond finesse and winds up one trick short of his contract.

If South stops to analyze the lead and review the bidding he decides that West does not hold both ace and king of clubs since in that case he would probably open a club to have a look at dummy.

In that case could he have made a vulnerable overcall without the king of diamonds? Possibly, but not likely. Furthermore, East might well have raised clubs with short hearts, a high club and side king.

Can East find some way to make his contract if West has the diamond king?

If he looks carefully he will find the chance. He can make it if East holds both the jack and 10.

Beggars can't be choosers, South leads a diamond from the dummy at trick two

by LEA TONKIN

Fred Meeske has a beef with consumers who think they'd be getting a break buying fresh meat after 6 p.m.

Those juicy offers made by chain stores this week to union butchers for the privilege of selling meat during evening hours are going to cost consumers extra money, says Meeske, part owner of the Meeske's Super Market in Mount Prospect. He is a former member of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America. The organization was offered additional pay by at least two major supermarket chain operations this week in return for an opportunity to sell meat after 6 p.m.

JEWEL FOOD STORES made its offer Wednesday. This came after the union's decision two weeks ago not to consider a bid to sell meat after 6 p.m. A spokesman for Dominick's Finer Foods said the company had made an unpublished offer similar to Jewel's this week. The union contract with Chicago area food stores expired last weekend.

The Jewel offer included pay increases for meat cutters and other meat department personnel, if the union agrees that meat cut and packaged during regular working hours can be sold after 6 p.m.

"Meat is going to cost more if it's sold at night, though," according to Meeske. "It's all in the cost of service."

"As far as we are concerned, it would mean poor service to sell after 6 p.m.," he added. "You can't anticipate how much of a particular cut of meat you'll need, or if a customer is going to want a cut of a special thickness of meat."

CONCERN FOR THE consumer is cited by the major chains in their bid for extended butchers' hours, however. The Dominick's spokesman said, "All food operators have the care of the customer in mind, and they want to buy meat after 6 p.m."

"I doubt there would be an increase in prices if meat is sold after six," because we would hope for additional sales," he continued. "Right now we have a lot of meat on hand that is cut after 6 p.m., but we can't sell it."

"No negotiating sessions are set on the latest offer," said the Dominick's spokesman yesterday afternoon. "In the meantime, we are still open later hours in our stores. We're open to change," he said of the added evening hours in Chicago area stores. The company is studying the buying trends of shoppers in the Chicago area after 6 p.m., he said.

"We get quite a few letters from customers complaining they can't buy meat at night, but we tell them to write to the union or the newspapers to put the pressure on," he added.

Jewel officials said the company's latest offer to the butchers' union is made in response to overwhelming consumer demand and the concern expressed by meat cutters about evening and Sunday work. The firm withdrew from group negotiations with other food stores this week in making the offer.

A PREVIOUS OFFER requiring a journeyman on duty until 9 p.m. at overtime rates in return for the sale of meat after 6 p.m. was turned down by the union.

The Jewel offer includes an additional pay allowance of $10 a week for head meat cutters and journeymen; $6 a week for apprentices; and $4 a week for full-time wrappers and delicatessen employees, subject to Pay Board approval, in stores where meat can be sold after 6 p.m. Sunday and holiday work would be eliminated and no meat cutters or wrappers would have to work after 6 p.m.

Harry G. Beckner, Jewel president, noted many customers have few hours during the week in which they can purchase fresh meat because of their jobs. "Others find it presently impossible to provide for unexpected needs for fresh meats which arise after the present 6 p.m. sales restriction," he said.

Beckner noted that other area employers in the Chicago area are making similar offers.

The Jewel offer also included an added pay allowance to the union demand for a base pay contract boost of $10 for all full-time meat department personnel that would be retroactive to Oct. 1 of this year along with other fringe benefits.

A continued consumer interest in the later shopping hours for fresh meat is reported by Jim McLean, manager of the Jewel Food store in Elk Grove Village. Working men and women have a problem buying meat, he said, since they can only shop for meat on Saturday.

WEIGHING THE cost of meat sold after 6 p.m. could be a consideration for consumers if chain stores gain union approval of evening sales. Now offers to butchers were made this week by area food store chains.

Connally To Head State Or Defense?

by STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is an oddly persistent rumor in fairly exalted quarters here that President Nixon, if re-elected, intends to appoint John B. Connally secretary of state or defense secretary.

The durability of the rumor is odd not because Connally is undeserving of reward. On the contrary, Nixon is deeply indebted to the Texan for his success in rounding up disgruntled "Democrats for Nixon" with the fastest checkbooks in the West. What puzzles most observers, however, is that Connally appears particularly unsuited to the job at State and unlikely to be enchanted by the one at Defense.

While serving as Nixon's treasury secretary in 1971, Connally left a trail of bruised diplomatic egos around the world. He knocked heads together with little regard for diplomatic niceties to force acceptance of the President's 10 per cent import surtax, dollar devaluation and measures by foreign traders to help correct the unfavorable balance of trade.

THAT THESE measures might have had little effect as yet on Washington's economic problems is neither here nor there. The fact is that resentment of Connally's tough tactics apparently persists among some of the most important trading partners of the United States.

Foreign diplomats, as well as most U.S. observers, find it difficult to envision Connally in a role where the application of the iron hand in the velvet glove is more effective, in the long run, than the bare knuckle tactics of the former Texas governor.

As for the job as defense secretary, Connally's friends — who assume he is interested in some springboard which could help catapult him into the presidency — point out that the Pentagon job is not a good launching pad. Managing America's war machine is deemed to create the wrong image for an aspirant to the presidency.

One intriguing aspect is that if Connally were appointed to head either the State or Defense Department, it would almost certainly mean that Nixon was willing to get rid of his almost legendary foreign policy operative, presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, or that Kissinger himself had decided that four years was enough and he would quit while he was ahead.

WHITE HOUSE officials agree that two strongly individualistic characters such as Kissinger and Connally could not possibly coexist in Washington if both had a hand in international policy. Each, in his different way, has an ego which officials contend would make for an impossible situation.

The defense job will be open since Secretary Melvin R. Laird has said that he intends to quit after the election. However, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, according to his intimates, intends to stay on if Nixon wants him.

And so far, officials say, Nixon has given no sign whatever that he is dissatisfied with Rogers, whose low-keyed behind scenes diplomatic work is judged by the President to be very effective, if not as spectacular as the operations by Kissinger.

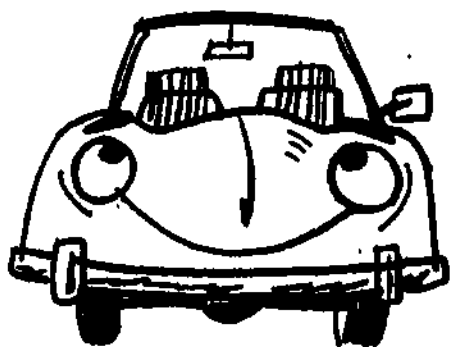

Kissinger himself, in talks to some newsmen, has injected another interesting element into this game. He talks about what a great secretary of state he thinks Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be. Kissinger was Rockefeller's adviser on foreign affairs at the time the governor was contesting Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968.

Meanwhile, Nixon is keeping his own counsel, apparently making no promises to anyone and no decisions on his Cabinet until after the November election.

ROOM 222, ABC. A bigoted father protests when black and white students are assigned to work on school projects together. 8 p.m. CDT.

Q—WE HAVE A young man living next door who is a radio operator. His broadcasting interferes with our television reception. Since he doesn't have a license, can we put a stop to this?

A—It is against the law to operate a radio station of any kind, including ham radio or Citizen's Band radio, without a license. Upon notification, the Engineer-in-Charge, Federal Communication Commission, 219 S. Dearborn, Chicago, 60604, will investigate.

However, whether or not the operator is licensed, there are steps which will prevent further interference. In most cases, installation of a "high pass" filter on the television set will solve the problem. Such filters are available at nominal cost, if any, from the set's manufacturer or from a local dealer. The ham operator also is required to have a filter in his transmitter which restricts its signal to an assigned frequency.

Julie Andrews Show Rating Plunges

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

The headliners: Julie Andrews’ new ABC-TV variety series plummeted to 64th place among 69 programs in the national video ratings for the week ending Sept. 24th. The Walter Matthau-Inggrid Bergman-Goldie Hawn movie comedy, “Cactus Flower,” about a playboy dentist, scored potentially for NBC-TV last Saturday night in the spot New York ratings.

The Matthau-Jack Lemmon film “The Odd Couple,” based on Neil Simon’s stage comedy, is ABC-TV’s Sunday Night motion picture Oct. 15. Jimmy Durante is a guest on CBS-TV’s Sonny and Cher Show Oct. 13, and Jim Brown appears on the same series Oct. 20.

Jean Stapleton, leading lady of CBS-TV’s “All in the Family,” is the guest star on NBC-TV’s “Laugh-In” Oct. 23. Patty Duke appears on ABC-TV’s “The Sixth Sense” Oct. 14 as a young woman terrified that her boyfriend Robert Foxworth has been possessed by the telepathic force of Jack the Ripper.

HELEN HAYES headlines NBC-TV’s “Ghost Story” Oct. 27 as a teacher whose best student turns to murder. Jack Haley Sr. guest-stars on ABC-TV’s “Marcus Welby, M.D.” Oct. 17. Eddie Egan, the Ex-New York cop on whose exploits the movie “The French Connection” was based, portrays a police lieutenant in next Tuesday’s ABC-TV “Movie of the Week.”

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos is interviewed Sunday on NBC-TV’s “Meet The Press.” The current state of the American Indian is examined in a seven-part report on the same network’s “Today” program starting Friday. Karen Black today guest-stars in “Ghost Story.” Tony Randall, of ABC-TV’s “The Odd Couple” series, also stars, beginning this week, in a monthly half-hour variety show titled “Top of the Month.” . . the shows, to be presented the first week of each month through June, also feature singer-dancer-comedienne E. J. Peaker.

Premiere: “The ABC After-school Special,” a new one-hour series for youngsters that will be seen the first Wednesday of each month, arrived Oct. 4 at 1:30 p.m. EDT with an exceptional animated program, “The Last of the Curlews,” about the survival struggle of a once-numerous bird. It is an hour that rewards adult viewers as well as children.

ADD PROGRAMS: The season premiere of NBC-TV’s “Bonanza,” a special two-hour effort in which one of the stars Michael Landon married a girl later killed, finished fourth in the national ratings, but with the next week’s episode the series dropped to 39th place, tied with CBS-TV’s “Doris Day Show.”

“CBS Reports” offers an hour about sky-jacking Oct. 20. CBS-TV’s daytime soap opera “Love of Life” began its 22nd year last week.

Policy: Under ABC-TV’s recently adapted decision to allow published previews of its programs, the network’s individual stations have an option on the matter, but things generally seem to be working out smoothly.

Sammy Davis Could Get Another Shot At TV Show

by DICK DuBROW

Sammy Davis, whose NBC-TV variety series failed a while back in the ratings, apparently will be given another crack at a possible weekly show. If the nonmusical 90-minute pilot film on NBC-TV this season comes off well, it might develop into a half-hour situation comedy in which Davis would play an inept messenger of the devil on earth. Title of the pilot: “Poor Devil.”

Another black personality, ex-basketball star Bill Russell, appears to be ascending in video prominence. He has been a guest host on Dick Cavett’s ABC-TV show. He is a commentator for ABC-TV’s basketball coverage. He does some comedy material with Wilson as a guest on the humorist’s variety series Oct. 12.

And the producer of the series says he will book Russell for future appearance because the chemistry between Wilson and him is so good.

Yet another black star, Sidney Poitier, currently is having a hot video run. He recently appeared on NBC-TV in the movie “In the Heat of the Night,” which got a big rating. And he has a number of other motion pictures coming up soon on CBS-TV: “To Sir, with Love” tonight, “They Call me Mister Tibbs” Oct. 13 and a rerun of “Guess Who’s Coming to Dinner” Oct. 26.

But while blacks have made much headway on television, Latins are also pressing for more home screen representation. They want more contract players signed, and they want to upgrade the film image of Latins.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you please explain the significance of triglycerides in the blood and treatment of an abnormal amount.

Dear Reader — There are constantly increasing questions about triglycerides which reflect the increased use of these tests. It is a blood test used to find out how much fat there is in the blood which in turn provides information on the likelihood of developing fatty deposits in the arteries or atherosclerosis which can cause heart attacks, strokes, and other medical problems.

The fat in the blood stream is in the form of fatty acids. Three separate fatty acid groups combine with glycerol to form a salt made of these organic chemical compounds. The resulting fatty particles, because of the three fatty acids and the glycerol, is called a triglyceride. It is loosely combined with the cholesterol in the blood and blood proteins to form a particle called lipoproteins.

Doctors can make a number of different measurements of the lipoproteins in an effort to assess a person's likelihood of developing heart disease or strokes. One of these is to measure the amount of triglycerides. Other tests go further and look at the different types of fatty acids that make up the triglycerides. A more common test is to measure the amount of cholesterol in the blood as an index of how many fatty particles there are. Then some scientists measure the whole lipoprotein by very complex mechanisms. There remains much discussion about which ones of these tests are the best in predicting or identifying fatty deposits in the arteries.

Regardless of which ones of these tests are performed, if the values are considered to be too high, the usual forms of treatment are about the same. The initial effort is to correct any dietary problem which includes eating too many calories of anything and the correction of the diet problems in relation to eating fats, particularly saturated fats and cholesterol. If diet, exercise, and habit patterns do not produce satisfactory results, some doctors resort to using medicines.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like some information regarding alfalfa (tablet form). I have been told that it is good for the following ailments: kidney, bladder, bowels and arthritis, and would like your opinion of it.

Dear Reader — If you're eating a balanced diet, I can't believe that alfalfa tablets can do anything for you except lighten your pocketbook. If there is a serious question about whether you are on a balanced diet or not I'd rather see you take a regular vitamin tablet on a daily basis.

Alfalfa does contain vitamin E, but vitamin E is present in so many food-stuffs that any reasonably normal diet should provide a sufficient amount of this for anyone. As far as claims for alfalfa tablets curing kidney, bladder, bowel or arthritis problems, forget it.

'Open Campus' Makes Sense

School cafeteria lunches will probably never be able to compete with McDonald's hamburgers in the eyes of a high school student.

Even so, some local school officials are still finding themselves playing policeman to enforce the students' presence in the cafeterias.

We believe they should abandon the effort, since it diverts their attention from the business of education.

At Schaumburg High School recently, about 400 students staged a walk-out, presenting a list of demands to the administration. One of the demands was for "open campus" — that is, they want the right to leave the school building and grounds during their lunch periods.

Although we cannot agree with many of the students' demands, the one on open campus makes sense. Under present policy in High School Dist. 211, none of the students can leave during lunch unless they have specific permission from the parents.

The reason for the policy seems to be partly rooted in the old belief that schools must exercise the same kind of discipline as parents. In addition, when the subject came up at a Dist. 211 board meeting, one board member said he could see the students playing hooky after lunch and could see "beer cans all over the school" if open campus was allowed.

Both fears seem groundless. Many high schools have trouble with truancy, particularly when students cut single classes. However, high schools in Dist. 214, Dist. 211's neighbor, report no increase in the problem and all of them now have open campus.

Schools now have rules prohibiting beer and other contraband from the school grounds. The board member's fear that the problem in that regard would increase seems nonsensical — the rules could be enforced and students who want to bring a six-pack of beer to school would probably be as likely to bring it in the morning as at noon.

The real point is that school officials and students have better things to do than argue about whether students should go to a restaurant for lunch.

The law clearly allows schools to have open campus policies. If Dist. 211 would adopt an open campus policy, everyone concerned could worry about something more important.

Fence Post Letters To The Editor

'Shoot To Kill' Protects Homes'

Every individual has the right to protect himself, his family and his property as provided by the Bill of Rights by our founders of our great country. The people should have the right to 'shoot to kill' anyone forcing entry into the sanctity of one's home. After all, anyone forcing entry has some evil purpose in mind. One's home is one's castle! People who are in their home when they protect themselves should not even be arraigned or inconvenienced by a couple of nights in jail by reason of the right to keep and bear arms and protect one's person, house and property.

It should not matter what the person's mental condition is who is doing the breaking and entering; after all, their rights end where the owner's rights begin. Sympathy must be put aside for later — when one is protecting one's own life and the lives of his children and family.

This applies more emphatically when one is protecting children. Children's whole lives may be affected by rapists, attackers and murderers. Consider the tremendous amount of money a parent may have to put out to enable a child in one of these circumstances to live a normal life, with the exception of the child being murdered in which case we would not even have them around to brighten our lives. We should house and feed these monster freaks for them to get loose and kill again — or mess up someone's life again.

With all this Supreme Court leniency and the abandonment of the death penalty, we are supposed to feel the criminal comes first and our rights second. Consider the number of innocent productive lives lost in the Speck case and the one sordid life of Richard Speck deserves all this pity? Who are they kidding? Have the courts of this country gone soft? Everyone knows discipline has to be maintained to keep order anywhere.

Some screwballs would kill anyone they did not happen to tolerate and be glad to go to prison and live off the taxpayers for a while. I do mean for a while — considering the short sentences and paroles and lenient treatment they have been receiving lately. One has to use a little common sense and not go overboard with pity.

One can use one's religious piety to prevent people from becoming such monsters by being good parents and citizens, controlling drugs, and preventing child beatings. To protect people like this who have such a slight chance of rehabilitation and cure; and to put them out on the large number of innocent people in society; so that they can go on the rampage and ruin someone else's life and kill again is unspeakably more cruel than putting them to death.

It has been said before, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." Discipline, law and justice belong to the government, spiritual things belong to God.

Zoning Change Attacked

It is not necessary to live in a big city or be of a minority group to be classed as a second class citizen in Mount Prospect. Just live in the 200 block of North Louis Street. You will soon learn how it feels.

We cannot have our street repaired because it is only a half street. We pay a sewer tax that does not benefit our section, but does benefit the other sections of Mount Prospect. These are a few of the things that have happened to us over the years.

Now we are going to have the back end of a three story commercial building right across from the front of our homes. A wholesale and retail tile and carpet store is to be built facing Rand Road and backing on the front of our homes.

The fact that the property in question has been zoned residential ever since it was annexed into the village or that the court ruled in our favor before means nothing to the village now. They are going to try to make an "out of court" settlement with the title firm by a consent degree.

Isn't it a shame we didn't buy in the "country club" section (we being taxed for that, too) so that we could be first class citizens also?

County Line

Scandal Review

by ROGER CAPELLINI
Metropolitan Editor

There seems to be one major aspect of this current fight between County Board Pres. George Dunne and Comptroller James Gaughan, which hasn't been explained — what is the real reason behind Dunne's attempt to take control of the office away from the county clerk?

On the surface, and as publicly stated by Dunne, he brought up the subject of the ordinance changing the control of the comptroller's office Monday because he was disturbed about the recent revelations of wrongdoing in the office.

But Dunne also said, and it seems to have been lost in the shuffle, he first proposed the ordinance back in November — long before the comptroller's office was slammed by first the Hodgman scandal and then Gaughan's rehiring of his too-sick-to-work boss.

In other words, the rehiring of Hodgman at $200 a day was merely the straw which broke Dunne's back, as they say, and sparked him to renew his efforts to get the ordinance adopted by the county board.

In November 1971, long before the office was beset with scandal, Dunne sent County Board Secy. Michael Igoe to the state's attorney's office to ask about the legality of such an ordinance.

Hanrahan's office replied Dec. 13, 1971 that the move would be strictly unconstitutional.

And that ended the matter. That is, until Monday.

So the question is: What was Dunne's reason in November for trying to get the comptroller's office out of the hands of County Clerk Edward Barrett?

There are three glaring possibilities. First, Dunne may have had some information in November that all was not purty in the comptroller's office. That was about the time the county was running its budget hearings and Dunne may have caught on that the comptroller was not telling him the whole truth about county funds and appropriations.

There is some support for that kind of thinking. In his statement this week, Hanrahan said, "The state's attorney's office certainly is aware of serious problems in the operations of the comptroller's office." He also said, "the public is properly concerned with the operations of that office."

The second possibility is that Dunne is looking ahead to November 1974 when the office of county board president goes up for grabs.

The way things have been going for Dunne in the past year, he will have to work hard and begin early to convince the voters he is trying to run an honest government if he is going to seek reelection.

And there's no reason to think he won't.

Which brings us to the next possibility for trying to wrest control of the comptroller's office away from Barrett.

Five months after the election of the county board president in 1971 the post of mayor of Chicago will be decided in April 1975.

Dunne may be entertaining ideas of trying to succeed Mayor Richard Daley for the job, and if he does, he will need a strong political power base from which to work — like county board president. Or even better — like county board president with control of departments the county clerk used to have.

It's a simple political axiom in Cook county: The more county workers you have under your control the more politically powerful you are.

That might explain why the fight between Barrett and Dunne is being held right out in the open, and only a few weeks before an election at that.

True, neither Dunne nor Barrett have to win their jobs in an election this year, but a bitter public argument between two key Democrats can only hurt the party's county ticket.

It's possible Dunne may have acted out of anger with Barrett after the county clerk embarrassed him not once, but twice, with the employment of Hodgman. There have been indications Dunne was taken completely by surprise by the most recent exposure of Hodgman's lucrative arrangements. Maybe Dunne just decided he had had enough of Barrett's double dealing and decided to put an end to it.

It's somewhat hard to imagine, however, that something couldn't have been worked out in private.

The argument may represent the beginnings of an intra-party struggle to build a power base for 1975. But the whole thing could be an exercise in futility, because it's difficult to envision a healthy Richard Daley stepping aside for anyone.

Cliche's Last Stand

It's OK. to use all kinds of four-letter words in print these days, but you'd better watch those cliches. They're bound to offend someone.

An example is an article which appeared recently in Health Services World, the employee magazine of the Health Services and Mental Health Administration, an agency of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The article dealt with the subject of hyperactive children and used the phrase, "yells like an attacking Indian," to describe the behavior of one such child.

This drew an outraged response from a number of readers, who yelled like — well, like Indians being attacked.

"We American Indians are proud people," wrote one. "We don't care to be insulted in print with words like 'yells like an attacking Indian.' Yelling is not the way of the Indian."

The phrase, complained another wounded Indian, "was in poor taste and a very good example of stereotyped thinking on your part!"

They have a point. It has been a long time since Indians have either yelled or attacked anybody. It can also be argued that the white man did his own share of yelling and attacking.

Far better had the writer chosen some other phrase — "screams like a wailing banshee," perhaps.

But then the women's liberation movement, Irish division, would have been up in arms.

Assyrian Best-Seller

Gift suggestion for the man who doesn't quite have everything: The soon-to-be released Volume L of the Assyrian Dictionary

In its 50th year of preparation at the University of Chicago, the dictionary of words used in the ancient Babylonian and Assyrian civilizations some 4,500 years ago has not been exactly a runaway best seller. Cost to the public of Volume K, published in 1971, was $50.

As noted, Volume L is slated for this fall, with a run of 1,250 copies.

Volume M is being prepared for the printer and preliminary drafts of Volumes N and P are being written.

More than 60 American and European Assyriologists at one time or another have been associated with the project, which involves the painstaking deciphering of ancient clay tablets scattered in the world's museums.

But the end is in sight. The last volume is projected for 1980. The Assyrians, bless them, had only 23 letters in their alphabet.

Business Today

by LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Large diameter insulated pipe, hitherto an industrial pigmy, seems likely to be a growth business of the 1970s.

The need to haul crude oil over long distances at high temperatures at free flow and to move liquid natural gas, liquid oxygen and nitrogen for industrial use at cryogenic temperatures will create the demand, according to Carl S. Menger, president of Triangle Industries, Inc., of Holmdel, N.J. Its Triangle-Price division, a joint venture with H. C. Price Co. of Bartlesville, Okla., is a leader in making and laying preinsulated pipe.

In big pipelines, like those to be built to haul oil from Alaska's Arctic slope and Canada's Arctic slope, insulated pipe will serve a double purpose. It will protect the hot oil from freezing atmospheric temperatures or the cold surrounding seawater in the case of pipelines from the Arctic isles and it will protect the marine life in the sea and the permafrost soil the pipeline is traversing from being heated with possible harm to the wilderness ecology.

Natural gas will move across Canada from the Arctic at temperatures just below 32 degrees F., so it poses no thermal threat to the environment. Nevertheless, some stretches of the huge 48-inch gas pipeline will have to be insulated to keep the gas cool.

WHETHER A pipeline hauls hot oil or cold gases, Menger said preinsulating the pipe can save enormous sums by reducing the number of heating stations or refrigerating stations that must be built along the route. This is much more important in the case of oil than cryogenic gases. As matters stand now, most cryogenic pipe systems are comparatively short. They are either in-plant installations, or haul gases from air-separation plants to nearby industries or will be installed to haul liquid natural gas coming from Algeria, Libya or the Soviet Union by refrigerated ship from dockside to refinery.

Triangle-Price recently began installing a $20 million 100-mile preinsulated oil pipeline in Brazil from the Duque de Caxias refinery near Rio de Janeiro to serve power plants at Volta Redonda and Santa Cruz. Only one intermediate heating plant had to be built, whereas four costly heating stations would have been required — with operating crews — with uninsulated pipe.

In this Brazilian job, a thick coating of polyurethane insulation was applied to the pipe. Triangle-Price has a patented process for applying the bonded urethane foam insulation and covering it with a waterproof and temperature resistant outer jacket of extruded plastic.

OTHER COMPANIES have developed foam insulation for pipe, but Menger said his company has developed application and joining techniques that give it an edge.

Triangle Industries is more widely known for its copper cable and conduit and as the owner of the Rowe automatic merchandising machine business. The company became interested in pipeline insulation, Menger said, as an extension of the insulation of cables and conduits.

Seasonal Sales Stretch Dollars

by CARLTON SMITH

Buying what you need, for less than you'd ordinarily pay, is just like finding money in the street. And if you wouldn't pass up money lying on the sidewalk, don't pass up seasonal sales.

Planning your purchases ahead, to take advantage of such sales, is one of the best ways of beefing up the purchasing power of the family dollar. There is a year-round calendar of these sales. Can my shoppers keep an eye on what's scheduled to go on sale during the next couple of months, and plan their buying accordingly.

September always sees post-Labor Day sales on a good many items, with much of the action focused on back-to-school needs.

IF YOU'VE done your planning carefully enough (or if you're just fortunate), and can postpone buying the children's school clothing needs until around the end of September, you'll be able to take good advantage of clearance sales.

Ninety per cent or more of the volume in school clothing is concentrated in a period of a few weeks that ends abruptly toward the end of September, after which most merchants want to forget it and move on to something else.

September is also a month — for some reason that hasn't been made clear to us — for sales on housewares, cutlery, glass and china. The sales on rugs and carpeting are easier to understand. The big selling season here comes later in the fall, and again some merchants will offer bargains in order to pick off the early birds.

September and October are usually months for car bargains, if you're the type who considers an end-of-the-model-year car a bargain. You can get into arguments about this, one school of thought holding that you're absorbing most of a year's depreciation, offsetting the price reductions.

PUT OFF the purchase of your fall and winter coats until October, and you're certain to find good sales savings, because by that time most of the buyers have bought. Why there should be seasonal sales on lingerie is something else that's not been made clear, but there are, mostly in October.

Would you, by the way, help stamp out the common mispronunciation of this word? "Lingerie" rhymes, approximately, with "langerine." How it ever got to be "lawjeray" is a mystery, but it's guaranteed to make any Frenchman die laughing.

October, finally, is the month par excellence for saving on warm-weather sporting goods. No fisherman need be reminded, presumably, that he can buy next year's needs now at greatly reduced prices, and it's also the month in which bicycles go on sale.

There has to be the usual caveat. Just because a store displays large signs proclaiming sale prices, it ain't necessarily so. Your best assurance is knowing the store, and whether it's operated by honest people who conduct honest sales. Or, if you're planning on buying certain items, do some price checking before the sales are scheduled, and compare what you find them with the advertised sale prices.

Advanced Systems, Mexican Firm Reach Agreement

Advanced Systems, Inc., of Elk Grove Village announced that it had signed an agreement with ICM de Mexico to establish a joint venture company, VAI de Mexico, S.A. which will act as a rental library there for Advanced Systems' video tape training courses.

Initially, VAI de Mexico will stock English language versions of the courses designed to train personnel in the Electronic Data Processing (EDP) field, according to an Advanced Systems spokesman. However, production of the tapes and printing of the course books in Spanish is being planned.

Emilio Ayala has been named managing director of the new firm which will be located in Mexico City.

There are approximately 50 courses and more than 400 tapes in the Advanced Systems line of training courses for EDP personnel. In addition, the company produces a wide range of Video Assisted Instruction courses for business and industry. The VAI courses cover such subjects as manufacturing, maintenance and management.

Advanced Systems recently announced that it had agreed in principle with Hoffman Electronics Corp. of El Monte, Calif., for Advanced Systems, Inc. to be acquired by Hoffman.

Wall Street Chatter

According to technical standards, the general retreat of stock prices since late August appears to have produced an "oversold" condition as severe as any observed at earlier 1972 reaction lows, says Abraham & Co. This suggests that indicated "support" in the Dow 940-920 zone should prove effective, as it has been repeatedly since last March except for the false downside breakout in July, the firm notes. "In this context, it seems worth speculating that acute price weakness on the high-multiple 'glamor' sector may be marking the final stage of general market reaction," and is likely to turn up in the weeks ahead, the company adds.

Banks Continue Key Bond Role

More than $56 billion worth of U.S. Savings Bonds are currently outstanding, and treasury officials expect at least 125 million new bonds will be issued this year.

Most of that issuing will be done as a public service by the nation's 14,000 commercial banks.

According to treasury statistics, commercial banks have issued more than 80 per cent of the 3 billion 350 million Savings Bonds that have been issued since 1941. In addition, commercial banks have also handled 98 per cent of all E-Bond redemptions.

To better serve owners and prospective purchasers of Savings Bonds, the American Bankers Association offers regular teller-training seminars for the commercial banking industry.

MSD Defers Underflow Plan Adoption

The Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) board yesterday deferred adopting the proposed Chicago Underflow Plan of tunnels for combined sanitary and storm sewage storage.

The delay came despite a plea for immediate MSD approval from the flood control coordinating committee of the state, county and Chicago officials who developed the plan.

The MSD board decided that a meeting of mayors and engineers of all communities which will be affected by the $2.65 billion plan should be held to explain the proposal before the MSD takes final action endorsing it.

The underflow plan would include a system of deep tunnels running 150 and 200 feet underground.

MSD TRUSTEE Valentine Janicki said he had questions about a portion of the plan which calls for recharging underground aquifers with drinking water so as to not interfere with well water supplies.

Janicki, who called for the orientation meeting, said he also wanted to know if additional sismographical studies will be needed to implement the 10-year project.

Board members agreed to defer action of the underflow plan until the next MSD meeting and to hold the orientation meeting before that time.

COMMUNITIES SERVED by combined sanitary storm sewers will be most affected by the tunnel plan. Northwest suburbs which have combined sewer systems are Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Palatine. One of the proposed tunnels would run from the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant in Des Plaines northwest through Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

Ben Sosewitz, MSD general superintendent, told the board yesterday Congress has approved $1.429 million in partial funding for the underflow improvement. The bill must now be signed by President Nixon, he said.

Artists Catch Shopper Interest At Woodfield

A "PEOPLE POT" is a chunk of pottery turned into clay. "Its purpose is to mingle with people and houses and add something indefinitely pleasant to both," said James R. Black Jr., potter of the people he exhibited in the Woodfield Festival of Art.

The Festival of Art held last weekend in the Grand Court area and malls of Woodfield Shopping Center introduced a bit of culture into the usual shopping frenzy.

The juried collection displayed the work of 190 artists and included an exhibition of prints, Oriental brush paintings, sculpture, ceramics, oils, watercolors, wood carvings and acrylics.

Shoppers interested in racing from store to store were in the minority. Taking time to seek out the exhibits in between trying on clothes and making other purchases appeared to be more the order of the day.

And there were those persons who left the shopping center with artwork under their arm and nothing else.

Late Sunday afternoon ribbons were presented in five categories: oil, watercolor, acrylics, sculpture and mixed media.

First places went to Stuart Slavik of Lake Villa for oils; Arnold Alniz of Wauwatosa, Wis., mixed media; and Robert Johansen of Racine, Wis., watercolors.

THE FIRST in acrylics went to Marshall Smith of Kenilworth and Marshall (Sonny) Dalton of Kalamazoo, Mich., received a first in sculpture.

Local artists receiving awards were Wallace Brodeur of Mount Prospect who came home with an honorable mention for his watercolors; Betsy Harrigan of Arlington Heights who received a second place ribbon in acrylics; and Sylvia Westgard of Buffalo Grove. She received an honorable mention in acrylics.

Judges for the show were John Pacyna, assistant professor of art, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle Campus; Carol Chamberlin, art history and drawing teacher at Harper College; Joseph Ryback, art director of McHenry County College in Crystal Lake; and Stanley Whitley, art department chairman of Maine East High School in Park Ridge.

BUSY CREATING THEIR own artwork these two small children, offspring of artists exhibiting last weekend in the Woodfield Mall, have no interest whatsoever in the fine art around them or even other shoppers. They would much rather do their own coloring and paste those Green Stamps in a book.

Mrs. Kathie Brightwell

She's Fascinated By Indian Art

by GENIE CAMPBELL

The price of authentic Indian art is going the way of most everything else these days . . . up.

Taking out several small pieces of Indian pottery she purchased while touring the Southwest this summer, Mrs. Kathie Brightwell turned them over to expose the price marks.

"See I still have them on," she said. One was a sample of the Indian black pottery that after shaping is polished with a fine smooth stone to give it a glazed look.

"They make it the same way they did 100 to 200 years ago," added Mrs. Brightwell, who has been lecturing on the subject of Indians, particularly in front of classrooms, for about eight years.

This summer was not her only visit to the reservations. She has toured throughout the country including the Cherokee reservation in North Carolina where she vacationed a year ago.

"ACTUALLY I WAS always interested in the Indians, even in my childhood," said Mrs. Brightwell. "And like many other things you just get deeper and deeper into it."

The Rolling Meadows housewife has educated herself in the culture, history and present way of life of the American Indians. Art is just one small facet.

"Indian artifacts are more valuable today than antiques," continued Mrs. Brightwell. "They are either given to museums or confiscated by the government. You can't take any out of the country anymore. They are truly art treasures today."

Mrs. Brightwell brought out more of her own treasures to show including a piece of colorful Jemez pottery of the Pueblo tribes and old clay and stone effigy figures found in Old Mesilla, N.M.

"THIS IS CALLED a Kachina," she said about a small carved doll also used by the Pueblos. "During ritual dances for the various seasons, the men of the tribes would actually dress up like these dolls," she explained.

The reason that authentic Indian crafts are now so expensive is because "the artisans are dying off," said the mother of four, "and the young are not interested in taking up the arts."

"The government is even trying to encourage the Indians to practice their art. But it isn't doing any good."

Bringing out a small sample of a Navajo rug, Mrs. Brightwell laughed, "I had planned to bring home a big one for that wall over there, but this is all I could afford."

"BUT THE Indians have to get money where and when they can. Many of the northern tribes still starve in the winter. Only the Indians in Oklahoma are wealthy and that's because they have their oil rights."

"A lot of Indian art is still not recognized as being Indian. A lot of what we call modern art is really Indian-oriented," said Mrs. Brightwell. "Many things in fashion now use Indian designs. And crafts like caning and basket weaving, even beading, we've learned from the Indians and are picking up again now."

While out West this summer Mrs. Brightwell received permission to visit the White Sand Missile Range where she found broken pieces of pottery from the Apaches. She is currently having them examined for value.

"THE APACHES broke all their pottery when they moved," she said. "The people living around the base think nothing of it. They probably thought I was a nut picking up all this old broken stuff."

"But you know," she continued, "you can still see distinctive patterns and hints of color in the pieces."

The quality of the old artifacts is extremely good, Mrs. Brightwell feels, particularly when the primitive tools with which Indians had to work are taken into account.

"Most of the pottery was probably carved with pieces of bone and stone," she said.

"Beading was first made from porcupine quills, stone, shells and wood," she continued. "That is why beads became so popular in trading with the Indians. They were so much easier to use."

Picking up a corn husk doll she had made herself, Mrs. Brightwell pointed out, "The Indians never put a face on their dolls. They believed that if you gave one to a little girl and she damaged the face, it would kill the soul of the doll."

THROUGH HER WORK with Girl Scout troops, Mrs. Brightwell has also made several Indian costumes, one of which is a Cheyenne ceremonial dress decorated with cowrie shells which the Indians once used in exchange for money.

"In those days this dress would have been worth a fortune with all of the cowrie shells on it," she said.

"Although his society was once very complex, the Indian was really simple," she continued. "His needs were few. He was more perfectly matched with nature than any man on earth. . . never taking more than he actually needed."

TREASURES BELONGING to Rolling Meadows housewife include several different kinds of Indian pottery and a double-necked Indian jug from the Sioux tribes.

"INDIANS LIKED both a lot of color and a lot of noise," says Mrs. Kathie Brightwell who purchased the piece of Jemez pottery she holds out West. It is Pueblo in origin.

The subjects of this column are usually in the realm of collectibles, rather than objets d'art, and we deal in pocket money, not in bank drafts and cheques. (A cheque is a check for a large amount, rather like what you spend when you go grocery shopping. By the way, I have discovered that food, according to my register tape, now costs $32 a foot, when only two years ago it was $28 a foot.)

Some collectors move in circles of gallery and museum collectibles, and they wouldn't recognize the poor cousins in my china cabinet as being in the same family.

The Auction Antiques Annual is a yearly publication showing gallery sales of the past 12 months, and the last issue showed a record breaking year. For the first time, it reported, a piece of American antique furniture reached six figures when sold at auction. Last May in New York a John Goddard highboy sold for $102,000, and the next month a kneehole desk designed by Goddard brought $104,000. (John Goddard was a cabinetmaker in Newport, R.I. between 1748 and 1783.)

ANOTHER RECORD was broken last year when a tulipwood writing table by Martin Carlin sold for $415,000. It was embellished with a frieze of 14 Sevres plaques. Usually spoken of in hushed tones, Sevres is a fine old French soft past porcelain which duplicates nature in floral or leaf motif and is found in decorated clocks, candlesticks, plaques, vases and figurines. "Soft paste," by the way, does not mean a ware is soft. It is simply a designation of a type of material and method of production used in making porcelain and is difficult to distinguish from "hard paste," except that the soft ware shows a granular surface when broken, where hard paste is smoother and denser. But breaking a piece is a drastic way to identify it.

To get back to the auctions, if you ever to attend one, don't blink or scratch your head, or you may have purchased a vase for the price of a house and lot. A coffee pot was sold in 1971 for $57,800, a world record. Admittedly, it wasn't anything similar to the early marriage percolator on my stove. It was a George II silver-pear shape with the royal coat of arms.

The interest in Oriental art has boomed this past year with the recognition of mainland China by the UN and with President Nixon's visit. The all-time high for an Oriental vase was also in 1971 when a Kuan-Yan bottle of the Southern Sung dynasty sold for $226,800. I hope the new owner doesn't have a tall dog with a long bushy tail.

AND THE PRICE soared for other curiosities, those antiques not made by man. What is the value of an animal now extinct? Someone coveted a mounted great auk, which was a North Atlantic sea bird, captured in Iceland in 1821, and paid more than bird seed. It sold for $21,800. Like the passenger pigeon in this country, it now may be seen only in a collection, a fate facing many other species.

Tell your child who trudges unwillingly to violin lessons each week he may grow up and become rich and famous; then he can buy a Stradivarius violin for $201,600, or he may become a clock watcher and look at the Barnard Clock, said to have been made for Queen Anne, which brought a tidy $62,400.

It's fun to read about these treasures, but guess what I found on my last antiquing trip to Wisconsin? A genuine hog oiler for $2! (No home should be without one.) At the same sale I bought a handmade Battenburg lace scarf for 50 cents. To each his own.

If you would like your collection featured or if you have a question, write Grace Carolyn Dahlberg in care of Padlock Publications, Suburban Living, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope or your telephone number.

"TO SERVE THEM ALL MY DAYS."

BY R. F. DELDERFIELD

Simon & Schuster, $8.95

Perhaps the greatest charm in reading the works of the late R. F. Delderfield is that he leads you into a world so remote from today's headlines, a world more removed from today than the most exotic science fiction.

The possible future of science fiction might happen, you see, while Delderfield's world is the past, which can never happen again, told through eyes that regard it lovingly, though not blind to its faults.

This time Delderfield has written about an English public school (private school in American terms) during the period from World War I to World War II and the man who comes to teach there after his physically and psychologically shattering experiences in the trenches of France.

The school — remote in the West Country, steeped in tradition, echoing to the laughter and tears of its boys and sometimes torn by the disputes of its masters — heals the new teacher. He, in turn, as the title suggests, serves the boys all the rest of his days.

Delderfield's view is nostalgic, his people human, his villains few and presented compassionately. And his portrayal of English public school life paints its advantages at its best, not its inadequacies and inhumanity when at its worst.

"COLOSSUS."

BY STEPHEN MARLOW

MacMillan, $8.95

For some, to see the splendor of Francisco Goya's paintings is enough. Not for Stephen Marlowe, who has written a massive novel detailing the life of the Spanish master — his work, his loves, his search for truth — in a compelling and vastly interesting work.

"ARIGATO."

BY RICHARD CONDON

Dial, $7.95

A supercilious British naval officer (is there another kind?) attempts to save his wife, mistress and wine business by staging the most bizarre robbery in history. At times, Condon's cleverness can be more exasperating than amusing.

"COPS AND ROBBERS."

BY DONALD E. WESTLAKE

Evans, $8.95

Two amoral, not-so-bright cops put their minds to what they know best — crime — as a quick route to early retirement from the force. This improbable $12 million caper, though, is not Westlake at his funniest.

"SMOLDERING FIRE."

BY D. E. STEVENSON

Holt, Rinehart, Winston, $6.95

A splendid novel based on the pride of the Scots and detailing the struggle of an impoverished laird to save his ancestral home — and his pride.

Documentary Will Take TV Viewers Inside Peking

PEKING (UPI) — Lucy Jarvis, who took American television viewers inside the Kremlin and the Louvre, has set up her lights and cameras inside the Forbidden City.

Before the year is out, her documentary on the walled city of China's emperors should be on the National Broadcasting Company network.

Miss Jarvis, clipboard in hand, emerged from a tour of the art treasures and the maze of buildings in the Forbidden City one afternoon in late August shaking her head at what she had seen.

"It's staggering and I've only been here one day," he told a UPI reporter, who also was touring the buildings in the heart of Peking. Many of them are packed with art treasures, paintings, porcelain, carved jade and rich tapestries.

"The grandeur of the place is just overwhelming," Miss Jarvis said.

SHE MADE HER first request to film the inside of the old imperial palaces 10 years ago and when permission was finally granted this summer, the People's Republic of China suggested she should do the filming in five weeks.

"It took us almost five months to film the Kremlin," she said. "I don't know how we can possibly do this in five weeks."

Director Tam Priestly was already studying camera angles before the rest of the NBC crew arrived in late August, ready to start in early September. If the filming could not be completed in five weeks, Miss Jarvis was prepared to seek more time from the Chinese.

Her efforts to visit China were revived and intensified after President Nixon's announcement last year that he would come to Peking in 1972. In July, she was told her request was granted.

HER CREW CONSISTS of Priestly; Sidney Carroll, the script writer; Bryan Anderson and David Liu, camera and sound men; Jo Ann Goldberg, associate producer, and Audrey Topping who is doing research. Mrs. Topping is the wife of Seymour Topping, the New York Times news executive, and daughter of Chester A. Ronning, the former Canadian diplomat who was stationed in China. She has made several trips to China.

Prof. Shan Hsi-shu of Peking University was assigned to help Miss Jarvis and her crew with historic documentation.

He and two associates were not overly impressed with the eight loose-leaf notebooks of material on the "old Peking" compiled during the past 18 months. They dismissed some stories about the emperors as "tales told by Western fiction writers."

The NBC crew brought nearly three tons of equipment for the filming. It so burdened the commercial airliner on its Paris-Shanghai trip that it had to detour to stop at Canton in South China, to refuel.

by Tom Von Maider

Leon Russell has used his new album, "Carney" (Capitol SW-3911), to give a side-by-side view of life and music of these days. Most of it is fascinating and lively.

Russell has long stood for excitement in rock. He has been the guiding light behind such well known groups and happenings as the Asylum Chorus, Delaney & Bonnie, Joe Cocker, Mad Dogs and Englishmen and the Concert For Bangla-

Leon Russell

Desh. This album, his third for Sheflet Records which he helped to found, was a year and a half in the making. The care he gave it comes through too.

HE IS BEST KNOWN for his rollicking piano and it is here, too, in "Magic Mirror," a song about how others see us, and "Tight Rope," the fast rising single that uses the circus analogy to tell of a love story. "Carney," the title track, is full of the midway atmosphere.

Many more diverse sounds are found as Russell appears to be experimenting and having fun at the same time. "Out in the Woods" has jungle sounds and Zulu words, while "Cajun Love Song" gets pretty hokey. He turns to satire in "If the Shoe Fits . . ." which hits hard at the growing counter-culture.

If you haven't already, you should get your tickets for "Carney."

England's No. 1 group T. Rex has failed to make it big in America. Only one single, "Bang a Gong," really ever caught on here.

Up until Saturday night this puzzled me, but then I saw them in concert and realized that T. Rex is a basic nothing on their own in an auditorium. It is only in a studio with the support of others and electronics that Marc Bolan's gang can do wonders in creating a mysterious, other-worldly atmosphere in song.

On stage, T. Rex is too much Bolan and he just can't carry it off. Each song is stretched out to what Bolan calls "boogie," but I call a boring mishmash of sounds (even to his playing guitar with a tambourine).

YET T. REX does show indications of catching on (at least on records) a little bit here. So A&M Records has reached into its vaults to come up with a two-record release of two "previously unavailable" 1968 albums.

Back in the days of "A Beginning" (A&M SP-3514) T. Rex was Tyrannosaurus Rex, a non-electric duo — being Bolan and percussionist Peter Took. We are given a generous helping of 26 songs most of which could easily have been left in those vaults. Occasional glimpses of what was to become T. Rex come through but not enough to justify this album for anyone but the historian.

Columbia Records has two new releases that are rather disappointing. A second solo album by David Clayton-Thomas, "Tequila Sunrise" (KC-31700), just plain fails to repeat the excitement generated by that singer when he was with Blood, Sweat & Tears.

Clayton-Thomas' main problem is that he relies too much on his own material. He is responsible, at least in part, for writing 10 of the 12 songs — but none of them measure up to his earlier "Spinning Wheel," "Lucretia MacEvil" or "Go Down Gambli."

CLOSEST IS "Nobody Calls Me Prophet" which shares the highlight spot with a redoing of Chuck Berry's "Down Bound Train."

For Johnny Cash, a disappointing album is a rarity but "America: A 200-Year Salute in Story and Song" (KC-31645) is just that.

Cash seems lifeless throughout and very tired. His version of "The Battle of New Orleans" is a particular letdown. The idea behind the album may have been good, but the execution of that idea was very poor.

Entr'acte

Photographs by Lithuanian-born engineer Algirdas Grigaitis, 2081 Plainfield Drive, Des Plaines, are being shown during October at the First Federal Savings of Chicago Gallery, 1 S. Dearborn.

Some of Grigaitis' works record people and places realistically . . . a bullring in Mexico, a girl's face in a window. Some show his curiosity about the workings of light, color, space and shape in the abstract. All 24 works in this show exhibit Grigaitis' concern with humanity and human expression.

His photo essay, "Carnival People," appeared in the May 1972 issue of Chicago Guide.

Grigaitis arrived in the United States in 1949 and earned his B.E.E. from the City College of New York in 1954. For the past six years he has worked for the Federal Aviation Agency in Des Plaines.

A representational showing of the paintings and sculpture that won awards in the recent Old Orchard Art Festival will be exhibited through this month in the Old Orchard Bank, northwest corner of Old Orchard Center in Skokie.

Joseph Burling of Arlington Heights received an honorable mention for his sculpture in the show that was sponsored by the North Shore Art League.

Even though Susan Harris of Hoffman Estates has never before played the role in which she was cast for "Blithe Spirit," she is at least familiar with it.

The mother of four will be appearing tonight as the medium, Madam Arcati, when the curtain goes up on the Guild Players' production.

Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" first opened at the Opera House in Manchester, England, on June 16, 1941. Dame Margaret Rutherford played Madam Arcati.

While spending some time in England, Mrs. Harris saw Dame Margaret in the show that was then playing at the Piccadilly Theatre.

'Wait Until Dark' More Than Suspense Drama

The play, "Wait Until Dark," being staged by Village Theatre the middle of this month, is usually called a "suspense melodrama."

Yet Tom Ventress, who is directing the production which features Sue Ruetenik of Arlington Heights in the starring role, feels this description doesn't suffice.

"True enough, there is plenty of suspense in this play," he said, "but the term suspense melodrama has an old-fashioned connotation that doesn't fit this newer kind of chilling chronicle.

"The classic mystery or suspense story, from the time of Edgar Allen Poe's 'Murders in the Rue Morgue' on through Sherlock Holmes, Perry Mason, Ellery Queen and Hercule Poirot, has been concerned with the solution of a crime. The somewhat mocking term 'whodunit?' describes the point of these stories," he continued.

"BUT IN THE recent, more sophisticated kind of tinging tales, like 'Wait Until Dark,' there is no guessing game for the audience over who committed the crime. That's evident from the start. The suspense develops out of the question of whether the other characters will ever be able to know as much as the author has told his audience," he said.

"Frederick Knott hit on a very ingenious way of working out the nerves of his audience in 'Wait Until Dark' while telling them straight out who's a criminal and who isn't. The audience can see

Dave Brubeck, Sons Play Concert At Harper Oct. 13

Two generations of Brubeck will bring music of three Brubeck groups to a Harper College homecoming concert at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13, in the college center.

Pianist-composer Dave Brubeck and two of his sons will share the spotlight during the concert, each leading his own group with individual style. Jazz will be performed by the Dave Brubeck Trio and the Darius Brubeck Ensemble, with pop-rock sound from Chris Brubeck and the New Heavenly Blue.

Advance admission to Two Generations of Brubeck is $2.50 for the public and $2 for Harper students, faculty and staff with ID. Door admission is $3 for the public and $2.50 for Harper ID holders. Tickets may be obtained from the college's office of student activities.

Dave Brubeck, whose experiments with new time signatures helped change the course of jazz, gained international popularity during 17 years of touring with his quartet. He disbanded the group in 1967 so he could spend his time composing serious music.

A DEMAND FOR his participation in performances of his oratorio, "The Light in the Wilderness," led to the formation of the current Dave Brubeck Trio with Alan Dawson and Jack Six.

Chris (Zoltan) Brubeck's New Heavenly Blue is a six-man 25-piece group. They perform in a rock style which blends country, pop and jazz music. Chris, 20, composes most of the group's music.

The Darius Brubeck Ensemble has been described as offering a "thinking man's kind of jazz, usually overlaid with intricate rhythms and marzipan harmonies from the near and far east."

Darius Brubeck, at 24, is fast creating attention as a serious composer, arranger and songwriter. His current album, "Chaplin's Back," has received favorable notices for its loose free-formed jazz.

A third brother, 17-year-old Danny, has been deciding whether to continue playing drums with Darius' ensemble, or to enroll at the North Carolina School of the Arts.

Riverwoods Art Show Oct. 13-14

For the 13th consecutive year thousands of Midwesterners will walk, cycle or drive among five specially chosen private residences in north suburban Riverwoods Oct. 14 and 15 for an unusual display of objects d'art.

The annual weekend art show/sale, house tour and autumn wood auction known as Arts & Riverwoods began in 1960 to raise legal funds for the residents of this heavily wooded village to fight threatened industrial and commercial encroachment and preserve the natural rustic beauty of the area.

Arts & Riverwoods, 1972, will feature 32 leading professionals, appearing by invitation. They will display works ranging from massive sculpture to delicate hand-wrought jewelry, covering a wide range of technique and media — abstract and representational oils, watercolors, ceramics, sculpture, metalcraft, wood-carving, textile and more.

The participating artists display their works in and around the five featured homes, in living and dining areas, dens, kitchens, patios, pool decks, even driveways and lawns.

An average of six artists will show in each of the homes from noon to 6 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Pre-show tickets, at $2 may be purchased by writing to Arts & Riverwoods, Box RRA, Deerfield, Ill., 60015. There will be a ticket/information booth at Deerfield and Sanders Roads, one block west of the Deerfield road exit of the Tri-State Tollway, and during the show weekend, tickets will be on sale at $2.50.

THE FATHER (Steve Heller) and The Mother (Leila Shaw) experience mixed emotions as The Wolf (Bill Jackson) carries away their Daughter (Karen Flaxman) in "The Wolf at the Door," a portion of "A Thurber Carnival," next Festival Theatre production scheduled later in October at Schaumburg Great Hall.

'Charlie' Cast Told

Chosen to play the lead role of Charlie, a dashing playboy who is shot to death and then resurrected as a woman, is Judith Haugh of Elk Grove Village. She will be appearing in "Goodbye Charlie," a comedy being staged by Masque and Staff at Dempster Junior High School Oct. 27 and 28, Nov. 3 and 4.

The cast was recently announced by Virginia Lobaugh, director.

Featured with Judith will be Ted Thomas, Susan Woodrow and Jack McCormick, all of Elk Grove Village; Art Hassel and Bill Alpert, both of Arlington Heights; and Susan Johnson of Schaumburg.

Susan Johnson also is stage manager for the production. Producer of the show is Elizabeth Williams of Elk Grove Village.

"GOODBYE CHARLIE" relates the amusing story of Charlie Sorel, a man who loved the women so much he is finally shot to death by a jealous husband as he is trying to escape through a port-hole of a ship. However, Charlie comes back to his former haunt, reincarnated as a woman. The problem is he still thinks, acts and talks like the reprobate he was in his former life and finds the change, though interesting at first, not entirely to his liking.

"Gee George," he says to his best friend, "what if I still like the women?"

Tickets for "Goodbye Charlie" are now available through Jack McCormick, 439-1070. Other productions to be staged by Masque and Staff this year are "A Thousand Clowns" and "First Fish."

'Thurber Carnival' Cast, Crews Are Announced

Cast and crew for "A Thurber Carnival," Schaumburg Festival Theatre's second production of the 1972-73 season, were announced this week by Mrs. Sonja Leraas, president of the community theater group.

The seven male roles will be enacted by Dick Harris, Tom Ligocki and Mike Cohen of Hoffman Estates; Steve Heller of Hanover Park; Bill Jackson of Schaumburg; and Ron Isaacson of Streamwood. Jackson, Ligocki and Cohen will be making their Festival Theatre debuts in this production, scheduled for Oct. 20-22 and Oct. 27-29 at the Great Hall in Schaumburg.

Karen Flaxman, Leila Shaw and Sandra Reiman of Schaumburg; Jo Ann Wolf of Streamwood; Nancy Swiatek of Palatine, and Beverly Markward of Keeney-villes have the female parts. This will be Leila Shaw's first stage role, and Jo Ann Wolf is making her first appearance with Festival Theatre in "Thurber Carnival."

Mrs. Leraas, a resident of Schaumburg, will direct and also serve as set designer. Founder of the theater group, she has both directed and performed in several of its past productions.

OTHER PRODUCTION staff members include: Lorraine Swiatek, Palatine, assistant director and stage manager; Monti Leraas, Schaumburg, set construction and props; Fran Getz, Hoffman Estates, sound; John Neidvocky, Schaumburg, lighting; Sandra Reiman, make-up and advance ticket sales; Ron Isaacson, costumes; Meg Sculerati, Schaumburg, programs; Marlen Waesche, Bartlett, ushers; Jo Ann Wolf, publicity; Dick Harris, Thurber drawings.

Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 20, 21, 27 and 28 and at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 22 and 29. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.25 for students. They may be purchased at the door, but advance reservations are recommended. Tickets, 832-1894.

AT ARLINGTON PARK THEATRE, it's LOUIS NYE on stage in "CHARLEY'S AUNT." The veteran actor opened in the production last night.

Also in its first week, having opened Wednesday, is "THE LION IN WINTER," a comedy-drama about a feuding royal family. The production is currently being staged at COUNTRY CLUB THEATRE in Mount Prospect. The producer and director of the theater, NORMAN RICE, plays the lead role of Henry II.

"DON'T BOTHER ME, I CAN'T COPE" introduces a company of young black artists assembled here from all over the United States for the Midwest premiere of the soul-jazz-gospel musical opening next Thursday at the HAPPY MEDIUM THEATRE on the corner of Delaware and Rush Streets.

VIVIAN REED, who was featured in the prize-winning Broadway production of the show which is currently at the Edison Theatre in New York, headlines the Chicago cast.

Opening Monday in the BLUE MAX show lounge of the HYATT REGENCY O'HARE will be singer DICK HAYMES, whose memorable recordings include "Little White Lies," "You'll Never Know" and "The More I See You."

While a part of the big band era for a time, Haymes has now been on his own since 1942.

About his love of music he says, "Music is the only language that has international communication." About life in general... "The experience of living is a fascinating one. If one looks for it, there is a definite advantage to every period in one's life span."

Dick Haymes will be appearing in the Blue Max through Oct. 21.

JUNE HAVOC both stars in and directs the Neil Simon comedy now at Pheasant Run Playhouse. "THE GINGEBREAD LADY" will run through Oct. 22.

Barber Shop Singers Vie

An estimated 1,500 male singers determined to keep alive the tradition of "barber shop" singing meet this weekend for talks, workshops and competition in the Chicago Marriott Motor Hotel. Their singing contests will be open to the public.

The occasion is the 30th annual convention of the Illinois District of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA), scheduled to open with registration at 5 p.m. today (Friday).

Fifteen groups will vie for honors in a contest for 60-member choruses, and more than 30 quartets are to battle harmoniously in a separate competition.

At 9 tonight, a novice quartet contest will be open to the public, without charge, in the hotel's Salons A and B.

The preliminary contest for quartets is scheduled for 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday) in the Marriott's Grand Ballroom, while the chorus contest will be held from 8 to 11 in the same ballroom.

THE QUARTET final contest is slated for 12:30 to 2 p.m. Sunday in the Grand Ballroom.

Tickets, at $2.50 a person, will be available at the doors of the Grand Ballroom for each of the Saturday and Sunday contests. Anyone planning to attend all three of those contests may purchase a $7 ticket.

The chorus contest will decide which of the 60-member choruses will represent Illinois at the international convention of SPEBSQSA July 9 through 14 next year in Portland, Ore.

Flying Cards

This game is harder than it looks. To play it, you'll need a deck of old cards and a large box, pail, or wastebasket.

Divide the cards among the players. In turn, each player stands about five feet from the box and tries to toss his cards one at a time into the box. Winner is the player with the most cards "on target."

New Hair Fashions, New Clothing Fashions

Beauticians Stage Double Feature

by MARIANNE SCOTT
Women's Editor

When the hairdressers put on a show it's really two shows in one. Not only do you get to view the latest fashions in clothing, but you also get to see and hear comments on the latest in hairdos.

There were 10 versions of Fall '72 hairdos Monday when Northwest Chapter of the Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Inc., along with the Lake County and Elgin chapters, presented "Beauty Caravan," a luncheon-fashion show at the Rolling Meadows Holiday Inn.

While most of the models were blonde (hair style details show up better on blondes), one had only to look around at the tables to see tresses in every shade of brunette, brownette, red and, of course, blonde. And all beautifully coiffed. No self-respecting hairdresser would ever be caught among her tradeswomen without at least a well-coiffed wig. Well-coiffed salon customers and friends at the luncheon swelled the crowd to more than 400.

RUNWAY MODELS WORE their hair long and short, up and down, iron curled and roller curled, casual and formal. It was amazing the way the artists created styles that went as well with sports ensembles as with glamorous evening attire.

Runway ensembles were from the Lual

Shop of the Pinn Grove Shopping Center in Rolling Meadows. Donna Donges of Arlington Heights, whose hair was styled by Ruth Montgomery, Mount Prospect, modeled a really spectacular Oriental obi with long, fluttery sleeves. She also modeled a black halter gown with floor-length coat hooded in nutria.

Among the striking ensembles modeled by Doris Silver of Arlington Heights, whose flaming red hair was also done by Mrs. Montgomery, were several Butte knits and a simulated mink over a beige, black, brown and burnt orange dress with the new dolman sleeves.

Many of the runway colors were in muted fall tones including the once-popular hunter green. One such nostalgic outfit was a knit sweater and skirt in angora and lamb's wool, practically guaranteed to shed on your escort.

THERE WERE ALSO many plaids, both large and small. While it is never mentioned by commentators, buyers should watch for perfect matching of plaids. Not every pair of slacks and not every jacket or skirt is matched at the seams, even on some of the more expensive garments.

Monday's luncheon was preceded by an educational program featuring Thomas Mosley, who was assisted by Jo Ann Ostrowski and Armand Gentile, Arlington Heights, and Carole Breust, Schaumburg. Both Armand, who has his own shop in Arlington Heights, and Miss Breust created hair styles during the workshop session.

Ray Raines, owner of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Heights, commented the morning workshop, and Miss Breust was commentator of the runway hair fashions that followed the luncheon show.

Hostess for the luncheon was Bertha Schmitt of Mount Prospect, president of the Northwest Suburban Chapter.

Thorough Cleansing

Cold cream doesn't give the skin the deep-down cleansing it needs. For a really thorough cleansing, try washing with a pure soap and a special natural bristle complexion brush.

APPRENTICE HAIRDRESSER Karen Petersen, who is employed in Arlington Heights, served as a model during the educational program that preceded the hairdressers' fashion show and luncheon show held Monday at the Holiday Inn, Rolling Meadows.

A great restaurant, close to home, that offers excellent food . . . elegant atmosphere . . . entertainment nightly.

If you have thought of going out for dinner (or maybe planning a party) and wished you knew of a great place close to home, we would like to invite you to The Arc Restaurant. This dining mecca, one of the finest on the North Shore, has something for everyone. It is a favorite of honeymooners and families - of businessmen and the late night crowd. The Arc is everything a great restaurant should be . . . and more . . .

for your dining pleasure. There are intimate booths for two, or large tables for groups and families. The decor of this restaurant gives diners an immediate sense of elegance. However rich and impressive the surroundings, the atmosphere is warm and friendly. This is due to the fact that the restaurant has been owned and operated by the Lange family for the past twenty-four years. While there is an "old world" touch to the decorating, the potato, Chef's salad with your choice of dressing, hot fresh bread, and beverage. In case you still have room for dessert, there are many from which to choose. Families are welcome, and a reduced priced children's selection is included on the menu.

For those who prefer to dine later, a separate Late Supper Menu is available after 10:30 P.M. This will appeal to those with a small appetite or the heartiest eater, because it not only features bacon and eggs and delicious hot sandwiches, but many items from the regular menu such as Steak, Bar-B-Q Ribs, Veal Parmigiana, and Seafood. It also includes potato and salad, hot bread, and beverage.

Incidentally, the ARC is only 10 minutes away from Golf Mill Theatre.

Luncheons with Fashions

Lunch here is a delightful part of the day. The restaurant and lounge open at 11:30 A.M. daily and features lively fashion shows from 12:30 to 2 P.M. A special Luncheon Menu includes a "Businessmen's Special" daily, and you can select a complete luncheon or a delicious salad or sandwich. We find many businessmen take a break from their busy schedule and entertain their clients or guests . . . or Mothers, when the children are in school, come in for lunch and see the latest in fashions.

Sunday has its own special menu, and dinners are served from Noon. Besides items on the regular menu, The Arc features delicious Roast Long Island Duckling with Rice Pilaf and Orange Sauce . . . a great favorite of many regulars!

Regardless of what time you visit the Arc Restaurant, you will find that here is a place where you are never rushed - where you can truly relax and enjoy that after-dinner drink or second cup of coffee.

From 4 until 6 o'clock during the week, time is set aside for the "Happy Hour." The Arc has a complete selection of the finest wines, cocktails, after-dinner liquors and cordials . . . or a bottle of champagne for that special celebration! Hal Otis is featured at the Piano, but he also plays an excellent organ and violin. Join the crowd to sing and dance until 4 A.M. every night including Sunday. A good time is practically guaranteed.

For something extra in the way of entertainment, a Tarot Card Reader is on duty during the lunch hour, and every evening after 8 P.M. (10 P.M. on Saturday). If you happen to be one of the many interested in ESP, come in and let Madame Carole tell you about your past, present, and future.

A beaded Camelot headpiece held her fingertip veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of phalaenopsis, stephanotis and greens.

The Home Line by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Noticed a reader said she brought back some pineapples from Hawaii. Isn't there some rule forbidding the importing of fruit from another country? — Mariotta S.

You're forgetting that Hawaii is a regular state. The Department of Agriculture still maintains inspection stations to check plants, fruits, vegetables, meat and meat product coming through and there is one species of pineapple that cannot be brought to the mainland. Checkpoints, of necessity, are on many state borders, too.

Even with these precautions, slips happen. You'll remember the little boy who brought in some snails, unbeknownst to anyone, and before their discovery, the snails had become a fierce problem in that part of the country. That's also the way the fire ant slipped into this country. Far, far cry from the pineapple, I'm glad to say.

Dear Dorothy: Too bad about your broken ankle. Don't know how big your cast is, but what I did several years ago when I had a broken toe might be of help to you. I wrapped the whole area in aluminum foil, then took my shower. — Liz Dwyer

Thanks for the thoughtful suggestion. But this is one of those "long-leg" casts — toes to high-thigh and it will have to be sponge baths for the duration.

Dear Dorothy: If you want to make a flaky pie crust that will practically melt in your mouth, add 1/4 teaspoon baking powder to your regular recipe. — M. Hart

Can attest to this as I've been using baking powder in my pie crust for years. I also add a smidgen of lemon juice for taste.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill.)

Friday Night Action In North, South

Mid-Suburban Chases Feature Six Games

Kickin' It Around

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

THERE ARE THOSE very special games that the true football fan never forgets.

On a December Sunday in 1940 the Chicago Bears played perfect football for a greater percentage of the official hour than any team before or since. They destroyed Washington, 73-0.

They still talk about that one.

On a November Saturday in 1968, a cold, dreary afternoon in East Lansing, Mich., Notre Dame and Michigan State played to a 13-13 tie in an attraction billed as the Game of the Decade. This was the time the Fighting Irish played for a tie.

They still talk about that one.

On a December Sunday in 1958, with millions watching on television, the Baltimore Colts defeated the New York Giants in a dramatic sudden-death, 23-17, with Alan Ameche crashing across for the decisive score of the pro championship. That TV exposure helped make pro football.

They still talk about that one.

On a perfect football Saturday in 1967, UCLA, with glamorous quarterback Gary Beban, and USC, with glamorous halfback O. J. Simpson, clashed before 93,000 in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum and millions more on television. It was Orange Juice against the Great One, Mr. Cool. USC won, 21-20.

They still talk about that one.

There have been many other stirring games through the years, including that tremendous Nebraska confrontation with Oklahoma last Thanksgiving Day, but for the bizarre, the zany, the sheer unbelievable of it all, there probably never has been anything quite like a 1950 game in the Big Ten.

I was reminded of that memorable meeting between Ohio State and Michigan after I watched the Chicago Bears' game last Sunday with Detroit.

The extreme contrasts jogged the memory. And prompted some research.

It was a balmy, beautiful afternoon for football Sunday at Soldier Field in Chicago when the Lions beat the Bears. It was unbelievably miserable in Columbus on that November day in 1950.

There was only one punt Sunday when the Bears played Detroit, tying a league record for fewest punts in one game. Bobby Joe Green of the Bears, for the first time in 13 seasons of pro football, did not punt the ball in the entire game.

There were 45 punts (yes, 45) in that 1950 game between Michigan and Ohio State. Think of that. Chuck Ortmann of Michigan punted 24 times. Vic Janowicz of Ohio State got off 21 punts.

That entire bizarre afternoon 22 years ago is worth recalling because it holds such a special place in football annals. Whenever you feel cold or uncomfortable at a game this fall, just think about this one, and those fans. I guarantee you'll feel better.

There was a three-way battle for the conference title and a Rose Bowl assignment going into the final day of the 1950 season. As it turned out, Illinois, with only a 7-6 loss to Wisconsin, could have been Bowl-bound by beating Northwestern, who was going nowhere but home after the game. Northwestern won, 14-7.

Ohio State needed only a win over a so-so Michigan team that had moved through a rather undistinguished season.

All week Ohio State, coached by Wes Fesler and possessor of 223 points in eight games, had been sizzling over a previous loss to Illinois and was in a savage mood. The campus was alive. "Beat Michigan" posters were everywhere.

Ohio State is an enormous arrangement of gray buildings and smokestacks along the Olentangy River out in Columbus. One thinks of it as nearly always being cold and overcast around Ohio State, but the fun occurs on Saturdays in the fall when the Buckeyes lumber into their great gray edifice of a stadium.

On this particular week in 1950 everybody was talking about the Saturday game with Michigan. Early Friday morning it started to snow all over the state. Nobody paid much attention at first.

By that evening the white stuff, blown by gale-force winds, was piling up in alarming fashion. It kept snowing all through the night.

By Saturday morning the temperature had dropped to zero and the snow in some portions of Ohio was 25 inches deep and still rising. In other places it was in four-and five-foot drifts. Ohio Stadium was a muffled, arctic fantasmagoria.

Somewhere, beneath thousands of tons of snow was the tarpaulin covering the field, and it was frozen stiff. Stranded on highways throughout central Ohio were thousands of cars headed for Columbus and the game. All public transportation had been shut down tight. Columbus was a sealed city.

The fans still came. More than 50,000 of the 80,000 ticket-holders somehow showed up at the big horseshoe where many tried to build small bonfires under the stadium.

The athletic directors and coaches went into a huddle. Would there be a game? Even if they were able to pry the frozen tarp loose with bulldozers and push off most of the snow it was still a blizzard and the field would be covered again shortly. Nobody could find a yard stripe. No official could properly do his job.

They finally agreed to play. It started 20 minutes late, but it did start. They admitted later they made a mistake.

Deception, ball-handling and trap-blocking were out. A lineman was lucky to make contact on a block. A ball-carrier had to go it alone and his feet betrayed him on every start. It became a kicking duel. Mostly on third down, some on second, some on first — hoping the receiver would never see the ball or bobble it if he tried for it.

From whistle to gun, Michigan gained 27 yards and never made a first down. Ohio got three first downs.

All-American Janowicz carried 19 times for a net loss of nine. Ortmann's six-yard skid around end was the Wolverines' longest gain. Eighteen passes were thrown. Three were completed as the passers could only guess where the shadow receivers were — and what uniform they wore. There were 45 punts in the nightmarish exchange.

It was a miracle anybody scored. "I can see the goal posts," Janowicz chattered through his chilled teeth in the first quarter. "Let's try a field goal." He converted from the 27 to give Ohio State a 3-0 lead.

A safety and blocked punt set up the Michigan points in the first half. There was no scoring in the second half as the swirling snow continued to pile up and Michigan won, 9-3.

That night the state of Ohio lay under its worst snowstorm in history. Buckeye fans lay under the stupor of bizarre defeat. It wasn't until Monday that Columbus Airport was reopened. Not until Wednesday that classes met again. Not until a week later that the last of 20,000 stranded cars was removed from the drifted highways.

Michigan, of course, went to Pasadena, a team with limping credentials, a team that had won a title without making a single first down in a game that produced the astounding total of 45 punts.

A shocking finish to a football season . . . a punting duel in a blizzard . . . a championship without a first down.

That's what I thought about last Sunday afternoon as I sat under a warm sun in Chicago and watched only one punt in an entire professional game.

There have been many memorable games in the history of football but few more bizarre than that 1950 blizzard battle in Columbus.

by Herald Sports Staff

This is the night when football questions will be answered in the North Division and upsets will try to be avoided in the South Division of the Mid-Suburban League.

Rolling Meadows, 2-0 in the league and 3-0 overall, has drawn the most discussion throughout the conference. Are the Mustangs for real?

Can they keep up their three-game shutout string? Will they go all the way in this their first varsity season?

This will be settled somewhat at Palatine. The Pirates will present a real offensive threat, something the Mustangs haven't had to face so far this year.

Question mark No. 2 could be erased at Hersey. The unbeaten Arlington Cardinals are anxious to see if the Huskies have gotten it all together. Schaumburg has to think so after its 47-0 loss on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the only other undefeated and untied team — Elk Grove — and Vorest View will have to be watchful Both are heavily favored to stay unbeaten in the MSL which would set up their big battle for the South title the following Friday. It's an ideal setup for a shocker by either Prospect or Glenbard North.

Other action will have Fremd at Wheeling and Schaumburg at Conant. Fremd and Wheeling hope to rebound after shutout losses and Conant is seeking to keep going after an impressive 9-0 triumph. Schaumburg hopes that Conant will be looking past them in this District 211 engagement.

North

ARLINGTON AT HERSEY

Hersey coach Joe Gliwa isn't fussy. He admittedly would settle for half of the 47 points his Huskies dished out against Schaumburg when Arlington pays a visit tonight.

Getting those 23½ won't be easy, though. "They are a strong running team that executes well and makes no mistakes," says Gliwa.

"To beat them, I think we have to throw their machine out of kilter. We have to hold the ball offensively and score when we get close. I think speeding up the game will be to our advantage, too, because they like to play grind-out, deliberate ball."

Hersey showed signs of a MSL contender last week in stomping Schaumburg, 47-0. The offense — paced by the arm of Mark Zakula, the hands of Martin Friel and the legs of Matt Loriss and Scott Miesfeldt — was devastating.

The defense wouldn't budget and the kicking game was more than adequate.

But Arlington still doesn't promise to

Frisk, Thomas
On Air Tonight

Herald Sports Editor Bob Frisk will provide the color commentary tonight as radio station WWMM-FM (92.7) opens its Mid-Suburban League Game of the Week broadcasts.

Dick Thomas, sports director of the station formerly known as WEXI-FM, will handle the play-by-play of the important North Division meeting between Hersey and Arlington.

The broadcast will begin at 7:55 p.m.

WWMM-FM, with Thomas calling the plays again, will also broadcast Harper's Saturday game with Northeastern, starting at 7:25 p.m.

Thomas and Frisk will work together on all the Mid-Suburban League games leading up to the championship on Friday, Nov. 10.

TACKLE-BREAKER MATT Loriss of Hersey romped for Huskies rambling to a 47-0 thrashing of Schaumburg 97 yards on 14 carries and scored a touchdown as the Saturday afternoon.

ELK GROVE AT PROSPECT

If Elk Grove coach Don Schnake were big on statistics, he probably would have (1) Sent his team home after their game with Palatine last Friday, (2) told them to rest up and stay out of mischief, and (3) asked them to report back tonight at Prospect for another football encounter.

Here's the way the figures read after the Grenadiers had toppled the Pirates 25-14 for their third victory of the campaign — first in the conference in team rushing, in total offense and (Jeff Stewart) individual leader in total offense.

On the other side of the ledger is Prospect — zero points scored in two previous league clashes.

Needless to say Schnake is not very impressed with stats. His team has been working out extra hard every day this week in preparation for their contest with the Knights.

"As far as we're concerned, it isn't how few points Prospect has scored so far," says Schnake. "It's how soon they're gonna bust loose and put someone else in the loss column. We know they already have a pretty tough defense. When their offense comes to life, they'll be posing all kinds of problems for people."

In the meantime, the Grenadier pilot has one major problem of his own in trying to fill the big hole in his offense left by Gary Martin. The veteran halfback resuffered a shoulder separation in the Pirate match and is undoubtedly lost for

Paddock Pigskin Picks

It wasn't a black cat crossing the path of the Consensus makers last week ... unless there's such a thing as an ebony Wildcat or a coal-colored Cougar.

Anyway, it was the Wheeling-Conant entliff a week ago Friday that proved to be the undoing of Paddock's peerless pigskin prognosticators. All except Fearless Fred incorrectly selected the Wildcats to win and this blemish not only prevented the Consensus as a whole from enjoying its first perfect slate ever, it stopped Merciless Max and Pitiless Pete from 100 per cent efforts as well.

Still, the joint handwork of our sterling staff thus far has produced an exceptional 79 per cent showing and it looks forward to further success this weekend despite an interesting lineup of local grid affairs. Among the contests which indicate a winning margin of a touchdown or less are Rolling Meadows at Palatine, Arlington at Hersey, Holy Cross at Notre Dame, Northeastern at Harper and Maine West at New Trier West.

Here's the way the Consensus stacks 'em up:

Harper College ended its first football season ever with a decisive victory over Northeastern College, 18-0. But that was last year.

This season the Golden Eagles are unbeaten thanks to the able coaching of Jim DuVal, their new leader.

"I recommended him," says Harper coach John Ellask of DuVal, his coaching friend and former basketball teammate.

The Hawks' second-year coach might wish he hadn't after this Saturday's Northeastern Homecoming game at 7:30 on the Elk Grove High School field. Since the Eagles don't have a field of their own, they have received permission from Harper to hold it there.

Although this four-year school (enrollment approximately 6,000) has just a football club, it's just like a regular team, according to Ellask.

"They're much better than last year," points out Ellask, who quickly adds, "but I think we are too."

The Golden Eagles have only been scored on once, 32-6 against the University of Chicago. Their points for and against to date stand at 81-6!

DuVal had four players off last year's Harper team until injuries knocked two of them from the lineup. Preparing to take on their old teammates this weekend will be Kurt Keiffer and Steve Schroyer. Keiffer, who caught 10 passes for 158 yards in '71, will be at an end with Schroyer playing safety.

"You're going to see similar offenses and similar defenses," says DuVal. "John and I worked pretty much together last year."

Accounting for most of the rushing yardage are a pair of halfbacks who "are both top notch backs."

"We haven't been throwing too well," continues DuVal of his wishbone attack.

Harper is hoping to keep the Eagles' aerial attack at a minimum by "trying a couple of people in the secondary," says Ellask. This week Dennis Stohl and Bob Healy will be tried at the safety spots and Tom Rambo, a regular safety, at split end.

Other switches could be Mike Braheny at center, Jeff Johnson at tight end, Kevin Sullivan at wide receiver and Rob Kruse in the defensive secondary.

"If they look alright during the week, that's where they'll start," says Ellask. Harper is hoping to improve upon its 2-1 record, the only loss coming at the hands of seventh ranked Iowa Central last week.

"I'm just waiting for the offense to break out of its shell here," says Ellask of the upcoming game.

The late Ted Sowle won 209 and tied six in 236 decisions during a 28-year tenure at Grand Rapids Catholic Central, Algoma and Grant high schools. Oscar "Okie" Johnson won 201 and tied 11 in 310 games over 39 years at Muskegon Heights and Mount Pleasant.

YOU WILL HAVE A BETTER CHANCE OF BAGGING A DEER THIS SEASON IF:

If you owned your own distillery you'd probably try to make Old Fitzgerald.

If you owned your own distillery, you wouldn't mind spending a little extra time and money to make a truly prime Bourbon.

If you were making it for yourself you wouldn't cut corners or take short cuts. You would use the best ingredients money can buy.

You'd age your handmade sour mash Bourbon for seven lazy years and check it almost every day.

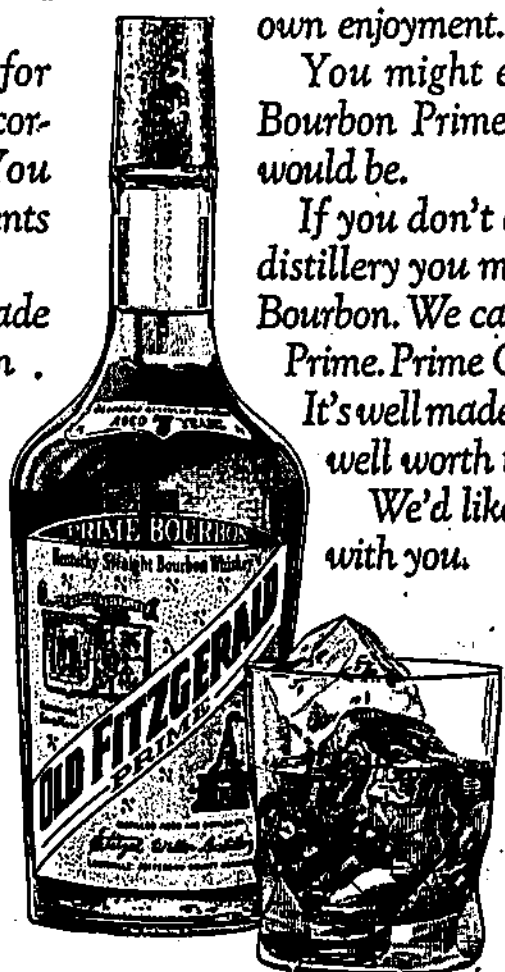

When your Bourbon is ready it would be truly distinctive with a flavor all its own. And quality that can only happen when you make a product for your own enjoyment. You might even call your Bourbon Prime. For it surely would be.

If you don't own your own distillery you might enjoy our Bourbon. We call our Bourbon Prime. Prime Old Fitzgerald. It's well made, well aged and well worth the price.

We'd like to share some with you.

We're in business to make friends. And money.

You, as a consumer, can make or break a business. Since we opened our doors in 1971, over twenty thousand people like yourself have had the opportunity to go thumbs-down on Woodfield Ford.

Like so many other retail businesses, we're on trial everytime someone passes through our doors. 80 hours a week. 360 days a year. Whether they buy anything or not.

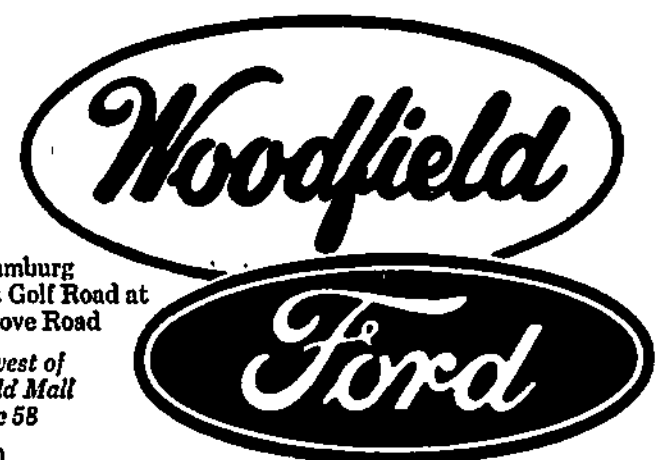

And dealing with thousands of people a year, we have more than a handful of opportunities to create an army of enemies in a business that's already infiltrated with a lot of justified ill-will.

All you're looking for as a customer is the best possible price on a good car, with warranty protection, backed up with a fast, dependable service department that won't gouge your pocketbook.

And all we're looking for is customers who can understand that that's exactly what we're here for—to eliminate the headaches of buying and maintaining a car, at a reasonable profit. Thankfully, we've been blessed with thousands of customers who have experienced just that.

We want your business because we can make money by keeping you happy. If we're providing a genuine service to you, other people will hear about it, and we can only get better at what we do best. You're a satisfied customer. We're a successful business.

At Woodfield Ford, that's not a dream. That's an ambition.

FLYING FALCON, Rich Nilsson, a consistent No. 2 man for Forest View's cross country team this fall behind unbeaten teammate Jim Wise, again claims runner-up spot in Tuesday's dual with Fremd. Nilsson's time of 14:07 was third-best ever in the 10-year history of the Falcon course. He was praised by coach Bill Mohrmann as a heady athlete and a team leader.

Peoria Invite

Sneak Preview To State Meet

The annual sneak preview to the state cross country meet — better known as the Peoria Invitational — will take place tomorrow.

So power-packed is that meet, as usual, that a lot more will be known about the state picture after standings are tallied up Saturday. To make it an even more authentic "junior state meet," it will be held at the same site where the state final is annually — Detweiler Park outside Peoria.

Of the most local interest is how Fremd's Vikings will fare. They have yet to lose this year in any meet — nine league duals and two invitationals at Rockford and Janesville, Wis.

Coach Ron Menely's crew has been rated as one of the best in the state all season, but so are three other squads who'll be at Peoria tomorrow, including the top two. They are first-rated York, second-ranked Maine East, and Peoria Central, which is fifth.

All of these rankings are based on marks compiled by the Timely Times. "Riverside-Brookfield and LaGrange are about the only high-ranked teams in the state that won't be there," says Menely. "We'll find out something about ourselves. It will be some test."

Streaking Lions Battle For 4th Straight Victory

by LARRY EVERHART

This week really ought to have been a time of good cheer in the St. Viator football camp.

After all, the Lions are 3-0. Their opponent for this Friday night, St. Patrick, is having a rare off-year and is 0-3. The Lions are ranked seventh in the state in one poll.

It will be St. Viator's Homecoming game at the Arlington field. And last week's explosive, come-from-behind victory over Carmel was as stirring a triumph as one could imagine.

All this may sound rosy, but the Lions have been as grim and hard-working as ever this week. Not one of the above facts means they are winners yet over St. Patrick — and that's all the Lions are worried about.

"I don't know when St. Pat's has ever been 0-3 before," said Viator head man Jim Lyne is wondering about this usual grid powerhouse, "but I do know we'll still have to play 100 per cent all the way to beat them."

"No one has scored more than two touchdowns off them yet, not even Lane Tech. They're aggressive and they hit hard."

Also keeping Lyne from being overly cheerful are injury and flu problems. "I don't know if it's going around in other places," he said, "but we've had a lot of kids missing practice. I've never had a year like this with so many little injuries and illnesses. It's very depressing."

Another win would be just the thing to cheer him up, and that's likely if quarterback Stan Bobowski continues on his level of excellence. One of the toughest single players in the area to contain, he has led the way to the three victories and high ranking.

"Stop Bobowski!" was the prompt reply of St. Patrick coach Larry Scannell when asked what his team had to do to win Friday. "How do you stop him? Well, it's hard to say. It's been tried different ways. I don't think you really can stop him all the time. Carmel did it for half a game, but that wasn't enough."

"He's just an excellent athlete — one of the best, if not THE best, in the conference."

Scannell is singing the injury blues even more than Lyne. The Shamrocks have lost more players. They have lost no less than nine kids, at least for the Viator game, with assorted wounds.

"We were running the wishbone at the start of the year, but then our quarterback broke his jaw in three places," lamented Scannell. "Our offense hasn't been doing anything the first three games." (The Shamrocks have lost to Lane Tech 14-0, to Eisenhower 14-12 and to St. Francis de Sales 16-14).

TIME: Preliminary game at 6 p.m.; varsity game at approximately 8 p.m., Friday, Oct. 6.

COACHES: Larry Scannell, St. Patrick; Jim Lyne, St. Viator.

The Lions have had some bad luck too, losing two fine performers for the season. They are veteran split receiver Bill Kastner with a shoulder and regular defensive tackle Tom Horvath with arm trouble.

As remarkable as Bobowski has been with both his arm and legs, he has not been the whole story. Backs Tom Maher, Frank Cliggett and Stan's brother Steve have all stood out and defensively, Andy Michuda and Jim Bucaro had the most tackles against Carmel.

But St. Patrick's defense has been consistent, keeping the team in every game, so another stiff challenge awaits St. Viator tonight.

At Striking Lanes

In the Brentwood Ladies League at Striking Lanes, Jean Berns remained red hot in two successive weeks. With consistency she registered a 215 game and 512 series one week and then came back for an identical 215 and 513 series the next.

At Hoffman Lanes

The H Flyers hit some high scores at Hoffman Lanes with Hopsy Comer leading the pack with a 522 series. Jean Moses recorded 478, Margo O'Driscoll 468, Carolyn Schubring 455 and Ardy Hauer 450. Joe Jaworski converted the 4-7-10, Cathy Harvey the 8-10 and Marlene Lewandowski the 6-7.

Public May Watch Hockey Warriors

The Chicago Warriors, representing the United States Hockey League, opened training camp this week at the municipal rink in Park Ridge. There are two sessions on the ice daily and the public is invited to visit and watch the Warriors practice.

"Players began reporting last Sunday," Warrior General Manager Mike Nardella said.

A couple of outstanding prospects for this year's team include Bruce Jangro who was an NCAA All-American and all-star and Colorado College's Mike Mallinger.

"This year's team will be comprised mostly of collegians who fell just short of the big league camps," Nardella said.

Coach Gene Ubrico, with the assistance of Elmer "Moose" Vasko will be coaching and choosing the final roster within the next two weeks.

The first home game will be Saturday, Nov. 4 at the Chicago Stadium with ticket prices suited to the family pocketbook. There are 7,000 seats at $2, 7,600 at $3 and 3,000 at $4. Children pay one-half for all tickets.

Tickets will soon be available through the Chicago Stadium box office, 1800 W. Madison. Season tickets are now available.

Elk Grove Football Facts

COUGARS CANCELLED

Because of flooded field conditions, the Cougars game Friday was called. Rescheduling is in process and the game with Leyden will be played towards the end of the season.

PANTHERS PANIC

Elk Grove Panthers missed their shot at first place by bowing to the Oak Park Bears 12-6. No offense gave the game to Oak Park and 18 fumbles and 120 yards in offense penalties more than hurt the Panthers. The defense tried to hold the game together with outstanding play by Kevin Kowalski, Jeff Harper, Kris Hansen, Mike Flahive and Al Yancey.

KNIGHTS CHARGED UP

The Elk Grove Knights played two quarters of offensive football and four quarters of defense and came away with a 39-13 victory. After a sustained ground game early in the first quarter, Dave Champa found Joe Parmender all alone in the end zone for the first TD. Extra point was good.

Schiller Park came back to score on a broken play and the half ended 7-6. Second TD was scored on a 55 yard drive in seven plays. Immediately following the Knights' kickoff to Schiller Park, their tailback got away on an end sweep of 70 yards and scored. Elk Grove came back four minutes later and with a dazzling off tackle run of 78 yards by Tony Kees scored their final TD. Outstanding offense was led by Kees, Parmender, Champa, and Ben Stogis. These boys accounted for 222 yards gained on the ground and 46 yards and one TD in the air. Except for the 70 yard sweep, the Knight defense of Glen Galloway, Stogis, Phil DeMarie, Steve Campbell, Tom Curran, Tom Duffey, and Parmender held Schiller Park to a total of 34 yards ground gain. Special mention on defense goes to Chico Gomez, John Connolly, Joe Woelfel, and Mike Genardis.

SAINTS REACH HALLOWED GROUND

The Elk Grove Saints got into the win column with a 14-6 victory over Schiller Park. With Schiller Park dominating play early in the game, they took a 6-0 lead in the 2nd quarter on a 17 yard pass play.

On the first play from the scrimmage after the kickoff, Tony DiRocco laid a perfect pass in John Woelfel's hands for a 50 yard TD. Extra point was good and the score was 7-0 Saints.

The second half was completely dominated by the Saints and the defense consistently dropped their backs for losses. Schiller Park ran the ball for 28 plays in the second half for a net gain of 9 yards. Great blocking by Jeff Curtin and Mike Schuster sprung Bobby Kees loose for a 89 yard TD scamper near the end of the third quarter. Jack Walsh scored the extra point to make the final score 14-6 Saints.

Marty Carbone and Krige Kowalski each intercepted a pass to snuff out any hopes of Schiller Park scoring. Defensive stalwarts were Mark Gustafson, Richard Smith, Law Schnake, Jack Walsh, and Darryl Krall. Tony DiRocco played his first game as quarterback and showed great leadership and poise in directing his team.

FALCONS FOLD

The Falcons left everything home Saturday losing to Addison 32-0. The offense attempted to move the ball in vain and the Falcon defense just could not contain Addison.

COLTS GALLOP

The Colts defeated the Winfield Giants 16-12 in a game completely dominated by the Colts, more than the score would indicate. The Colt defense, led by Gary Steiger, Carl Taucher, Rich Schreuder, Mike Hagen, Mike Adams, Bill Stone, and John Calkins, contained the Giants except for a pass play by the Giants in their first series of plays, catching the Colt secondary napping. The defense contributed two points when Bill Cumbo, aided by Mike Adams, trapped a Giant runner behind the goal line. The Colt offensive line of Bill McKendree, Paul Picuch, Ken Zommer, Jerry Zahn, and Don Landis opened huge holes for the backs. TD's were scored by Mike Moeller from three yards out and Gary Steiger on a five yard run. The PATs were scored by Steiger and John Calkins.

The instructional quarter was dominated by the Giants who outscored the Colts three TD's to one. Tom Garvey made several excellent runs for the Colts. The Colts are now substantially in second place in their conference.

REDSKINS SURROUNDED

The Elk Grove Redskins lost in a grueling game played in ankle deep water against Glen Ellyn White 9-0. The Redskins played an outstanding defensive game with Craig Gustafson and Tom Moeller recovering two fumbles. Dan Todd, Jeff Niehoff, and Matt O'Connor made some great tackles stopping Glen Ellyn's ground game.

On offense, Scott Woelfel played an excellent game with good steps from center Mike Hallow enabling the backs in outdrive Glen Ellyn in total yards gained.

Archery Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archery is becoming increasingly popular as an all year sport, according to the author of a book of advice to the beginner.

Daniel Roberts, an archery club instructor, says in "Archery For All" the game is not expensive and doesn't require exceptional athletic prowess. It can be practiced indoors as well as in the open, says the book, which gives tips on techniques, clubs to join, courses to take and equipment to buy.

Fan's Forum

NO FIELD, NO RANKING

Dear Sirs:
I am a St. Viator fan who is very excited about the school's excellent (3-0) football team this year. However, I am a little disturbed about two things.

First, why in the world doesn't the school have its own football field? It has been in existence for about 10 years and should have had a field long ago. There is plenty of land at the school itself. If schools like Rolling Meadows and Hersey can have not only a field but lights in their very first year, why can't a Viator Booster Club somehow raise the necessary funds? The Lions are in a very tough league and having their own field might make the difference between a championship and second or third place. Playing "home" games at Arlington just isn't the same for morale and spirit as having a true home.

Second, I was enraged when the ridiculous Channel 7 Duano Dow Prep Top Ten did not include St. Viator this past week. Dow must be out of his mind to rate Lane Tech 10th and not St. Viator at all after the Lions decisively beat Lane (21-12 after being ahead 21-0). That game was no fluke. A Chicago newspaper had the right idea by ranking the Lions seventh in the state.

The outstanding team needs and deserves to have both of these situations rectified.

CUBS IGNORE FUTURE

Dear Fans Forum:

When the White Sox were officially eliminated from the pennant race in the American League, Chuck Tanner immediately started playing his kids, the rookies or guys who haven't been playing much. That's what September is all about.

But when the Cubs were eliminated much earlier in the month, Whitey Lockman continued to play his regulars without any regard for the valuable experience that could be gained by the youngsters on the bench.

That's why Tanner is a successful manager.

It's common practice to use the month of September — when you're eliminated from the race for FIRST PLACE — as the time for testing the young kids under fire. Lockman obviously believes second place is more important than the Cubs' future. It's that type of fuzzy thinking that has brought this Chicago franchise near decay with old age.

HARRISON BACKER

Dear Herald,

Since many of your letters every Friday are negative ones, I would like to say something positive about Jim Harrison of the Bears. He is only a rookie but is looking like one of the best fullbacks in the National Football League.

After Harrison gained more than 100 yards in the first game, some fans I talked to said it meant nothing because he gained most of the yards when the Bears were hopelessly behind and Atlanta was expecting passing, but Harrison had two more good games and fought for tough yards at important times in both games.

I am a Midget football player and would like to be as good a fullback as Harrison some day.

BULLS NEED CENTER

Dear Sirs:

Much as I hate to say it, I think the Bulls are in real trouble this year. The main reason is that Tom Boerwinkle is having more problems with his knee which was injured during the playoffs against the Lakers last year.

We saw what happened to the Bulls after Boerwinkle was knocked out of action. Although some fans criticize him for being too heavy and not jumping and running enough, and for not scoring much, he was very valuable last year. He sets up the offense, is the best passing center in basketball and gets many important rebounds. The Bulls would not have had anything close to their 57-25 record without him.

Suro Clifford Ray is a very promising youngster. But he is not experienced enough to play all the time yet against giants like Jabbar and Chamberlain. He does not run the offense like Boerwinkle does.

There may be an announcement any day now that Boerwinkle is out for the season — or most of it — with another knee operation scheduled. If this happens, don't count on attending any playoff games in Chicago next spring.

60X PROVE BEST

Dear Sirs:

I wonder what excuse Cub fans have as to why the White Sox finished with a better record? To me this proves conclusively that the Sox are better — not only because their record was better, but because they were in a tougher division this year.

I will admit that Pittsburgh is better than Oakland and that the Pirates look like the best team in baseball. But I'm talking about the whole division. Lackluster groups like the Mets, Cardinals, Phillies and Expos simply do not compare with Minnesota, Kansas City and California. Texas was the only really bad team in the Sox' division.

I get tired of hearing that the National League is superior. The All-Star game proves nothing. It is no more than an exhibition. Besides, recent All-Star games have been very evenly-played, even though the National League has been winning. If the National League is so great, then why have so many ex-American Leaguers (who failed there) been successful on the Cubs? For instance, Milt Pappas, Jose Cardenal, Rick Monday and Joe Pepitone.

There is no doubt which team speaks best for Chicago — even though many ignorant fans don't realize it.

Schaumburg Football

Homecoming for the Schaumburg Knights and Vikings against the Hoffman Estates Boys Club, the Annual Toilet Bowl, was Sunday at Timbercrest Field.

Several hundred people attended the games and watched festivities with Mayor Robert Atcher flipping the coin to start the Knights-Titans game.

During the halftime, the Guardmen Drum and Bugle Corps performed and also all 50 cheerleaders for Schaumburg Football Association entertained during both halves.

WIDGETS

Knights 6 6 12 6-15
Titans 6 6 6 6-6
Quarterback Rocky Fuplies completed one of two passes for five yards, but on 40 other rushing plays, Schaumburg runners picked up 205 yards. Phil Hamilton was the leading ball carrier with 87 yards on nine lugs. Angelo Recchia started Schaumburg off by blocking a punt and John Fink ran 30 yards for a score. Hamilton broke a sweep for a 44-yard paydirt jaunt. Recchia and Dave Sliama recovered fumbles as the Knights raised their impressive record to a spotless 8-0.

H.E.B.C. 6 6 6 6-6
Kevin Smith's 25-yard pass to Steve Conrad, 25-yards to Mike Clausen and another 22-yarder to Clausen, made the game an enjoyable one to watch. Kent Smith made a 48-yard run, but it was called back because of a penalty. Viking head coach Hugo Altman turned the Toilet Bowl trophy over to Hoffman Estates Boys Club head coach until they meet again next year.

PERWEES

Trojans 6 6 6 6-6
Glenside 6 6 6 6-12
High-scoring Glenside's average of 28 points per game was sliced to just 12 by a determined Trojan defense. Outstanding defensive players Pat Youngs, Kurt Olson and Pat Irwin each recovered a fumble and Dave Ninow intercepted a pass in the third quarter. Trojans Jeff Jacobson and Roger Seeley played their best defensive game to date. Fullback Rich Chak's eight-yard run accounted for the lone Trojan score. Mark VanDemBach led the team with 48 yards in 13 carries.

10 Years Ago...

Palatine surprised unbeaten Zion-Benton on 13-7 on the Pirate Homecoming... Dick Weeks passed 42 yards to Jack Frost for one touchdown and Seth Norton raced across a 23-yard scamper... Prospect toppled Deerfield 27-13 with Dan Johnson running for 105 yards and Ken Groh passing for 98... LaGrange overpowered Arlington, 41-7.

MR. FERRARI DRIVES A FIAT.

The Mr. Ferrari we refer to is the very same Mr. Ferrari who makes some of the fastest and most expensive cars in the world.

And for his own personal use, he does drive a Fiat 127.

It's not that he feels the Fiat is any better than a Ferrari.

He just feels that the car we make is a more sensible car to drive around town in than the car he makes.

However, it is rather enlightening that out of all the small sensible cars sold in Europe—some fifty in all—he chose a Fiat.

Enlightening, but not astonishing, when you consider that in Europe, where they've been buying small cars for three generations, they buy more Fiats than anything else. Volkswagens included.

Now, if you're thinking about buying your first small car, you might keep all this in mind.

After all, when it comes to cars, you can't fool a Ferrari.

WHEN YOU BUY A CAR FROM US, VOLVO DOES ALMOST EVERYTHING TO STOP YOU.

Every Volvo in our showroom goes to great lengths to stop you in short ones.

There are power disc brakes (1-4) on each wheel. Detroit sedans stop at two.

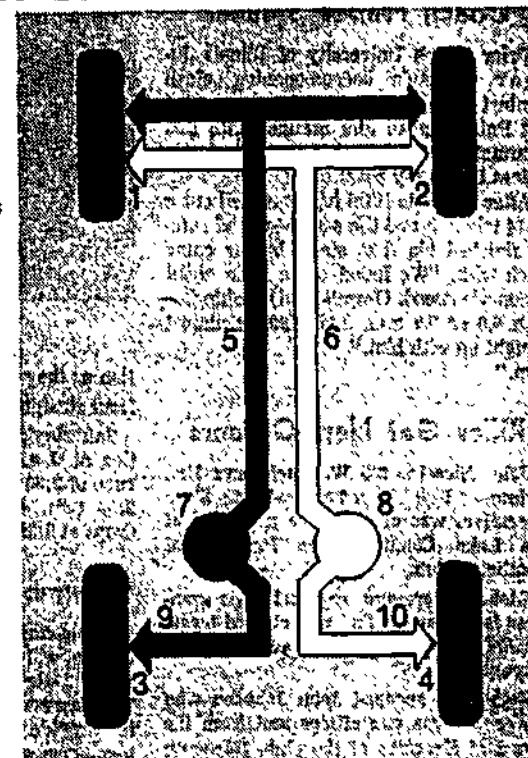

Independent braking circuits (5 & 6) each operate both front brakes and one rear. You can lose half the system and retain 80% of your stopping power.

Relief valves (7 & 8) limit premature rear wheel lock-up and help keep you on the straight and narrow.

Even the parking brake has two drum brakes of its own. (9 & 10)

Area Pair Now WSU Stars

Steve Ostermann and Craig Craighead, both former area standouts, at St. Viator and Wheeling, respectively, are now blue-chip starters for the Washington State University football team.

Ostermann, an all-conference selection at Viator, was redshirted last year, but should reserve a spot in the starting lineup at offensive guard for the WSU Cougars this season.

Craighead was honorable mention All-Coast last year and should be one of the best defensive tackles in the Pacific-8 this season.

Coach Praises Stauner

Prior to the University of Illinois Junior Varsity's season-opening clash against Iowa, coach Carl Meyer singled out Palatine grad Jim Stauner with this summation: "He's going to be a dandy unless I miss my bet."

After the little Illini had smashed out a 2-14 triumph and the 6-3, 194-pound safety finished his first start, Meyer came back with, "We found out a little about Stauner's speed. (Iowa's Rod) Wellington is a 9.8 or 9.9 man and Stauner almost caught up with him."

Saturday's program begins with practice at 9 a.m. with the first qualifying race at 2:30 p.m. One 55-lap race is off at 2:30 p.m. On Sunday, the green flag drops at 9:30 a.m.

Rifles Get New Officers

John Nicolsa, 205 W. Hackberry Dr., Arlington Heights, a National Tea Store executive, was elected vice president of the Lake County Rifles Professional Football Team.

Richard Foreman, regional sales manager for Wynn Oil Co., was elected treasurer of the team which has offices in Libertyville.

Both men succeed John Johnson who resigned these two offices and from the board of directors of the club. Foreman also replaced him on the board of which Nicolsa already is a member.

Sports Cars At Blackhawk

On Saturday and Sunday, the Chicago-Land Sports Car Club has scheduled a grueling 102-mile, 55-lap race for each of six race groups at Blackhawk Farms Raceway.

The winding 1.8 mile track with nine turns will challenge the endurance and ability of the drivers and their machines. Because of the distance involved, the speed and necessity of pit stops may well decide who reaches the winner's circle.

The thundering herd of Corvettes, Mustangs, Camaros and big-bore A and B sports-racers will grab everyone's attention as they accelerate down the 2400-foot front straightaway into turn one.

Saturday's program begins with practice at 9 a.m. with the first qualifying race at 2:30 p.m. One 55-lap race is off at 2:30 p.m. On Sunday, the green flag drops at 9:30 a.m.

VIKES SAIL AHEAD. Fremd's Mike Rohrer (right) and Jim Galls make a turn during Tuesday's dual meet at Forest View, won by the Vikings 25-36. Although the Falcons did a fine job with the top two places, Fremd had enough depth to remain undefeated in all meets this season. The Vikings will try to justify their high state ranking at the powerful Peoria Invitational tomorrow, which will include four of the top six teams in the state. (Photo by Greg Warner)

The Datsun 510 Wagon. Five doors: one for cargo, four for people. And if you don't think that's an advantage, try getting something big into a 3-door wagon. We also give you an overhead cam engine, safety front disc brakes, whitewalls, full vinyl interior, tinted glass, carpeting, and more. It sure is a lot of wagon for such a nice little car.

Trojans-Indians Meeting Headlines College Slate

by MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Wizard of Odds

Egad, friends, you are going to enjoy the pigskin proceedings — heh-heh — scheduled for this week.

Traditional rivalries abound with such classics as Florida vs. Florida State, Colorado vs. Kansas State, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State, Alabama vs. Georgia and Southern California vs. Stanford on tap.

When old foes such as these meet, the record book goes out the window — kaff-kaff — and picking the winners is a perilous business. But undaunted, as usual, your perspicacious prognosticator welcomes the opportunity to predict the results of these frays — um-kumpli!

In the great Florida intrastate confrontation our nod goes to Gary Huff and his Seminole teammates over Florida's Gators. We see it 33-23 in favor of the Florida State lads.

The 20th meeting of Colorado and Kansas State will see the invading Buffaloes running rampant over the Kansas State Wildcats, 46-8. Once again Ara Parseghian's Irish are in high gear but they should be on their guard against the upset-minded Michigan State Spartans. Duffy Daugherty always has his clubs sky-high for Notre Dame and a victory in the 38th renewal of this great Midwest rivalry would send the Spartan rooters into orbit. But that — koff-koff — is not to be. The Hoople System says the Irish will prevail 28-20!

Alabama and Georgia, long-time Southeastern Conference foes, will slug it out in Athens, Ga., before a capacity crowd. When the last whistle blows, Alabama will have run its record to 29 victories, 19 defeats and four ties in its competition with the Bulldogs. We confidently predict a 27-10 triumph for Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide!

Out West, in the battle which may decide the Pacific 8 representative in the Rose Bowl, Johnny McKay's Southern California lads take on the Stanford Indians, the defending conference champion and winner of last season's Rose Bowl game. In a free-wheeling affair we look for the Trojans to romp home on the long end of a 36-28 score!

Most of this Saturday's battles will go according to form; however, we foresee one mild upset in the offing when the Auburn Tigers edge host Mississippi in Jackson. In a hotly contested affair, the Tigers will win by a slim 24-22 margin —

— Mid-Suburban North Division

be soft butter for Hersey's hot knife. "We've been practicing our pass protection," says the Huskies' head man. "We expect a hard rush and feel that our passing may be the difference, but they have good people back there. They're big, fast and react well."

On offense, Gliwa expects Arlington to do what they do best — "run the ball down our throats, the same way Elk Grove did. With (John) Norton standing off-tackle, they have plenty of zip in there."

"We feel that the winner of this game is going to win the North Division."

Arlington's helmetsman Bob Walther didn't pinpoint tonight's contest with the Huskies as the one determining a divisional crown, but he did admit it would be a crucial stepping stone.

"Hersey's not out of it by any means," says Walther. "They lost a couple at the beginning of the season to two awfully good teams. I think their showing last Saturday at Schaumburg was a little more indicative of their strength this season."

Walther is very impressed with the Husky passing show and hopes his Cards can gain some similarly good aerial credentials of their own.

"We know they're going to jam up our running game. If we don't connect on a few passes this week to loosen 'em up, they stand to gain a definite advantage on us."

Last Friday Arlington zoomed past Glenbard North 33-12 for their third victory in as many games this season. Some thought the stout Cardinal defense should have shut the Panthers off completely and others figured the explosive Card running game should have netted more touchdowns, but Walther was satisfied.

"They scored honestly on us," Walther said from the game. "We showed us some weaknesses and now we have time to make a few corrections that will possibly avoid any recurrence."

The Cardinals suffered one major casualty last week. No, it wasn't their leading tackler Chris Rintz or their other defensive standouts Chris Johnston or Doug Everhart. It wasn't part of that fearsome offensive foursome either—backs Steve Frankovic, Ward Schell, Bobby Harth and Norton who have accumulated nearly 700 yards of rushing in three games now.

The doubtful starter is assistant coach Tom Pitchford, who underwent an appendectomy last week.

ROLLING MEADOWS AT PALATINE

It's three in a row, but a long way to go.

That's the message conveyed by Rolling Meadows head coach Angelo Barro as he roodies his undefeated first-year varsity Mustangs for what he calls "our stiffest test" tonight at Palatine.

Barro, despite the momentum achieved from three season-opening triumphs, is extremely concerned about the potent Pirates and the homecoming festivities that are bound to raise them to an emotional peak.

They are a very balanced ball club," says Barro of Palatine. "They are equally adept at throwing as they are at running. We know from scouting them twice that (Andy) Knotek and (Jan) Fitzgerald are major threats and their quarterback (Jim) Sobczynski showed us a lot of poise and a good throwing arm in a relatively short period of time."

But Meadows also qualifies as a genuine success story over a short period of time. The Mustangs represent one of only three (Arlington, Elk Grove) teams in the Mid-Suburban League with unblemished records.

The key to the squad's overnight recognition must lie with the defensive unit which still has not permitted the opposition to score.

The "Apaches" (nicknamed by the Meadows' coaching staff) come complete with warpaint and the top defensive credentials in the conference.

On a per-game basis, the Apaches follow foes an average of just 31 yards rushing and 49 passing.

"We did a poor job, really, defensively," says Arv Herstedt of his Pirates' showing against Elk Grove. "(Jeff) Stewart wasn't stopped — one man beat us.

"This week we're facing another good kid — (Bill) Geegan. I don't know if we can stop Geegan or not."

Geegan is the total offense leader for the defensive minded Mustangs. His brother, Pat, is pacing the backfield in rushing with a 7.2 average. Together they'll offer plenty of problems for the Pirate defense.

"Overall, we need work on defense," says Herstedt, thinking about his team's 10th place showing with 534 yards given up in two league encounters.

As for his offense, Herstedt is pleased with the job converted tight end Sobczynski is doing at quarterback.

"He's coming along," he says of the third leading passer in the league. "He's going to be alright. We've been living by the pass a lot, so I think we'll be putting it into the air."

Meadows has not faced a real pass-minded team so far this year. The Mustangs have only given up 49 yards through the air in three games.

"It's time for people to start taking them for real," says Herstedt of Mustangs' meteoric march to MSL contention. "We know they're for real."

FREMONT AT WHEELING

The last thing Fremont coach Al Ratcliff would like to see this evening at Wheeling is Dan Tonnancour.

Dandy Dan passed and rushed for over 200 yards and hurled a couple of TD passes in leading the Wildcats past the Vikings 21-14 in 1971.

"He put on an awesome display," remembers Ratcliff. "It was one of the most impressive individual performances I've been subjected to since I started coaching."

Tonnancour graduated this past June but the Fremont mentor hasn't quite breathed a sigh of relief yet.

"They've got another good quarterback over there again this year. And, from what I've seen, he's got an even better arm than the last one. He and that one end (Doug) Groat make an outstanding combination. I know we're going to have our hands full with Wheeling again this year."

The Vikes will be seeking their first victory over the 'Cats in three seasons tonight. Their chances were clouded a bit last week after starting off with a two-game win spree when Forest View dealt them a narrow 7-0 setback.

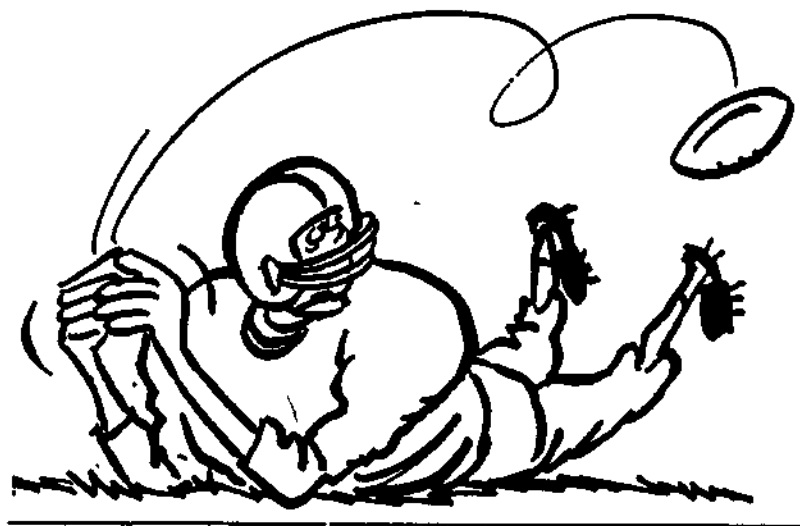

"The kids felt pretty low after losing last week but I told them they had their opportunities so they shouldn't be that disappointed," says Ratcliff. "Our pass rush was as good as ever. In general we played a solid game. Forest View just put together a whole lot of quarters like they played Maine East for one half earlier this season."

"We've just got to be more determined than ever."

Ratcliff noted of the Wildcats that their defense is quite similar to Fremont's. It's also the third different type of defense Wheeling has used against the Vikes in three years. "Let's just hope the third time's the charmer... for us."

"We've won the last two homecomings," says Wheeling coach Jack Liljeberg. "We beat Arlington last year. That's a pretty tall order, this year because Fremont will be tough."

"They have good personnel and they're big. They've always been tough defensively ever since Ratcliff's been over there."

the season.

"Gary's the kind you really hate to lose on, exceptional athlete with a great attitude. We can fill this position but there's no way we can replace him."

Moving in to that slot in the backfield will be Don Wendley, a promising 170-pound junior with plenty of potential but precious little varsity game experience.

While Elk Grove's offense reshapes, Schnake will be counting heavier this week on a defensive alignment that is beginning to blossom into one of the best in the circuit. Inspired by the play of Dan Milney, Tim Hurley, Rich O'Leary, Jeff Steinbock and Bob Streich, it corralled Palatine's usually potent ground game last week and forced them to rely mostly on the airways to move the ball.

Prospect head coach Don Williams would probably take to the waterways if he thought it would help his Knights move the ball on offense.

"We'd like to gain over 100 yards, gain more than 10 on one play, complete two passes in a row and make a first down without being penalized," says Williams sarcastically.

To help him reach these modest goals, he's introducing an entirely new backfield to a starting role from the quartet that faced Rolling Meadows in a 17-0 loss last week. Scott Grear will get the call at quarterback and be flanked by halfbacks Scott Carlson and Jim Hamann. Val Graffitti will be popping from the fullback slot.

"We're still looking for the right combination," continued Williams. "It's really frustrating to come so close and not be able to put the finishing touches of getting the ball across the goal line."

Prospect's defense is its strong suit. Middle linebacker Mark Luciana (17 tackles) and Nrm Smith (13) at free safety starred against Rolling Meadows. The entire unit can be found atop the league in limiting opposition passing to 12 yards in two games.

"I think every coach that's played Elk Grove has agreed that the key to staying close to them is shutting off Stewart, but nobody's been able to do it. We feel the same way, but he's so big and strong and able to do everything so well, that it's hard to build a defense to stop one ball player," he adds.

SCHAUMBURG AT CONANT

This is one of those natural neighborhood rivalries which, no matter what the records, makes the adrenalin flow a little more for all parties concerned.

Adding to the interest of this clash is the fact that Schaumburg head coach Bob Ferguson is a former Conant employee and that Schaumburg's seniors began their prep careers at the school they'll be trying to beat tonight.

Conant's first victory last week and Schaumburg's 47-0 loss at the hands of Hershey make the Cougars favorites, but the Saxons have revenge as a motive. They lost to Conant 21-8 last year in the first varsity struggle of this young rivalry.

The Saxons haven't scored in two weeks (losing 5-0 to Rolling Meadows after edging McHenry 32-27 in a wild, thrilling opener). These blankings plus injuries to an already small (in both numbers and size) squad have meant that "the kids are down a little" as Ferguson admits. "They're worried about the injuries. It's got to hurt our morale."

Among former front-liners lost to the Saxons are 1971 all-conference back Glen Komersak (ankle), tight end Mike Lane (stitches in chin), tackle Ken Jaffke (bad knee), tackle Mickey Elkins (shoulder) and linebacker Steve Miller (knee in cast). Lane and Jaffke might play, but the rest are definitely out.

"We've got about six guys going both ways now," laments Ferguson. "We'd be about on a par with Conant if we were healthy. Our defense was doing a good job until we started getting all these injuries."

"I'm sure it will be a close game. We should be right in it. But we've got to start generating some offense."

Ralph Losee was not particularly happy about the outcome of last Saturday's Schaumburg-Hershey game.

The chief reason for Ralph Losee's concern is that his team won last Friday (over Wheeling 9-0) and then many of his charges went over to neighboring Schaumburg the next afternoon to informally scout their next opponent.

"Schaumburg looked flat. They definitely played below their capabilities and I just hope our kids don't have the wrong impression now. It looks like we're starting to come, but we're not nearly strong enough to roll over anyone yet."

Conant's helmsman is especially worried because of the rivalry aspect to this

• Forest View has an array of heroes following victories of 7-0 over Fremd (last week) and 28-14 over Wheeling. The leading figure has been junior running back John Kronforst with 374 ground yards in three games. Bill Miller has been a capable leader at quarterback, Tom Mueller a standout receiver, and several boys have shined on defense.

• The Falcons have a weight advantage of 10 to 15 pounds per man, on the average, (through the lineups).

• History shows Forest View 4-0 against Glenbard, including two shutouts, and the Falcons have averaged 32.5 points a game against the Panthers. Last year's score was 45-0 with reserves playing most of the second half.

The injury threat has been relatively kind to the Falcons with nothing serious — only minor hurts. Mike Petran is the only doubtful regular tonight.

It is Forest View's Fall Festival game, which could help put the hosts in the right frame of mind if they concentrate on football.

• Out of the frying pan and into the fire knows no better example than Glenbard

North, leaping into the flames for the fourth time this season when they drop in to the Forest View lair tonight.

"Before the season even began I regarded the first half of our schedule as the toughest part," says coach Don Elmore. "Unfortunately, I've been proven correct so far."

The GBN mentor looks dubiously at the Falcons as a continuation of this prediction. "They've got a great team," says the GBN coach. "Their quarterback could be the best in the league and he's got some nice help in the backfield. They've also got a solid defense, great size, plenty of depth and we're going to have a devil of a time trying to contain them."

Elmore is possibly awed by the thought of tackling the Falcons, but he hasn't thrown in the towel just yet:

"For one thing we're still pretty healthy which is an improvement over last year when we suffered injuries constantly through the season. For another, we're improving gradually as we go along and I felt our kids turned in a real creditable job against Arlington last week."

upcoming match. Schaumburg High came into being only a couple of years when Conant split and there's nothing that a new school likes to do more than come back to haunt an elder.

"We beat 'em last year in our first meeting and that's going to make them doubly mean," he pointed out.

The Cougars enter action tonight with three players on the hobble list. Losee is hopeful that Scott Kaminski, Dennis Sulzer and Bill Koppert will all be able to play in some degree however.

And the mentor is also hoping to see continued improvement from a defensive unit — headed up by Glenn Brandl, Greg Edwards, Jim Kellermeyer, Scott Martin, Dave Lemmon and Koppert — that shut out Wheeling's volatile pass-oriented attack last week.

"We're beginning to jell defensively and Barry Morse is starting to show some things offensively that I had hoped for to take part of the pressure off of our passing-attack," says Losee. "We'd like to keep progressing but I'm sure Schaumburg has other ideas."

GLENBARD NORTH AT FOREST VIEW

On paper, this game shapes up as a gross mismatch. But, of course, football is not played on paper as Falcon coach Paul Jordan knows when he says, "We've got to be ready to play a game. Glenbard is always capable of a good game sometime and I hope it isn't against us."

He adds he's "afraid the kid are looking ahead, no matter what I say." This is natural since arch-rival Elk Grove, like Forest View unbeaten at this juncture, comes up next on the schedule.

But a Falcon blitz is expected tonight, for these reasons:

• Glenbard is 0-3 against Forest View's 2-0-1 and the Panthers have been pretty thoroughly shelled in all three games.

Gain Back Yard Privacy With Addition Of Screens

Creating a glamorous, secluded living area in the side or back yard is easy with an attractive fence-screen addition of western wood, and with careful attention to landscaping it can be a low-maintenance, high-comfort area.

A fence around the perimeter of the yard affords privacy from neighbors while screens of the same design set off separate areas, such as a quiet outdoor sitting "room" apart from the boisterous activities of children.

Screens, similar in function to dividers inside the house, can be built in dozens of designs, with variations to suit the lot's shape and contours and to fit the family's mode of outdoor living.

Usually the screens are fixed, but they can be movable and changed in relation to planter boxes according to the season. Benches of 2x4-inch western wood on 4x4-inch posts can be attached to the screens or can be free-standing.

The wood screen also serves other purposes, such as shielding a window from the street, providing a backdrop for shrubs or climbing plants, or enclosing a courtyard off the master bedroom.

To convert a yard for easy maintenance, wood walkways combine with a decked sitting area to eliminate many square yards of lawn mowing. Favored woods for building walks, decks and benches are Douglas fir and western red cedar.

Ground covers are useful in many ways and in various forms. Coarse bark chips in play areas keep the dust down and cushion falls of children. Finer chips or bark dust make a decorative mulch around shrubs and in planter areas.

The bark dust also helps loosen the soil and retain moisture. Garden use keeps the bark from being burned as a waste product, lending a hand to air pollution control efforts. Gravel or river rock also makes a decorative mulch and reduces yard upkeep time. Ground cover plants add color to a yard with little care.

For a book of ideas on how to use fences and screens in almost any yard situation, send 15 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 514-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Spring Bulbs

Spring flowering bulbs are among the earliest plants to grow. Following are suggestions from the experts that will assure you of a magnificent bulb flower display next spring:

1. Buy the best bulbs. Flower-bulbs should be firm and sound. Also, the larger the tulip the larger the bloom next spring.

2. Order early. By ordering or purchasing early, you are certain of the best selection of varieties. Plant immediately after bulbs arrive.

3. Plant in well-drained soil. Bulbs like a loose soil. Hard soils can be improved by adding sand, peat or other soil conditioners.

4. Plant before frost hardens the ground. The planting period for spring-flowering bulbs extends from September to December depending on the weather.

5. Plant at right depth and spacing. Daffodils, tulips, hyacinths should be set 5 to 8 inches apart. Crocuses, muscari and most other small bulbs should be planted 3 to 4 inches apart.

6. Bulbs can be grown anywhere. Don't overlook shady locations for bulbs. Flowers will often last longer when in shade or semi-shade.

7. Plant in groups. Plant bulbs in clumps of 12 to 24 for the most colorful effects. A separation between clumps will enhance their appearance.

8. Water well. Water all planted areas after planting and throughout the fall should there be insufficient rainfall.

9. Mulch beds. Cover bulb beds with a mulch of peatmoss, dry leaves, salt hay, wood chips or other materials to prevent soil from heaving during late winter.

10. Loosen the soil in spring. If the soil becomes compact over winter, loosen in spring so rain will not drain away.

Save Seedpods

A garden tip from the Ortho Garden Products people... When the seed pods turn brown and the seeds within ripen, it's time to trim back and tidy the perennials and pull out the annuals. Seeds are precious, and in some areas they can be saved in marked envelopes and planted in the spring. In other areas, you need only decide where you want a new stand of fox gloves or for-get-me-nots and plant them.

If there are children around, this is a job they enjoy. They take snapdragon seedpods and shake out the seeds like pepper. Their small feet are about right to press the seeds into the earth. You can give them a lesson in garden design, blending colors and textures for next year's garden. But watch that they don't plant a row of nasturtiums in the middle of the chrysanthemums.

If you decide to use this informal approach to planting, you will have to plan a counter attack against slugs and snails. Your plants spent a whole season producing those seeds. Don't let them be nipped before they even bud. Put out some Bug-Geta pellets or meal. Fall is an excellent time to clean out the snails. Once the rains start, snails have far greater mobility and you have to put bait around in many more places.

Whether you save the seeds for spring planting or random plant now, it's fun to reap the harvest from your flower garden.

Winter Comes; Insects Remain

When cold weather comes, the insects go — not always.

There are many insects around in the winter. If you know where to look for them. Some of the more brave ones will spend the winter months in the soil or on trees in a dormant stage.

But there are others that like to crawl inside during the fall months to seek out a warm winter home, such as millipedes, clover mites, boxelder bugs, and roaches. These insects can enter your home by crawling or flying in through the doors, windows and cracks. Others might be a little lazy and will hitch hike as passengers on the family pets.

To prevent insects from entering the home it is necessary to put up a bug barrier by spraying some insecticide. Two good insecticides which can be used safely inside or outside are diazinon (spectracide) and carbaryl (sevin). Chlordane can be used safely only on the outside.

Expert Advice On Lawn Care

Fall is the very best time of year for seeding your lawn, according to a bulletin issued by the Merion Kentucky Bluegrass Association. With the bulletin are several tips to help homeowners insure a better lawn for next year.

The association was formed to promote development of Merion Kentucky Bluegrass, the first improved bluegrass to be offered for lawn and golf course use. The strain was, it is said, discovered growing on the 17th tee of the famed Merion Country Club in Ardmore, Pa., by the golf course superintendent, the late Joe Valentine.

Here are some tips for better lawns, as issued by the association:

When seeding, it would be well to consider a mixture of grasses. It's usually easier to establish a new lawn by seeding with a mixture because the wider growing characteristics of the seed will give better overall results with less effort.

Read the instructions on the grass seed package. They should be tailored to the type of seed you are using.

Use a spreader in applying seed. You can do the best job of spreading your seed and generally stretch the amount you buy by applying with a spreader that you can adjust precisely, according to directions.

When buying your seed, don't settle for anything less than the top quality. A few cents saved on a package of seed can cost you dearly in extra labor and poor stands of grass.

Lastly, consult your dealer. He is familiar with growing conditions in your area and can give you sound, practical advice that will save you time, dollars and potential grief.

FLOWERS AND music spell harmony for gatherings of friends and relatives this holiday season. Red maple leaves, snapdragons, celosia, red and yellow daisy pompons, heather and ageratum make up this magnificent Williamsburg bouquet.

Protect Bulbs Against Cold

Don't forget any dahlias, glads or tuberous begonias you may have outside. With a little care they can be easily carried over the winter. Their corms (glads) or tubers (dahlias and begonias) aren't winter hardy . . . frost signals the time to take them up.

Glads may already be browning as frost comes, as soon as this occurs, the plants may be dug. Dig each plant and cut the top off 2 inches above the corm. Spread the corms out in a shady place to dry for a week or two . . . don't let them freeze. After drying, shake the dirt and loose husks off. Store in a cool, dry and airy place, no special packing is needed. You may find many little corms called cormels . . . save them. Planted like peas next spring, they will develop new plants.

Dahlias are late flowering and you may be able to extend this show for a while if you cover them when frost threatens. When frost does come and blacken the tops, cut the tops off just above the ground. Dig the tubers and leave them dry for an afternoon. The dirt need not be completely removed . . . handle carefully to avoid breaking the tubers. Pack with vermiculite or peat in a box or plastic bag and store in a cool place where they won't freeze. Divide in the spring.

Tuberous Begonias should be dug with roots, plant and soil and set away from frost. After the foliage dries, remove the tops and soil. Then store the same as dahlia tubers. If you planted them in pots in the spring, just lift pot and all and store as is, clean and restart in the late winter or early spring.

Plants Hide Trash, Junk

Every year, Americans junk seven million cars, 100 million tires, 20 million tons of paper, 28 billion bottles and 48 billion cans. All this junk and trash is responsible for the proliferation of necessary, but unsightly and foul-smelling dumps and junk yards, creating a visual pollutant in our environment.

It is probably not possible nor practical to eliminate the junkyards and dumps that dot our communities and line our highways, but the American Association of Nurserymen reports that many communities have found that trees and shrubs provide an easy way to relieve some of the offensive aspects of these trash heaps.

Thick plantings of trees, shrubs and foliage plants around the perimeters of junkyards and garbage dumps are not only helpful in screening out the visual pollution, they also are effective in reducing foul smells and dirt which emanate from trash.

Because plant life manufactures oxygen and absorbs some noxious gases such as carbon monoxide, the fresh air it produces dilutes the polluted air around dumping grounds. The hairy surface on plant leafage catches dust and dirt particles from the air, serving as a filter for surrounding waste areas. By planting trees and shrubs and other plants around dumping grounds, unsightly sights and air pollution can be reduced substantially.

Candidates Use 'Innovative' Issues

Powell's Shoebox Not An Issue

by ROBERT KIECKHEFER
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Two years ago Illinois Secretary of State Paul Powell died and as a part of his legacy left the saga of a "shoebox" fortune.

For a time it seemed the discovery of $800,000 in cash salted away in Powell's office and in a closet at his dreary Springfield hotel room would reverberate in Illinois politics for years to come.

But now, in the first campaign for the office of secretary of state since Powell died, the two candidates have virtually ignored the Paul Powell cash hoard.

Edmund J. Kucharski, GOP Cook County chairman, doesn't mention it. The Democratic candidate, state Auditor Michael J. Howlett, jokes that he "buys shoes in clear plastic boxes, a reference to the fact that part of Powell's fortune was found stuffed in shoeboxes."

INSTEAD, KUCHARSKI and Howlett have centered their campaign on what one newspaper editorial described as "innovative issues."

Howlett, for instance, has proposed several changes which he says will improve services and save money. Among them are photographs on drivers' licenses, state identification cards for non drivers, and changes in the driver education book, "Rules of the Road," which Howlett says could save $175,000 a year in printing costs.

Kucharski has proposed statewide bicycle safety training, changes in drivers' licenses and reforms in the administrative duties of the secretary's office. He reinforces his appeal with a barrage of references to integrity and economy during his nearly 12 years as auditor. His record has drawn widespread praise, including newspaper editorials, most of which Howlett is now using to his advantage.

Kucharski, 56, lesser known outside the Cook County area, has concentrated on "name identification" techniques, according to Thomas Bertsche, who is directing his advertising campaign. Those techniques include billboards spread throughout downstate and "person to person" tours to virtually every county in the state.

Kucharski has served as an assistant secretary of state under John W. Lewis, a Republican appointed to serve out the balance of Powell's term.

nois newspapers berating Howlett for not discovering and stopping the Powell scandal and others.

The letters, obviously the work of one individual or group, ignored the fact that Howlett could not have known about the events and would not have been empowered to stop them had he known.

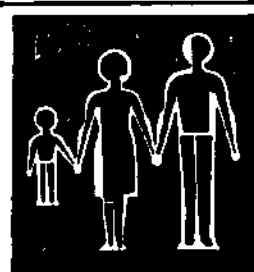

Kucharski denounced the letters when he heard of them. But other incidents, including painted over billboards, continue to plague the campaign.

Spokesmen for both candidates were at a loss to explain the incidents. Bertsche, however, mentioned the large number of patronage employees still under the secretary's jurisdiction.

"When you have a lot of employees a lot of partisans involved — somebody usually does something you wish they hadn't," he said, adding that he was not accusing any of Lewis' employees.

On the surface this issue oriented campaign seems a model one, but there is an undercurrent to it — one which at times assumes unpleasant aspects.

FOR EXAMPLE, a series of letters identical in wording but carrying different signatures, recently appeared in Illi-

Judge Is 'Sympathetic'

Delays Sewage Plant Ruling

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT

A "sympathetic" circuit court judge yesterday delayed a ruling on the Metropolitan Sanitary District's (MSD) motion to dismiss Des Plaines' latest attempt to block a sewage treatment plant here.

"I would like to overrule the sanitary district," Judge Samuel B. Epstein told City Atty. Robert Di Leonardi, "I'm sympathetic to the people of Des Plaines."

Epstein called on MSD and Des Plaines "to save me the time of going into something as difficult and novel as this. Hopefully something can be worked out and a ruling won't be necessary."

The judge, who recently was assigned the city's newest home rule version of a six-year court battle, suggested arguments that Des Plaines either purchase MSD's 105-acre southeast of Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road or offer to trade land of equal value for the project.

THE SUIT, filed Aug. 9, asks for a court order forcing the sanitary district to abide by local zoning ordinances that could prohibit construction. The current case claims that Des Plaines home rule authority under the 1970 Illinois Constitution takes priority over MSD condemnation power. The Illinois Supreme Court ruled in favor of MSD in Jan., 1971 after appeal of Des Plaines' first suit.

Epstein's hesitancy to rule is based on his "almost 100 per cent appeal record," he said.

Any decision on the current case "will make new law," the judge said. Since home rule was enacted, few cases have been decided and none has determined the power relationship between two government agencies.

"I'm jealous of my record on appeals," Epstein said, claiming only one of 24 cases appealed from his court was overturned since 1967. "I don't want to be in a position where I rule then get a reversal."

EPSTEIN, AT 62 years old, is seeking reelection this year. Judges in Cook County run against their record, without opposition and need 60 per cent approval to retain office.

"The district has been expending monies," MSD Atty. Vincent P. Flood said, asking Epstein to set a date for a ruling on the dismissal motion. The attorney claimed MSD has spent $250,000 for project engineering since March 31, 1971.

"It won't be too long," Epstein answered, declining to set a date for a ruling. "I guess it will be before Dec. 1 in case I should be defeated for election."

Di Leonardi said Wednesday the city case is based on "new powers... inherent to the people" and "restructuring of government" under the new Constitution. "The powers and functions of home rule units shall be construed liberally. We contend that includes the relationship between bodies."

"OUR THEORY — It is a new theory — we are no longer faced with equal against equal," the city attorney said, claiming Des Plaines is a "superior power" to special service districts like MSD.

"If you think you have a new theory you should not be barred from testing it," Di Leonardi said, arguing against the dismissal motion.

"Our position is that there is no change in position," Flood said. "We are completely controlled when we build" by the environmental protection agency. A permit is required for simple sewer construction.

"This appears to be almost frivolous... there's not an iota of difference except for the allegation of home rule," Flood said. "I wonder if he could tell the county the same thing if the county wanted to build in or around Des Plaines."

"WE DON'T contend we can tell the federal government or the state where they can build," Di Leonardi said. "But, what's to prohibit Mount Prospect from putting... a smelting plant or garbage dump in our backyard? They could put one up on State and Madison streets if Mr. Flood is correct."

Epstein said, "the only contact I've had with the question we're discussing here is the case" of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights involving Cook County. In 1966 the municipalities sought power to challenge county zoning in court and lost. Arlington Heights then filed for a rehearing based on home rule powers, claiming "independent status," but the appellate court refusal to reverse the original decision.

"There's considerable difference here... and yet there seems to be some analogy between the two," Epstein said, referring to the court indication that new home rule powers are not qualification for rehearing.

"As a judge, I am bound to follow decisions of the appellate and supreme courts regardless of personal feelings," the judge, who will mail his decision on the dismissal motion to both attorneys, said.

Attorney General's Office Refuses To Probe Gas Seep

by JACK PENCHOFF

The Illinois Attorney General's office has turned down a request by a Chicago environmental group to study complaints that gasoline has been seeping into the Des Plaines River from a downtown service station.

Phillip Miller of the Citizens for a Better Environment (CBE) told the Herald that the Attorney General's office was notified by an informal complaint of the Des Plaines River by gasoline entering the river from Ross Automotive, 607 River Rd., Des Plaines.

On Sept. 5 the CBE filed an informal complaint with the Illinois Pollution Control Board charging Ross Automotive and Cites Service Oil Co. (Citgo) with violating the Environmental Protection Act by allowing leaked gasoline to enter the underground water level beneath the station.

The complaint said the river was being polluted because the ground water under Ross Automotive drains directly into the Des Plaines River. Miller said at the time that by an informal complaint his group was asking the state to investigate the matter.

MILLER SAID if the attorney general's office had decided in his group's favor, the state would file a formal complaint against Ross and Citgo and a hearing would have been held before the pollution control board. Miller said the service station and Citgo would be subject to heavy fines if the Board ruled they were polluting the river.

Miller said his group does not intend to continue the fight against Ross and Citgo because of limited resources and the "legal technicalities involved."

He did reassert the CBE's position that it believes Ross and Citgo are responsible for polluting the river.

Last week Citgo removed the underground storage tanks and terminated its lease with Ross, who now operates the station solely as a repair garage.

According to tests ordered by the Des Plaines Fire Department the tanks were not leaky when they were removed.

The tanks were put in the station last March. Previous tanks in the ground before that time reportedly had illegal patches on them in violation of the city ordinance.

Ross has since filed a suit against Citgo, charging it leased him faulty equipment when he took over the station last year. The suit claims that the tanks leased to Citgo allowed gasoline to seep into the ground water that drains into the Des Plaines River.

The controversy began last fall when Durton Kosmen, 709 River Rd., who lives next to Ross Automotive claimed gasoline was seeping into his basement sump hole. Kosmen said the gasoline was coming from the underground storage tanks leaks.

The tanks were tested three times with no leaks detected, however, when the tanks were unearthed gasoline was evident in the tank holes.

RECENTLY when the tanks were finally removed the smell of gasoline was strongly evident floating in the tank hole.

The fire department said the gasoline was from previous spills at the gas station.

According to Fire Department Lt. Richard Arthur, a large amount of gasoline spilled into the ground July 3 when a Citgo driver failed to remove the hoses from his truck in time while filling the underground storage tanks.

Food, Gasoline, Fuel Lead Wholesale Price Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices went up a moderate 0.3 per cent in September, mainly because of higher prices for food, gasoline and other fuels, the government said today.

Egg, milk and grain price increases more than offset declines for meat, fruits and vegetables as the price index for farm products and processed foods and feeds went up 0.6 per cent last month, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

This followed a 0.2 per cent decline in the raw and processed farm products and food index for August, but was still far under increases ranging from 1.1 up to 2.3 per cent in the previous three months.

This two-month moderation of food price increases appeared to bear out administration predictions that the sharp surge in food prices earlier this year would taper off. The report was welcome news for President Nixon less than five weeks before the November election.

INDUSTRIAL COMMODITY prices went up only 0.2 per cent, a little less than average for the past two years. About a third of this increase was due to higher prices for fuels, mainly gasoline.

The over-all Wholesale Price Index (WPI) stood at 120.2 in September, which meant that goods which cost $10 at wholesale in 1967, were priced at $12.02 last month.

This was 5 per cent above the previous September. However, wholesale prices during the first 10 months of Nixon's Phase II economic controls went up 5.7 per cent through the end of September, which was higher than the 5.2 per cent increase in 1971 prior to his Aug. 15 wage-price freeze.

Democratic and labor critics have charged that this is proof the administration's economic controls are failing.

Wholesale prices usually offer a hint of the trend of retail prices in the months ahead. But in the period under wage-price controls, wholesale prices have held markedly higher than those at the retail level.

In the 11 months since the end of wage-price freeze, wholesale prices have risen 5.7 per cent, while the consumer prices went up only 3.3 per cent. Farm prices, always greatly variable, soared 10.4 per cent and wholesale prices jumped 6.7 per cent in this period, while retail grocery prices moved up 4.6 per cent.

THE GOVERNMENT'S report on unemployment in September, another closely watched economic indicator, was scheduled to be released today.

The wholesale price index for consumer goods went up 0.4 per cent in September following a 0.2 per cent decline in August. Other consumer goods showed a 0.2 per cent price increase, compared with a 0.3 per cent advance in each of the three previous months.

Leather prices increased 2.1 per cent and wool products went up 1.4 per cent. But man-made fiber textile products showed a 0.1 per cent price decline and plywood prices went down 1 per cent, although over-all the lumber and wood products index went up 0.3 per cent — the smallest monthly increase so far this year.

Prices for household furniture went down 0.1 per cent, but commercial furniture prices shot up 1.1 per cent. Prices for agricultural machinery and equipment declined 0.2 per cent.

Republicans Worrying About Senate

by DAVID SMOTHERS
UPI Senior Editor

Chicago (UPI)—No matter what the polls say, Republican strategists insist they are still worried about Illinois. They should be. They have a lot going for them, but not enough yet to put Illinois in the bank for President Nixon.

Complacency and apathy among the Republicans, plus old oaths of allegiance among Democrats and labor, could still combine to pull out Illinois and its 26 electoral votes for Sen. George S. McGovern.

The odds do not favor it. Barely a month before election day, these were some of the reasons for Republican euphoria in Illinois:

—A private Republican poll two weeks ago showed Nixon getting 70 per cent of the vote. A Chicago Tribune poll released Sunday had Nixon at 60 per cent, with just 24 per cent of those interviewed going for McGovern.

—TRY AS HE WILL, McGovern has yet to establish a sense of brotherhood with the Chicago Democratic regular whose leaders were barred from the Democratic convention. McGovern's people are still blamed and one of the spurned delegates said, "It's just impossible to cure that ill in a couple of months, even if we wanted to."

—The clout of the once awesome organization of Mayor Richard J. Daley is in question. A man in the business of getting out Democratic votes in Chicago sees it "creaking with old age, rent with internal dissonance." Three onetime pillars of the Chicago organization — State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, County Clerk Edward J. Barrett and former Gov. Otto Kerner — are either on trial or under indictment.

Two suites of offices around the corner from each other testify to the surface appearances of the Illinois campaigns of the two presidential rivals.

In one, pretty, well-coiffed secretaries bustle about answering telephones; important looking men pop out of office doors with instructions to clear a certain detail with Washington; more important looking people sit in the anterooms, awaiting admittance to the inner offices. This is Nixon headquarters.

In the other suite, located over an Italian restaurant, a harried girl handles a small switchboard; young campaign aides try to find out who is doing what and sometimes wrangle with each other about it; important looking envelopes are mailed containing nothing but blank pieces of paper; if a visitor wants an ashtray an accommodating young woman may fish an empty cola can from a waste basket. This is where McGovern's Illinois campaign is being run.

ADD TO these the frank disillusionment of some prominent Democratic leaders, discontent among Democratic independents, and angry rollings in the blue collar workers' neighborhoods — and the list of McGovern's troubles in Illinois can become quite lengthy.

Despite their talk of running scared, Republicans have found difficulty in getting their people excited, what with the one-sided polls.

As for state candidates, GOP Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie probably needs Nixon a lot more than the President needs him. Daniel J. Walker, a maverick Democrat who turned himself from corporation lawyer to grass-roots charmer in scarcely a year, leads in the polls. Democratic Rep. Roman C. Pucinski looks like a loser in his run against Sen. Charles H. Percy. But Percy is a bit of maverick, too, and his constituency is not necessarily Nixon's.

Rankine served in Vietnam, and is a 1954 graduate of Arlington High School. He earned a bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois where he was named a distinguished military graduate. He recently earned a Ph.D. degree in engineering from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search

Gamble Law With Teeth Is Passed By Village Board

The Elk Grove Village Board of Trustees has passed a new village gambling ordinance designed to make the laws more specific and enforceable.

Police Chief Harry Jenkins has said the former gambling and cheating ordinances were vague, and he and Village Atty. Edward Hofert worked on the proposed changes to make the ordinances more readily enforceable by police. The new ordinance was approved Tuesday.

The gambling ordinance is divided into two sections with the first part defining gambling and the second part listing exceptions to the ordinance.

Included in the definition of gambling was playing a game of chance or skill for money or something of value; making a wager on the result of a game, contest or political nomination; operating gambling devices; possessing any book used to record bets, and transmitting betting odds.

Exceptions in the second section included bingo games licensed by the state, pari-mutuel betting authorized by state law, bona fide contests of skill and insurance of life and property.

THE FORMER ordinance simply read in part: "It shall be unlawful to gamble or attend any gambling resort or to make any bet, lottery or gambling hazard, or to buy or sell any chances or tickets in any gambling game, arrangement or device." It also prohibited possession of any gambling device with the intent of using it illegally or to advertise, maintain or patronize a gambling house.

Also Tuesday night an ordinance on deceptive practices was revised to define theft by deception as being "unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to obtain possession of any goods, property or things of value by any false proceedings, or by cheating, or fraud of any kind."

Jenkins has said both ordinance revisions would be clearer and easier for village police to enforce.

'Play Is Work' At This School

At this school "play is work," and the teacher is not a teacher, but an "enabler."

The school is the St. Nicholas Preschool at the St. Nicholas Episcopal Church, 1072 Ridge Ave., Elk Grove Village.

It is based on the British Infant School concept, according to its director Susan Kroeger. "The idea developed in schools in lower economic areas of England. Children coming from these areas were not adequately prepared for school," said Mrs. Kroeger.

"The goal of the school is to provide the children with a strong self-concept."

A VARIETY OF "interest centers" are available to the children; housekeeping area, dress-up corner, block corner, library, puppet theater, creative material corner, paint easels, science table, sand table, various indoor and outdoor equipment and numbers and letters material.

"Play is work for children," said Mrs. Kroeger. By using the different equipment available, the children become more self-reliant and learn to adapt to any situation.

"The teacher is an 'enabler.' She enables the children to learn how to use the various equipment available," said Mrs. Kroeger.

"For example, there is a simple scale in the classroom. By moving pegs in the holes on the bar, you can make one side heavier, one side lighter."

"AS A CHILD plays with this, he will learn a concept of balance."

"If, after a period of time, none of the children had shown any interest in the scale, I would take it to the carpeted area and begin playing with it myself. The children's natural curiosity will make them interested and they will gather around to watch me. We can then talk about the scale and the idea of balance," said Mrs. Kroeger.

According to Mrs. Kroeger, there is a distinction between the British Infant School and other forms of progressive schooling, because in the British program, "children are not left to their own devices."

Mrs. Kroeger did not have any formal training for conducting a British Infant School. "I don't think there is a training program available."

After she graduated from Maryville College, St. Louis she began doing social

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy. He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in Chicago that the drug problem in America has been aided by the advertising of pharmaceutical companies.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connelly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 500th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 37,730,000 shares from 18,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Search NW Area For Kidnaped Cop

activities.

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five..." before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

Equivalency Testing Applications Taken

Applications for High School equivalency tests will be accepted at Harper College Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the college counseling center.

Application is restricted to persons over 18 years old living in Cook County who have not received a high school diploma. Applicants must have lived in Illinois for at least one year.

Testing is scheduled for three sessions on Oct. 20, 21 and 27. A $3 fee covers all sessions.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday on River Road near Miner Street in an unsuccessful attempt to find a Hillside police officer abducted Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

work for the St. Louis Juvenile Court. When she moved to the Chicago area after her marriage, she did substitute teaching in the Chicago Schools.

"I found out that I loved children," said Mrs. Kroeger.

She studied on her own to get the background information for a British Infant School. She introduced the concept to the St. Nicholas Preschool three years ago.

The program was expanded at St. Nicholas this year to include three-year-old children. Previously, only four-year-olds were allowed to attend school.

Mrs. Kroeger said British educators found children learned more, faster, when different age groups were mixed together. "There is a continuous circle of help," said Mrs. Kroeger, "the older children's self-confidence is further reinforced by teaching the younger children and the younger children learned better when taught by the older ones."

ONE OF THE ways the children learn from each other is through small "theater activities in which the children play different roles.

"We have one scene," said Mrs. Kroeger, "with a princess, a dragon, a giant and a prince. The princess is trapped in a tree, surrounded by the dragon and the giant. The prince is supposed to rescue the princess. The children determine how the play is to end."

"Sometimes the prince rescues the princess after killing the dragon and the giant. Other times the prince, dragon and giant become friends and all three of them rescue the princess."

"We use masks during the plays, it lets the children be someone else. If they want to be bad, they can be and no one will condemn them."

"IF A CHILD does something in the play that the other children think is bad, they will correct him. This is far more valuable than an older person correcting the child's activity."

When the children act out roles within a family scene, there are masks for the "daddy," "mommy" and the "children."

In some of the family scenes, Mrs. Kroeger plays a child and lets the children play the adult roles. "It is important that the children know I am only playing a role, and am not becoming a child with them. If they thought I had become a child with them, they would lose a sense of security they get from having an adult present."

Through the preschool's activities, the children do achieve certain academic skills. "They can sight-read words, learn numbers, and ABC's, develop logical thinking and learn some basic principles in math, but these are not the important things," said Mrs. Kroeger. "The important thing is that they learn who they are and that they can be successful."

Oust Student For False Fire Alarm

An expulsion from school was approved Wednesday for a Schaumburg High School student who allegedly activated a false fire alarm during last month's student walk out.

The action was unanimously taken by the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education.

The student was expelled for the remainder of the semester for "endangering the life and safety of other students."

During the walkout about 400 students left the school and issued a series of demands. Following the walkout a fire alarm was activated emptying the building.

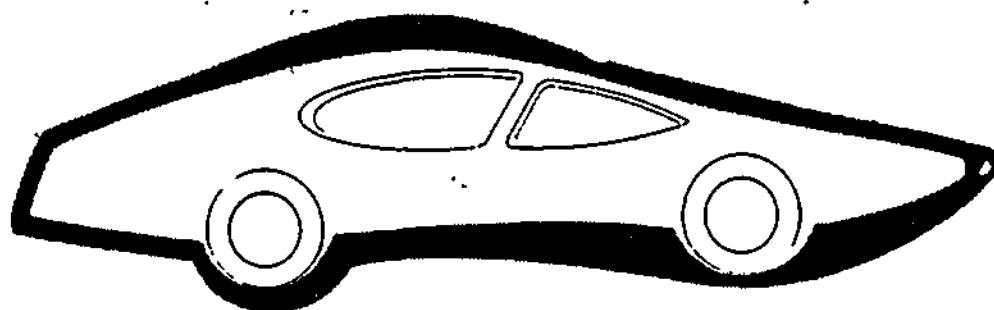

In other action the board agreed to annex part of Schaumburg Township now served by Barrington High School Dist. 224.

The board voted to submit a petition to the Cook and Lake County boards of school trustees asking that the boundary change be made.

The Barrington district last week voted to submit the same petition to the two boards which control school boundaries. Both Lake and Cook County trustees are involved because Dist. 224 is partly in each county.

Mount Prospect Police Vote On CCPA

An election will be held, probably in November, among Mount Prospect police patrolmen to decide whether they will be represented by the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA) in future negotiations with the village.

The election is now being arranged by Mount Prospect village officials with the help of the Illinois Department of Labor's conciliation and mediation service. Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said yesterday the actual secret ballot vote will take place in the next 30 to 60 days.

Village officials decided to arrange for the election in response to a request that they recognize the CCPA as the policemen's bargaining agent.

The CCPA acts as a bargaining agent for several area police departments already. These include Des Plaines, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling and the Cook County Sheriff's Police.

A MOUNT PROSPECT chapter was formed in May but has yet to be recognized by the village. According to Patrolman Warren Fischer, chapter president, 21 of the force's 36 patrolmen have signed up to be members. Only 19 favorable votes would be needed to approve the CCPA as the bargaining agent.

Fischer said yesterday his reaction to the setting up of the election was "favorable." He said he feels bargaining agents for policemen and other public employees have become the current trend.

On other occasions, Fischer has charged Mount Prospect Village Board members were "dragging their feet" on the matter of CCPA recognition. However, he said there was never any thought of a strike or traffic ticket campaign by the chapter members.

"I personally feel there is nothing to be gained by a strike or turning tickets on and off like a water faucet," Fischer said. He added it was not the way to gain public sympathy for their cause.

FOR SEVERAL years members of the police department have been attempting to get longevity pay increases from the village but every time their request has come up, it has been defeated. The closest they came was this year when the village board agreed to the concept of longevity payments for village employees but did not give out any.

The latest longevity proposal by the policemen was for raises of 2 per cent of salary at the end of the 5th, 10th, 15th and 25th year of service.

At the same time, though, Mount Prospect policemen are at or near the top in salaries for Chicago area suburban departments at all rank levels.

Eppley said a state mediator would be appointed for the election and the date set after written requests by both the village and the patrolmen have been submitted. Fischer's letter to the village trustees takes care of that requirement, Eppley said.

Building Moratorium Urged By John Kelly

Another local political candidate John Kelly, has called for a moratorium on building in the area until adequate flood-control can be established.

"The solution lies partially in local governments exercising self control in issuance of building permits, in not issuing more building permits until problems relating to flood control, roads, highways, sanitary and storm sewers systems and educational facilities are solved, said Kelly, Democratic candidate for state representative from the third district.

He joins State Rep. Gene Schlickman (R-3rd) and State Sen. John Graham (R-3rd) in calling for the building ban.

Kelly cited two main reasons in his call for the moratorium. He said immediate action is needed while land which may be necessary for flood control can be purchased.

He added that if local governmental units do not take immediate action they may face the possible intervention of state and federal officials in zoning matters.

Kelly said local governments are better suited to handle the problem, adding he is against state and federal intervention.

"I'm against the federal government dictating zoning laws," Kelly said.

Studies of the problem are necessary, but construction must be halted now, because in five years it may be too late to correct the problems, he added.

Police Cars To Use LP Gas

Two Elk Grove Village police cars will be converted to use liquid propane gas to test the fuel's feasibility and economy for six months. Police Chief Harry Jenkins said if the trial proves successful, liquid propane gas may be used in all patrol cars eventually.

Jenkins told village trustees Tuesday that no appreciable savings is expected in the cost of the fuel, but there should be a financial advantage to the village in less pollution and lower maintenance costs. He added that the fuel generally requires fewer oil changes, tuneups and spark plug replacement.

Trustees approved an expenditure of up to $1,000 to lease fuel conversion units to be installed on the cars and a 1,000-gallon storage tank for the propane. The tank would be kept at the public works garage on Landmeier Road.

Jenkins said an old and a new car would be used in the trial program for comparison. The cost of installing the fuel conversion units on the squad cars is about $100 each, and the units will be rented for $10 each per month.

Rolling Meadows has been using the liquid propane gas in five of its cars for about 10 months with very good results, Jenkins said.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search

Strong Street Well Water Reported As Contaminated

by LYNN ASINOF

A series of well-water tests conducted this summer has shown that water in seven wells in the Strong Street area of Wheeling has become contaminated and is unfit for drinking.

Wheeling Sanitarian Jane Terbell said she first received complaints about possible well contamination in June, and began testing the water shortly thereafter, with the help of the county health department.

Of the 51 wells in the Strong Street area, 42 have been checked for possible contamination. Five wells were not tested because the owners refused the service, and four have not been checked because the owners were either on vacation or at work.

Mrs. Terbell said that while the wells were not dangerously contaminated, the water was unhealthy to drink. She added that some of the contamination probably came from storm water seepage, as most of the tests were made shortly after heavy rain.

TO COMBAT the well contamination, Mrs. Terbell recommended that routine sampling of all wells be continued, and that shallow wells be abandoned. She said contaminated wells should be chlorinated and recommended that village water be made available in all areas presently served by wells.

The Strong Street area residents rely on wells for their water because they were annexed to the village only about two years ago. Village water lines have been extended into parts of the area, and at least two homes have hooked onto these mains.

The village, however, had planned to bring water and sewer lines into the area when developer Victor Smigel built a series of apartment buildings there. The construction of the apartments has been delayed by a suit brought by Strong Street residents protesting construction of the buildings and claiming improper zoning procedures on the village's part.

At present, the suit is still in the pre-trial stages, with a hearing scheduled for Nov. 14. At that time the court is expected to direct Smigel and the village to answer certain questions pertaining to the suit. Actual court proceedings will not be scheduled until after that hearing.

MRS. TERBELL said most other areas of the village rely on village water. She added, however, that some residents refused the water service and have continued using their wells.

The village does not take action against people who have contaminated wells. "You can't force people if they want to drink dirty water," she said. "We can only make recommendations and hope they listen to us."

Mrs. Terbell suggested that after any flood or heavy rain, persons with wells should boil their drinking water and have it tested by the county for possible contamination.

The county provides water sample bottles and testing services free of charge, upon request.

Zoning Unit OKs Flood Plain Remap

The Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals recommended Tuesday night that amendments to the village flood plain map made by Village Eng. Larry Oppenheimer be approved by the village board.

Oppenheimer changed the map to include improvements made to flood plain land by developers in the village. He explained that to build on the flood plain, developers must raise the grade of the land and construct retention basins to compensate for the water space lost.

The flood plain map was determined according to the highest flood levels recorded in Wheeling. Since developers on the flood plain are required to raise the grade of the land above these recorded levels, Oppenheimer said the land is no longer considered part of the flood plain.

Oppenheimer also added retention basins to the flood plain area on the map. While members of the zoning board agreed the basins should be included on the map, they suggested using cross-hatching to distinguish the basins from the other flood plain areas.

THE FLOOD plain map was revised on March 15. "I did change the map, not knowing that it had to be in front of the board," Oppenheimer said.

Oppenheimer said the storms this summer probably changed the flood plain area considerably, but added he could not indicate these changes without the proper geological studies.

"We won't know that until the next flood, when the United States Geological Service takes its measurements," said Village Atty. Paul Hamer.

Oppenheimer said the village was planning to have the map updated sometime in the future with the help of the federal department of housing and urban development.

A copy of the amended version of the map has been sent to the North Cook County Soil Conservation District, Oppenheimer said.

Do-It-Yourself Plan For Safer Water

If in doubt as to quality of water from your own well, Wheeling Sanitarian Jane Terbell recommends that you boil all water used for drinking, cooking or dishwashing. This should be done until you are certain that the well is again furnishing safe water.

Mrs. Terbell said a drilled well should be disinfected by the following procedures:

—Run pump until water is clear.

—Dissolve five tablespoons of chloride of lime (25 per cent strength) in a quart of water.

—Pour chlorine solution into the well. It may be necessary to remove the pump or to pour it in through the vent opening.

—Run the pump until chlorine can be smelled in the water.

—Let pump stand idle for several hours, overnight if possible.

—Run pump until water is completely free of chlorine taste or odor.

Mill Creek Subdivision Road Work Is Continuing

The Buffalo Grove Chief Building Insp. William Dettmer, said yesterday work is continuing on the Mill Creek subdivision to correct faulty conditions in the roads.

Buffalo Grove police, at the request of Dettmer, filed a report last week with the village on the roads in that subdivision as being in "poor condition."

According to Dettmer, several of the errors have been corrected and as soon as the streets are cleaned all the holes will be filled by Miller Builders.

Miller is planning to use the village's street cleaning equipment to get the roads in condition for repairs.

Dettmer also said the parking of construction equipment along Mill Creek roads has been corrected and emergency equipment can pass without problems. He said a careful watch would be put on the builders to see the problem does not recur.

Miller Builders has also been criticized for not moving the excess dirt off a school site in that subdivision. Work reportedly has begun on moving that dirt and according to spokesmen for Miller Builders it will be cleared as soon as possible.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy. He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in Chicago that the drug problem in America has been aided by the advertising of pharmaceutical companies.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connolly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 596th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive activities. Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five" before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnapped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant,

Fear Sewer Link Without OTSD's OK

Richard Schulz, superintendent of the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District (OTSD), told the Metropolitan Sanitary District Board of Trustees (MSD) yesterday that he feared the MSD would allow interceptor sewer connections within the Prospect Heights area without OTSD approval.

Schulz spoke in response to a proposed amendment to an ordinance which the MSD board is scheduled to adopt at its next meeting.

Fifteen other communities, including the city of Des Plaines, have submitted written comments on the proposed amendment to the MSD. Sanitary District Trustee E. George Thiem said yesterday he would have copies of the letters distributed to MSD trustees and staff members for consideration of changes in the proposed amendment before it is adopted.

SCHULZ SPOKE in connection with one portion of the amendment which would allow the MSD to issue sewer connection permits directly to a private individual or company in an unincorporated area.

Under existing MSD ordinances only a municipal government or a sanitary district is eligible to receive MSD permits because it can be held responsible for maintenance of the sewer system.

MSD officials assured Schulz that the intent of the amendment was only to provide some sewer facilities for individuals or commercial and industrial development which are not inside the jurisdiction of any municipality or any local sanitary district. They assured Schulz the amendment would be reworded to apply to unincorporated areas outside the boundaries of local sanitary districts only.

Schulz explained to the trustees he feared a developer who received a permit directly from the MSD under the original wording of the amendment would be able to ignore OTSD ordinances.

Drainage Solution Could Cost $114,000

Solutions to a water drainage problem over which Prospect Heights Dist. 23 is being sued could cost between $15,000 and $114,000, according to an engineer's report released Wednesday.

The engineer, with the firm of Ciorbo, Spies and Gustafson, was hired by Dist. 23 officials after owners of the Pleasant Run condominium development in Wheeling filed a suit against the district. Pleasant Run owners are charging that the district is preventing the natural flow of rain water from the development onto the John Muir School site, at Oak Street and Drake Terrace in Prospect Heights.

The report will be presented at a hearing at 10 a.m. today in Cook County Circuit Court.

"We'll present the report to the court, but the district is not in any financial position to pay this kind of money," said Henry Valley, Dist. 23 attorney. "With the judge's help, we'll just have to work out a solution."

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS listed in the report are:

—Use of existing drain tile and construction of a 6-foot detention basin. Cost estimated at $30,000;

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road to serve the Muir site, the Pleasant Run site and the Country Gardens subdivision which drains onto the Pleasant Run site. Cost estimated at $68,000.

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Echo retention pond in Wheeling. Cost estimated at $114,000;

—Construction of a 15-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road plus a detention basin. Cost estimated at $20,000.

—Installation of a storm water pump on the northeast corner of the Muir site taking water to Hintz Road. Cost estimated at $15,000 plus $500 annually for maintenance.

THE LAWSUIT follows more than a year of unsuccessful negotiations between Dist. 23 and Pleasant Run owners. Representatives of John Glorioso and Associates, developer of the complex, have asked the district for assessments to build a storm sewer and detention basin on the Muir property.

Wheeling officials in February approved the development, which included plans for a storm sewer and basin on the Muir site. "We assumed the school district would grant the necessary easements," said George Passolt, Wheeling village manager.

School officials have refused the basin because they believe it would create hazard for school children.

While Dist. 23 officials knew a drainage problem existed when the Muir site was purchased, the problem was not as bad then. "The problem gets worse and worse as the area develops," said Supt. Edward Gradosky. "As more housing is built, the problem is still going to be there."

School officials are worried that 11 acres next to the Pleasant Run site will be developed, causing further flood problems.

Hire Part-Time Recreation Aide

A sophomore at Triton Junior College has been hired by the Wheeling Park District as a part-time recreation director, filling the post left vacant when Dave Phillips was promoted to park supervisor last month.

Rich Haddock, 24, will assume responsibility for children's athletic programs, classes, park activities, special events and the exploration of new programs.

Haddock, a recreation major, was graduated from Wheeling High School in 1967, where he lettered in football and wrestling. Although he has never worked with a park district, Haddock has been involved with day camp activities.

Equivalency Testing Applications Taken

Applications for High School equivalency tests will be accepted at Harper College Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the college counseling center.

Application is restricted to persons over 19 years old living in Cook County who have not received a high school diploma. Applicants must have lived in Illinois for at least one year.

Testing is scheduled for three sessions on Oct. 20, 21 and 27. A $5 fee covers all sessions.

A Helping Hand Is What They Need

Clearbrook Workshop Offers A Chance

by FRED GACA

A chance. An opportunity. A helping hand. This is what they want and need.

They are the "clients" of the Clearbrook Vocational Rehabilitation Center & Sheltered Workshop, 680 Lively Blvd., in the Industrial Park of Elk Grove Village.

The workshop is an extension of the Clearbrook Center in Rolling Meadows. It offers employment opportunities and work therapy to mentally handicapped, emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped youths and adults.

Director Robert Gillespie said the center now employs about 85 handicapped persons. Their average age is in the mid-twenties, but clients range from 16 to 52 years old.

Gillespie said that most of the clients are referred to the workshop from the various high school districts in the area. The state, private physicians and local mental health agencies refer the remainder of clients.

When a person first comes to the workshop, he is interviewed by a vocational counselor. The counselor, after interviewing and testing, will determine the new client's present and potential capabilities.

A THOROUGH SCREENING of the client's background and medical history is also done before the person is put to work in the shop.

The new person will then be put to work, "hopefully tried on all the jobs to see his capabilities," said Tracy Martin, staff supervisor.

Periodic evaluations of every client are made by the staff to measure development and suggest possible changes in training.

In the workshop, actual light assembly and manufacturing work is done. The work is obtained from local firms which find it profitable to bring materials to the workshop, have it assembled and then pick-up the finished goods.

Dan Sloan, sub-contracting supervisor, said that most of the work involves packaging, hand collating and light machine work. The workshop handles both long-term and one-time job orders.

Littelfuse, Inc., in Des Plaines, has used the workshop force to assemble more than 18 million fuseholders. Western Electric had a three-month contract for 12,000 phones a week to be assembled.

Wages paid to the clients are based on industry pay scales for a regular worker doing the same task.

SINCE THEY ARE being paid on a regular industry scale, clients are expected to produce as any employee. "All work done here is on either a deadline or a quota," said Sloan.

Regular quality inspections are made to insure that finished goods meet industry standards.

All money from contract work is returned to the program. An amount covering direct overhead expenses for the job is taken from the contract. The balance is paid to the workers in wages.

Funds to run the workshop and pay staff salaries come from the school districts whose students receive training, the Illinois Department of Mental Health, and donations.

Clients work a six-hour day and are paid on a piece-work basis. Pay ranges from 20 cents an hour for a new employee to $2.64 an hour for the skilled workers.

Average pay is 70-80 cents an hour. A special provision for training and rehabilitation centers permits the workshop to pay less than the minimum wage.

Gene Freeman, placement supervisor, said the center's goal is to give each client enough training so he may be placed in regular businesses as any normal employee, within his own limitations.

"We would like to see everyone placed," said Freeman, "but the majority are not placeable."

Freeman said 32 people have successfully gone to work for outside firms. Another eight were placed but were not able to keep a job in an outside business.

WHEN PLACING A client in an outside industry, Freeman works to carefully match the client's abilities with the employer's needs and expectations.

When starting an outside job, it is important that the client be given a task he can do well, said Freeman. From the tasks he is known to do well, the client can then progress to more difficult assignments in the firm.

Clients are usually placed in simple production work which can be supervised and is not highly competitive.

Freeman said some firms get "overly uptight about hiring a handicapped person, but when they visit here (the workshop) they change very quickly."

Occasionally there is some initial resentment from other employees about hiring a handicapped person, but this "melts away very quickly," said Freeman.

FREEMAN MAKES regular follow-up visits to clients who have been placed to insure both client and employer are satisfied.

A client placed in an outside business receives the same starting pay as any beginning worker.

Bantam Books, Inc., in Des Plaines, has hired five former workshop clients, a total of 12 per cent of its work force. This year, Bantam received the national book publishing industry's award for efficiency.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 34, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserves lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search.

Despite The 6 Floods

Wastewater Reclamation Facility Is 50% Completed

by JILL BETTNER

Despite six floods and one tornado this summer, construction of the Des Plaines River Wastewater Reclamation Facility on Pekara Drive in unincorporated Vernon Twp. is nearly 50 per cent complete.

The sewage treatment plant is scheduled to begin serving residents in southeast Lake County Feb. 1, replacing several other smaller centers.

Construction on the $1.3 million facility began last May. The plant is the first of a multi-phase project that will last several years, when this stage is complete, the center will be able to treat two million gallons of raw sewage per day. Expanded to its planned ultimate capacity, the facility will be able to treat up to 48 million gallons per day.

The Illinois Environmental Protection agency is paying half the cost of constructing the treatment plant. Lake County Public Works Department officials have also applied for funds from the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

USING A RELATIVELY new process, the plant will purify the sewage and return it as clear fresh water to the Des Plaines River.

"The standards for sewage treatment are higher than they are for drinking water," said John Hooper, design engineer for the Lake County Works Department. "Actually," he added, "we could recycle it, but psychologically, people just aren't ready for that yet."

This center is the sixth sewage treatment plant that Hooper has designed. In an effort to get away from the ugly facilities of the past, Hooper has planned the Lake County plant to be functional and pleasing to the eye.

THE FRONT OF THE treatment plant located on a 60-acre site will have a sloping lawn including $11,000 worth of landscaping designed to camouflage the treatment tanks to the rear.

Besides enjoying its appearance, the residents across the street from the facility will appreciate the fact that there will be no odor.

Mill Creek Subdivision Road Work Is Continuing

The Buffalo Grove Chief Building Insp. William Dettmer, said yesterday work is continuing on the Mill Creek subdivision to correct faulty conditions in the roads.

Buffalo Grove police, at the request of Dettmer, filed a report last week with the village on the roads in that subdivision as being in "poor condition."

According to Dettmer, several of the errors have been corrected and as soon as the streets are cleaned all the holes will be filled by Miller Builders.

Miller is planning to use the village's street cleaning equipment to get the roads in condition for repairs.

Dettmer also said the parking of construction equipment along Mill Creek roads has been corrected and emergency equipment can pass without problems. He said a careful watch would be put on the builders to see the problem does not recur.

Miller Builders has also been criticized for not moving the excess dirt off a school site in that subdivision. Work reportedly has begun on moving that dirt and according to spokesmen for Miller Builders it will be cleared as soon as possible.

Recent Blood Drive Nets 50 Pints

Fifty pints of blood were donated last week by participants in the Red Cross blood drive sponsored by the Achim chapter of the B'nai B'rith Lodge 2761 and Aura women's chapter of B'nai B'rith.

This was the second year the Buffalo Grove organizations have conducted the drive and so far, they are the only ones to take advantage of the group assurance program offered by the Red Cross.

Under the program, if 25 per cent of a group's membership donates one pint of blood each, all members and their families including parents and in-laws who live within a five-county area are protected for one year.

About 10 residents took advantage of the individual blood assurance program that operates on the same principle.

NURSES FROM the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Nurses' Club donated their time along with several Buffalo Grove Civil Defense volunteers and about 14 B'nai B'rith women to work at the drive conducted at James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School. Several Wheeling High School freshmen who had stopped in to visit their former teachers also helped out.

Mrs. Richard Meretsky, one of the organizers of the drive, said she was surprised more people in the community did not participate.

"Giving blood does not hurt one bit," Mrs. Meretsky said, "and it's great to know that you're protected in case anything happens."

Mrs. Meretsky said the B'nai B'rith organizations are planning another drive next year and they hope more Buffalo Grove residents and clubs will take part.

A QUEEN'S CROWN and a bouquet of roses were presented to Wheeling High School's new Homecoming Queen, Darlene Hales, during coronation ceremonies yesterday. Darlene will reign over this weekend's homecoming activities at the high school. The four runners-up to the queen were Marcia Adkinson, Jan Klaus, Sharon Thompson and Lu Ann Walsh.

Zoning Unit OKs Flood Plain Remap

The Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals recommended Tuesday night that amendments to the village flood plain map made by Village Eng. Larry Oppenheimer be approved by the village board.

Oppenheimer changed the map to include improvements made to flood plain land by developers in the village. He explained that to build on the flood plain, developers must raise the grade of the land and construct retention basins to compensate for the water space lost.

The flood plain map was determined according to the highest flood levels recorded in Wheeling. Since developers on the flood plain are required to raise the grade of the land above these recorded levels, Oppenheimer said the land is no longer considered part of the flood plain.

Oppenheimer also added retention basins to the flood plain area on the map. While members of the zoning board agreed the basins should be included on the map, they suggested using cross-hatching to distinguish the basins from the other flood plain areas.

THE FLOOD plain map was revised on March 15. "I did change the map, not knowing that it had to be in front of the board," Oppenheimer said.

Oppenheimer said the storms this summer probably changed the flood plain area considerably, but added he could not indicate these changes without the proper geological studies.

"We won't know that until the next flood, when the United States Geological Service takes its measurements," said Village Atty. Paul Hamer.

Oppenheimer said the village was planning to have the map updated sometime in the future with the help of the federal department of housing and urban development.

A copy of the amended version of the map has been sent to the North Cook County Soil Conservation District, Oppenheimer said.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy. He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in Chicago that the drug problem in America has been aided by the advertising of pharmaceutical companies.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connolly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 500th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

Search Northwest Suburbs For Abducted Cop

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five," before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnapped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant,

Fear Sewer Link Without OTSD's OK

Richard Schuld, superintendent of the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District (OTSD), told the Metropolitan Sanitary District Board of Trustees (MSD) yesterday that he feared the MSD would allow interceptor sewer connections within the Prospect Heights area without OTSD approval.

Schuld spoke in response to a proposed amendment to an ordinance which the MSD board is scheduled to adopt at its next meeting.

Fifteen other communities, including the city of Des Plaines, have submitted written comments on the proposed amendment to the MSD. Sanitary District Trustee E. George Thiem said yesterday he would have copies of the letters distributed to MSD trustees and staff members for consideration of changes in the proposed amendment before it is adopted.

SCHULD SPOKE in connection with one portion of the amendment which would allow the MSD to issue sewer connection permits directly to a private individual or company in an unincorporated area.

Under existing MSD ordinances only a municipal government or a sanitary district is eligible to receive MSD permits because it can be held responsible for maintenance of the sewer system.

MSD officials assured Schuld that the intent of the amendment was only to provide some sewer facilities for individuals or commercial and industrial development which are not inside the jurisdiction of any municipality or any local sanitary district. They assured Schuld the amendment would be reworded to apply to unincorporated areas outside the boundaries of local sanitary districts only.

Schuld explained to the trustees he feared a developer who received a permit directly from the MSD under the original wording of the amendment would be able to ignore OTSD ordinances.

Drainage Solution Could Cost $114,000

Solutions to a water drainage problem over which Prospect Heights Dist. 23 is being sued could cost between $15,000 and $114,000, according to an engineer's report released Wednesday.

The engineer, with the firm of Clorba, Spies and Gustafson, was hired by Dist. 23 officials after owners of the Pleasant Run condominium development in Wheeling filed a suit against the district. Pleasant Run owners are charging that the district is preventing the natural flow of rain water from the development onto the John Muir School site, at Oak Street and Drake Terrace in Prospect Heights.

The report will be presented at a hearing at 10 a.m. today in Cook County Circuit Court.

"We'll present the report to the court, but the district is not in any financial position to pay this kind of money," said Henry Vallely, Dist. 23 attorney. "With the judge's help, we'll just have to work out a solution."

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS listed in the report are:

—Use of existing drain tile and construction of a 6-foot detention basin. Cost estimated at $30,000;

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road to serve the Muir site, the Pleasant Run site and the Country Gardens subdivision which drains onto the Pleasant Run site. Cost estimated at $68,000.

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Echo retention pond in Wheeling. Cost estimated at $114,000;

—Construction of a 15-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road plus a detention basin. Cost estimated at $20,000.

—Installation of a storm water pump on the northeast corner of the Muir site taking water to Hintz Road. Cost estimated at $15,000 plus $500 annually for maintenance.

THE LAWSUIT follows more than a year of unsuccessful negotiations between Dist. 23 and Pleasant Run owners. Representatives of John Glorioso and Associates, developer of the complex, have asked the district for assessments to build a storm sewer and detention basin on the Muir property.

Wheeling officials in February approved the development, which included plans for a storm sewer and basin on the Muir site. "We assumed the school district would grant the necessary easements," said George Passolt, Wheeling village manager.

School officials have refused the basin because they believe it would create hazard for school children.

While Dist. 23 officials knew a drainage problem existed when the Muir site was purchased, the problem was not as bad then. "The problem gets worse and worse as the area develops," said Supt. Edward Grodsky. "As more housing is built, the problem is still going to be there."

School officials are worried that 11 acres next to the Pleasant Run site will be developed, causing further flood problems.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with Illinois plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search.

State Slates Palatine Road Work In Spring

State highway officials hope to begin work next spring on the long-awaited widening of Palatine Road between Winston and Williams drives.

According to plans being finalized by the Illinois Division of Highways, Palatine road will be expanded to four lanes between the two streets, with a traffic signal replacing the present four-way stop at Williams Drive.

Five homes along Palatine Road will be condemned to allow room for the frontage road to be moved several feet north.

Joseph Ligas, local affairs program engineer in the state highway division, said yesterday the homes will be appraised and the owners assisted in their relocation, in compliance with federal law.

THE PLANS FOR the widening of the road are similar to what was described at a public hearing Jan. 21, 1971, in Palatine Village Hall, except the plans are limited to Palatine Road between Winston and Williams drives.

The original plans called for improvement of Palatine Road from Rte. 53 to Rohlwing Road.

Ligas said plans are proceeding immediately on the section of road between Williams and Winston because it is the only two-lane stretch of Palatine Road between Northwest Highway in Palatine and Waukegan Road in Northfield.

"We figure if we can at least improve that bottleneck, we can improve the flow of traffic along Palatine Road," he said.

BECAUSE THAT section is considered to have top priority, funds will be available under the federal TOPICS (Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety).

Ligas estimated the cost of the road widening at $800,000 which would be split between federal and state highway departments.

"I don't believe the village (of Palatine) has any great portion of the funds, if it is involved at all," he said.

As currently planned, Palatine Road will become two lanes in each direction, separated by a four-foot median.

THE MEDIAN IS TO widen to 14 feet at the intersection of Palatine Road and Winston Drive, to allow for left-turn lanes.

Ligas described the plan as "one which should be acceptable to a majority of the people."

The condemnation of four houses on the corner of Palatine Road and Winston Drive, and of Palatine and Williams Drive, was agreed upon in June of 1971 by the homeowners.

The state highway division is awaiting approval of the location and design plans by the federal highway administration before preparing final plans.

LIGAS SAID HE hoped to obtain federal approval this month, and to begin construction next spring.

Winston and Williams drives are the main access routes to the Winston Park subdivision, which has some 2,000 homes. In addition, the Baybrook Park apartment complex, under construction, on the south side of Palatine Road will add traffic after the 500 units are built.

Since last January, a temporary four-way stop sign has been at the intersection of Palatine Road and Winston Drive.

Plans for the improvement between Winston and Williams drives are available for public inspection at the office of the Illinois Department of Transportation, Northeast Region, 300 N. State St., Chicago.

JUST CUTTING THE GRASS doesn't help much in old Cady Cemetery in northwest Palatine Township. The nearly-abandoned cemetery, owned by the township, is just off of Elm Road south of Dundee Road. A three-member cemetery board formed last spring is supposed to give the board of auditors recommendations for Cady and two other abandoned sites in the township. But nobody knows when that report will be ready.

Meanwhile, there's $2,000 in the township budget waiting to be used to carry out the recommendations. This is the shape the cemetery is in today, after a recent mowing. Township Supervisor Howard I. Olsen admits that with the numerous fallen and broken headstones in Cady, the tiny cemetery is almost impossible to keep up, but township officials are hoping the cemetery committee will come up with a workable solution.

Cracker Barrel

EVERYTHING'S a little more complicated nowadays, it seems. In the past several weeks, the Palatine Village Board has dealt at length with such earth shattering topics as ice cream vendors, cat and dog control, and now, Halloween trick-or-treating. Mayor Jack Moodie, who has a thing about what he considers unnecessary ordinances, shook his head. "I wonder how we ever grew up."

BUT WHILE we're at it, Trustee Wendell Jones suggested that if the trustees do decide to proclaim the Sunday preceding the holiday for trick-or-treating that the doorknocking not begin before 6 p.m. — "so it doesn't interrupt the football game."

IT COULD be worse — he could have been plan commission chairman. As a co-developer of a proposed project in Palatine was explaining his background, which has included stints on plan commissions and zoning boards in Lake County, plan commission chairman Tom Moody assured him not to worry: "We won't hold that against you."

STEEL REINFORCED, maybe? Members of the Environmental Control Board, still smarting over the village board's decision to ease the provisions of the ECB-drafted animal control ordinance, took a close look at a sample garbage bag one of the ECB committees is studying. It's 50 per cent thicker than the current village garbage bags, but, as one member put it: "If we're going to let the cats run at-large, we'll need them even thicker."

HOW 'BOUT A kid ordinance? While discussing the animal ordinance, one ECB member, who shall remain nameless, remarked, "I don't let my kids run loose." On second thought, he added: "Maybe we ought to have a leash law on kids."

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1969, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would "probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam."

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy. He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in Chicago that the drug problem in America has been aided by the advertising of pharmaceutical companies.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connelly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 56th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.50. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

activities.

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five."

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

Part Of Fire Prevention Week

Fire Equipment Display Planned

All kinds of fire equipment is going on display tomorrow when the Palatine Fire Department shows off its pumps, snorkel, emergency unit and ambulance to kick off Fire Prevention Week.

The demonstrations will be at the Palatine Plaza from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Fire Chief Orville Helms said men at the scene will be emphasizing home inspections for fire safety, and free helium balloons will be given to all children accompanied by an adult.

During the coming week, the Palatine department will be participating in fire drills among area elementary high schools.

Another aspect of fire prevention week is also starting Saturday, Operation Red Ball is sponsored by Palatine Jaycee and Jaycee Wives. Round red flour-cent stickers measuring 3½ inches will be given away during the week to Palatine residents.

WHEN APPLIED TO windows of children's rooms the red stickers act as signals to firemen marking where youngsters might be trapped. Jaycee Chairman Ray Wagner said one sticker should be applied for each child in the room. If an invalid lives in the home, a sticker should be applied to the front door, Wagner said.

The red ball stickers will be available free at the village hall and Palatine's two fire stations at Slade Street and Hale Street starting Monday. Residents attending tomorrow's display may also get stickers from firemen then.

Tomorrow's fire equipment demonstration is sponsored by Harry Benstein & Assoc.

Library To Present Election Year Films

Election year films will be featured at 8 p.m. tonight by the Palatine Public Library, 149 N. Brockway, when a special four-part series will be shown based on Theodore H. White's "The Making of the President, 1968."

The first part examines the Johnson administration and its Vietnam policy, plus early primaries of Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy and Richard Nixon.

The second section depicts the Kennedy-McCarthy-Humphrey struggle for the Democratic nomination and the assassinations of Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

The two concluding parts review the Miami Republican convention along with the violence and confrontations at the Democratic Chicago convention. Studies of the campaign strategies of Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace give an added depth to the series. Mrs. Donna Grove, administrative librarian, said of the films.

Disannex Case Nearing End

The final witness is expected to testify this morning in Cook County Circuit Court in the suit to disannex 40-acres of property from the Village of Inverness.

Circuit Court Judge Helen McGillicuddy is expected to reach a decision today whether to allow Robert Lonz to remove his property from the village. The village contends removal of the land would disrupt the plans and growth patterns within Inverness.

The hearing is set for 9 a.m. at the Civic Center in Chicago.

'Lost Generation' To Be Presented

"Lost Generation," the latest Billy Graham film, will be shown free of charge at the First Baptist Church, 1023 E. Palatine Rd., Sunday at 7 p.m.

The Graham documentary features Art Linkletter and Jack Webb. On-location filming was done in Alaska, in the southern states, on farms and in small towns in mid-America and in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco in an examination of "attitudes and morals of the nation."

A free will offering will be taken at the showing, which is open to the public.

Honor Students Attend Seminar

Honor students in humanities and social sciences from Palatine High School recently attended a special Saturday seminar at the University of Chicago.

The students visited several locations on the university's Midway campus, then heard Sola Mentschikoff, Professor of Law at the university, speak on "Methods of Dispute Settlement."

ECB Charges Animal Law Watered Down

Village Trustee Tom Ahern faced a frustrated Environmental Control Board (ECB) this week as he tried to explain why the village board meeting as a whole took the teeth out of a proposed cat and dog ordinance.

A final vote on the ordinance is scheduled for Tuesday, and until then, ECB members are determined to reach trustees and convince them of the program.

The informal board action added two amendments—to the original ordinance Monday night, that totally changed the concept of the ordinance, according to ECB members.

First, an amendment eliminates the provision that cats must either be on leash or on the owner's property. And fees for dogs and cats, spayed and unspayed, were equalized instead of the higher proposed fee for unspayed female animals.

"With that leash-law out on cats, you change the concept of the ordinance from controlling the owner to controlling the animal," Director Richard A. Dawson said during the Wednesday night meeting.

AHERN SUGGESTED that the stricter ordinance hadn't met its time yet, adding that the village board had higher priorities to meet before handling the tight animal control ordinance.

"Only those against any control spoke up," Ahern complained about the Monday meeting. He urged the ECB members to lobby for their ordinance, get community residents to notify their trustees, and to contact trustees themselves to present their arguments.

Two major ideals of the ordinance, to place responsibility for a pet's behavior on the owner and to control the cat population, are "headed for defeat" if the amendments aren't changed during Tuesday's meeting, Dawson said.

"As the board of trustees have proposed the ordinance, it will cost more money than the original one," Dawson said. Fees were leveled off at $5 for all pets in the Monday action. Higher fees and more stringent regulations would have made the original ordinance pay for itself, ECB members said.

Several members felt that the village board wasn't giving enough weight to statistics presented with the ordinance.

"I think we gathered an awful lot of data that was looked upon as irrelevant in Palatine," Dawson said.

LWV Move To Abolish Twp. Government In Court Today

Court action begins this morning at 9:30 when Palatine Township tries to block a League of Women Voters (LWV) attempt to abolish the township government.

The issue centers around a proposed referendum allowing residents to vote on the township Nov. 7.

Township attorney Roger Bjorvik said he filed a petition for Palatine officials to "quash the motion" of LWV members in court. Just a week ago, Palatine LWV members started the legal action to force township officials to place the referendum in the upcoming election.

At a meeting two weeks ago, Palatine officials refused to allow the referendum because there is no legal provision for another government to take over the township's functions.

LWV members claim that since they submitted the required number of signatures to get the referendum on the ballot, it must be allowed regardless of the legal argument.

A second "league" was formed Saturday after the LWV action. Township officials formed a Cook County Township League in an attempt to organize officials of Maine, Niles and Northfield townships to combat the LWV drive.

Earlier this week, Northfield auditors met and decided to put the referendum on the ballot. Niles and Maine officials are facing the same kind of court action as Palatine will be this morning.

Today's case will be heard by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Edward J. Egan, at the Civic Center in downtown Chicago.

Woman Found Dead By Spouse

Virginia Jefferson, a 25-year-old Palatine woman, died Wednesday in her home at 142 S. Hale St., Palatine.

Mrs. Jefferson's husband, Neil, discovered her body late Wednesday afternoon. She apparently had taken an overdose of drugs and was pronounced dead on arrival at Northwest Community Hospital, police said.

An inquest is scheduled for this morning at 10:30 at the Lauterberg-Oehler Funeral Home, Lee and Perry streets, Des Plaines.

Navy Lt. Norris Charles Came Home

'All Our Prayers Must Have Helped'

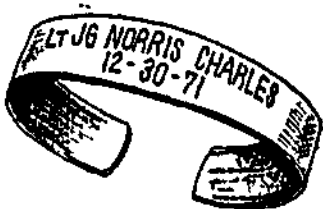

by DAVID MAJISMAN

"I think all our little prayers must have helped," says Marilyn Twarog, of Arlington Heights.

The man Mrs. Twarog and her family has been praying for is Navy Lt. (J.G.) Norris Charles, who until recently was one of more than 500 Americans known captured and held prisoner by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

And also until very recently Mrs. Twarog, of 916 W. Hinz Rd., has been wearing a POW bracelet with Charles' name and date of capture inscribed on it.

But now, Lt. Charles is home. Just last week he returned to the United States, having been set free to an anti-war group by his Communist captors. Two other POWs were released at the same time.

"We prayed for him. And we all wear bracelets to remind us of that," Mrs. Twarog said. Her whole family wears POW bracelets. Mrs. Twarog's husband, a lieutenant commander in the Navy Reserve, picked up the bracelets for his wife and three children.

Mrs. Twarog said she picked the bracelet with Charles' name because he has not been a captive as long as some of the other POWs. Charles was reported missing Dec. 30, 1971.

"I took one that hadn't been missing long, because otherwise I would feel bad," Mrs. Twarog said. The POW named on her husband's bracelet has been missing since 1965.

And now Mrs. Twarog doesn't have to wear Lt. Charles' bracelet any more. She took it off when he was released.

"I was very surprised and very happy," she said of Charles' release. "I just wish they all could be released."

Now Mrs. Twarog will wear a bracelet bearing the name of another POW. Her husband traded the bracelet with Charles' name in for one with the name of a POW that hasn't been so lucky.

Schaumburg Resident Can Get Flood Insurance Soon

Schaumburg residents should be eligible to purchase flood insurance within the month.

John Coste, Schaumburg village administrator said Thursday approval has been given to the village application for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program.

Coste was responding to the Schaumburg Township Library Board's statement Wednesday that they would petition the village to declare itself a flood prone area so the library could apply for flood insurance.

"It's already been taken care of," Coste said.

He explained the Village of Schaumburg, months before the library sustained flood damage from a creek back-up, had filed an application with the department of housing and urban development (HUD) and the Illinois Department of Local Governmental Affairs.

"NO ANNOUNCEMENT of the approval was made because it came just Wednesday and so far it has been verbal. No written confirmation has been received by the village," said Coste.

The village expects to receive written confirmation within 10 days, he said, adding, until that time he knows nothing more than that the petition has been approved.

He urged Schaumburg citizens to wait until the village makes formal announcement and has further information before calling the village for information.

Schaumburg homes suffered a minor amount of flood damage during last month's rains. The library suffered the largest loss with latest estimates placing damage at $11,633.

The library board members were not aware Schaumburg had made application and were concerned about the possibility of future flooding.

LIBRARY BOARD Atty. John Juergensmeyer has filed application with the office of emergency preparedness, (OEP) and the Illinois Civil Defense Agency; the agencies he says will pick up the bill for the library's flood damage.

Damage to the library was contained in the new wing. Although a ten-foot high water level was recorded inside the building it was empty of carpeting, furniture and books. The damage was to electrical, heating and air conditioning equipment.

Repairs are almost completed.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search.

OK Hotel-Office Plan At Rte. 53, Algonquin Road

The Rolling Meadows Plan Commission has given preliminary approval to the Kenroy Development Company's plan to build a hotel-office complex on Algonquin Road and Rte. 53.

The $20 million plan was approved in its original form, which calls for the construction of a 300-room hotel, and three multi-storied office buildings to be connected by a two-story rotunda.

At a special plan commission meeting two weeks ago, commission member Carl Couve had proposed changes in the original plans, including turning the hotel structure around to face Algonquin Road. Couve suggested the change to enhance the aesthetic view of the 20-acre complex as seen from Rolling Meadows.

But Allan Schnepfer, Kenroy coordinator for the project, said Couve's plans didn't suit the site.

"We were able to let the plan commission know what our needs are economically and aesthetically," Schnepfer said yesterday.

Schnepfer added final approval from the plan commission will not be issued for another 15 days. City council approval must then be given as well.

PLANS CALL FOR the complex to be built in three phases, with the bi-level hotel and one 10-story structure constructed first. The second 10-story building will be built in the second phase and the 20-story building will be constructed last.

Schnepfer said he hopes to begin groundbreaking on the complex in the spring.

He added that a decision as to whom will manage the hotel is still pending. Schnepfer said negotiations are going on with several hotel chains, but agreement with one "is very close."

He would not name the firm.

At one time, it was thought the Hilton chain would operate the hotel, but a disagreement occurred when it was recently announced Hilton would assume management of the Arlington Park Towers and O'Hare International hotels.

KENROY OFFICIALS said Hilton ownership of the two other hotels might present a conflict of interest with management of their hotel.

In one other action, the commission heard a preliminary presentation from the Astor Development Company on a proposal to build four four-story condominiums and a two-story recreation building at Rtes. 62 and 58.

Details of the plan are pending.

CONVENTION IN Cuba? Area police chiefs are planning to attend a convention in Utah soon to bone up on what's new in the field of law enforcement. The men in blue will travel by plane, but Rolling Meadows Chief Lewis Case preferred not to discuss the exact departure date and time because, as he put it, "we don't want to get hijacked."

ELECTION YEAR DECOR . . . City officials are a little concerned about a new law that apparently calls for municipalities to post lists of all registered voters in their boundaries. Keeping such a list up to date would be a burden, and posting it might lead to crowded bulletin boards. But if posting a list of Rolling Meadows' 8,000 registered voters seems bad, think of Chicago's problem. One local alderman quipped "they may have to wallpaper the city hall to fit all the names."

JUST CUTTING THE GRASS doesn't help much in old Cady Cemetery in northwest Palatine Township. The nearly-abandoned cemetery, owned by the township, is just off of Elm Road south of Dundee Road. A three-member cemetery board formed last spring is supposed to give the board of auditors recommendations for Cady and two other abandoned sites in the township. But nobody knows when that report will be ready.

Meanwhile, there's $2,000 in the township budget waiting to be used to carry out the recommendations. This is the shape the cemetery is in today, after a recent mowing. Township Supervisor Howard I. Olsen admits that with the numerous fallen and broken headstones in Cady, the tiny cemetery is almost impossible to keep up, but township officials are hoping the cemetery committee will come up with a workable solution.

LWV Twp. Issue In Court Today

Court action begins this morning at 9:30 when Palatine Township tries to block a League of Women Voters (LWV) attempt to abolish the township government.

The issue centers around a proposed referendum allowing residents to vote on the township Nov. 7.

Township attorney Roger Bjorkvik said he filed a petition for Palatine officials to "quash the motion" of LWV members in court. Just a week ago, Palatine LWV members started the legal action to force township officials to place the referendum in the upcoming election.

At a meeting two weeks ago, Palatine officials refused to allow the referendum because there is no legal provision for another government to take over the township's functions.

LWV members claim that since they submitted the required number of signatures to get the referendum on the ballot, it must be allowed regardless of the legal argument.

A second "league" was formed Saturday after the LWV action. Township officials formed a Cook County Township League in an attempt to organize officials of Maine, Niles and Northfield townships to combat the LWV drive.

Earlier this week, Northfield auditors met and decided to put the referendum on the ballot. Niles and Maine officials are facing the same kind of court action as Palatine will be this morning.

Today's case will be heard by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Edward J. Egan, at the Civic Center in downtown Chicago.

Beloit's Dean's List

Two area residents recently were named to the dean's scholarship list at Beloit College in Wisconsin.

Randall T. Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hicks, 182 N. Inverway Rd., Inverness, and Debora L. Threedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Threedy, 2277 N. Circle Dr., unincorporated Palatine Township, were honored.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy.

He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

The House rejected an effort to use highway trust fund money for urban mass transit and then passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill that critics said would slow removal of highway billboards.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connelly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 598th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

activities. Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five," before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

Case Will Attend Chief's Convention

Rolling Meadows Police Chief Lewis Case will attend a four-day convention next week sponsored by the Illinois Police Chiefs' Association.

The convention, in Salt Lake City, Utah, will feature displays explaining the latest equipment and techniques used in law enforcement.

Cost of the trip will be $294, including $134 plane fare, $25 a day lodging and meal allowance, a $20 general registration fee, and $10 each for registration in two special training schools.

Wins Grand Prize

Mrs. Lucille McDonald of Arlington Heights was the winner of a weekend for two at the Sheraton O'Hare Inn, as first prize during grand opening festivities at the Plum Grove Shopping Center in Rolling Meadows last week.

Equivalency Testing Applications Taken

Applications for High School equivalency tests will be accepted at Harper College Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the college counseling center.

Application is restricted to persons over 19 years old living in Cook County who have not received a high school diploma. Applicants must have lived in Illinois for at least one year.

Testing is scheduled for three sessions on Oct. 20, 21 and 27. A $5 fee covers all sessions.

500 Scouts Take Part In Camporee

More than 500 scouts and their leaders from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows will attend the annual three-day Fall Camporee, at the Lakota Scout Reservation near Woodstock this weekend.

The 20 troops, sponsored by the Sauk Woods District of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council, will participate in tests involving skills in hiking, camping, use of a compass and life saving.

It's Lions Candy Day

Palatine Lions will be soliciting today and Saturday for their annual Candy Day sales. Proceeds will go toward assisting the blind and visually handicapped.

'Lost Generation' To Be Presented

"Lost Generation," the latest Billy Graham film, will be shown free of charge at the First Baptist Church, 1023 E. Palatine Rd., Sunday at 7 p.m.

The Graham documentary features Art Linkletter and Jack Webb. On-location filming was done in Alaska, in the southern states, on farms and in small towns in mid-America and in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco in an examination of "attitudes and morals of the nation."

A free will offering will be taken at the showing, which is open to the public.

Alley Commercial Use Accord Near

A dispute involving the commercial use of an alley separating the Plum Grove Shopping Center and Plum Grove Village is near accord, Plum Grove Village Association director Harold Brissenden indicated yesterday.

Brissenden said a meeting between city officials, association members and representatives of the shopping center was held Sept. 28 to discuss the association's complaint that the shopping center is unlawfully using the alley as a loading berth.

At the meeting, Brissenden said the city "has agreed to a compromise settlement on the matter" by proposing to pay part of the cost for a steel guardrail along the alley.

"I think the city realizes that there is something to our argument," Brissenden said, but he added that both the city and the association must give the matter further consideration.

At a city council meeting Sept. 12,

Brissenden had charged the shopping center was violating city ordinances by using the alley for loading and unloading without having first erected a solid fence along the lane.

He also accused the shopping center of creating debris in the area and damaging residential property by allowing delivery trucks in the alley.

Jack Whistler, a spokesman for the shopping center, later said the center was built in accordance with city ordinances in effect at the time. He added he assumed a building permit would not have been issued if the center was not in compliance.

Kelly Urges Building Moratorium

Another local political candidate John Kelly, has called for a moratorium on building in the area until adequate flood-control can be established.

"The solution lies partially in local governments exercising self control in issuance of building permits, in not issuing more building permits until problems relating to flood control, roads, highways, sanitary and storm sewers systems and educational facilities are solved," said Kelly, Democratic candidate for state representative from the third district.

He joins State Rep. Gene Schlickman (R-3rd) and State Sen. John Graham (R-3rd) in calling for the building ban.

Kelly cited two main reasons in his call for the moratorium. He said immediate action is needed while land which may be necessary for flood control can be purchased.

He added that if local governmental units do not take immediate action they may face the possible intervention of state and federal officials in zoning matters.

Kelly said local governments are better suited to handle the problem, adding he is against state and federal intervention.

"I'm against the federal government dictating zoning laws," Kelly said. Studies of the problem are necessary, but construction must be halted now, because in five years it may be too late to correct the problems, he added.

Mount Prospect Police Vote On CCPA

An election will be held, probably in November, among Mount Prospect police patrolmen to decide whether they will be represented by the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA) in future negotiations with the village.

The election is now being arranged by Mount Prospect village officials with the help of the Illinois Department of Labor's conciliation and mediation service. Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said yesterday the actual secret ballot vote will take place in the next 30 to 60 days.

Village officials decided to arrange for the election in response to a request that they recognize the CCPA as the police-men's bargaining agent.

The CCPA acts as a bargaining agent for several area police departments already. These include Des Plaines, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling and the Cook County Sheriff's Police.

A MOUNT PROSPECT chapter was formed in May but has yet to be recognized by the village. According to Patrolman Warren Fischer, chapter president, 21 of the force's 36 patrolmen have signed up to be members. Only 19 favorable votes would be needed to approve the CCPA as the bargaining agent.

Fischer said yesterday his reaction to the setting up of the election was "favorable." He said he feels bargaining agents for policemen and other public employees have become the current trend.

On other occasions, Fischer has charged Mount Prospect Village Board members were "dragging their feet" on the matter of CCPA recognition. However, he said there was never any thought of a strike or traffic ticket campaign by the chapter members.

"I personally feel there is nothing to be gained by a strike or turning tickets on and off like a water faucet," Fischer said. He added it was not the way to gain public sympathy for their cause.

FOR SEVERAL years members of the police department have been attempting to get longevity pay increases from the village but every time their request has come up, it has been defeated. The closest they came was this year when the village board agreed to the concept of longevity payments for village employees but did not give out any.

The latest longevity proposal by the policemen was for raises of 2 per cent of salary at the end of the 5th, 10th, 15th and 25th year of service.

At the same time, though, Mount Prospect policemen are at or near the top in salaries for Chicago area suburban departments at all rank levels.

Eppley said a state mediator would be appointed for the election and the date set after written requests by both the village and the patrolmen have been submitted. Fischer's letter to the village trustees takes care of that requirement, Eppley said.

Purchase Of Pick-Up Truck Approved At Special Meeting

A special meeting of the Rolling Meadows city council Tuesday approved the expenditure of $2,890 for the purchase of a Glimore International pick-up truck.

At the same time, the council appropriated an additional $900 to cover costs of converting the truck and another public works vehicle to propane fuel. The action was taken as part of the city's program to convert all city vehicles to the more economical and less polluting propane system.

The council also authorized the purchase of a security chain link fence from the Ace Fence Company of Chicago for the top of the existing supply room at the public works building. The council approved $1,245 for the purchase.

The appropriations were made following a two-hour closed session in which the council discussed annexation, zoning, and personnel matters.

The council's regular meeting will be held Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the city hall.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near

Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

BUFFALO GROVE — Police, fire, civil defense units and citizens began to comb 10 areas within the village last evening. Police said the Long Grove Fire Department would help search the Lake County section of the village. Police planned to continue the search between 9 and 10 a.m. today.

The Buffalo Grove Building Department will also begin searching all vacant buildings in the village this morning.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Police searched sections of the Ned Brown Forest Preserve with the assistance of Explorer Scouts and Civil Defense workers. Abandoned buildings were also searched.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Police Chief Lewis Case said Thursday he has alerted all public works and postal employees to report any information they might come across that could provide a lead in the apparent kidnaping.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search.

Village Police Will Vote On CCPA Next Month

An election will be held, probably in November, among Mount Prospect police patrolmen to decide whether they will be represented by the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA) in future negotiations with the village.

The election is now being arranged by Mount Prospect village officials with the help of the Illinois Department of Labor's conciliation and mediation service. Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said yesterday the actual secret ballot vote will take place in the next 30 to 60 days.

Village officials decided to arrange for the election in response to a request that they recognize the CCPA as the policemen's bargaining agent.

The CCPA acts as a bargaining agent for several area police departments already. These include Des Plaines, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling and the Cook County Sheriff's Police.

A MOUNT PROSPECT chapter was formed in May but has yet to be recognized by the village. According to Patrolman Warren Fischer, chapter president, 21 of the force's 38 patrolmen have signed up to be members. Only 19 favorable votes would be needed to approve the CCPA as the bargaining agent.

Fischer said yesterday his reaction to the setting up of the election was "favorable." He said he feels bargaining agents for policemen and other public employees have become the current trend.

On other occasions, Fischer has charged Mount Prospect Village Board members were "dragging their feet" on the matter of CCPA recognition. However, he said there was never any thought of a strike or traffic ticket campaign by the chapter members.

"I personally feel there is nothing to be gained by a strike or turning tickets on and off like a water faucet," Fischer said. He added it was not the way to gain public sympathy for their cause.

FOR SEVERAL years members of the police department have been attempting to get longevity pay increases from the village but every time their request has come up, it has been defeated. The closest they came was this year when the village board agreed to the concept of longevity payments for village employees but did not give out any.

The latest longevity proposal by the policemen was for raises of 2 per cent of salary at the end of the 5th, 10th, 15th and 25th year of service.

At the same time, though, Mount Prospect policemen are at or near the top in salaries for Chicago area suburban departments at all rank levels.

Eppley said a state mediator would be appointed for the election and the date set after written requests by both the village and the patrolmen have been submitted. Fischer's letter to the village trustees takes care of that requirement, Eppley said.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday on River Road near Miner Street in an unsuccessful attempt to find a Hillside police officer abducted Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

Fear MSD Sewer Without OTSD's OK

Richard Schulz, superintendent of the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District (OTSD), told the Metropolitan Sanitary District Board of Trustees (MSD) yesterday that he feared the MSD would allow interceptor sewer connections without OTSD approval.

Schulz spoke in response to a proposed amendment to an ordinance which the MSD board is scheduled to adopt at its next meeting.

Fifteen other communities, including the city of Des Plaines, have submitted written comments on the proposed amendment to the MSD. Sanitary District Trustee E. George Thiem said yesterday he would have copies of the letters distributed to MSD trustees and staff members for consideration of changes in the proposed amendment before it is adopted.

SCHULZ SPOKE in connection with one portion of the amendment which would allow the MSD to issue sewer connection permits directly to a private individual or company in an unincorporated area.

Under existing MSD ordinances only a municipal government or a sanitary district is eligible to receive MSD permits because it can be held responsible for maintenance of the sewer system.

MSD officials assured Schulz that the intent of the amendment was only to provide some sewer facilities for individuals or commercial and industrial development which are not inside the jurisdiction of any municipality or any local sanitary district. They assured Schulz the amendment would be reworded to apply to unincorporated areas outside the boundaries of local sanitary districts only.

Schulz explained to the trustees he feared a developer who received a permit directly from the MSD under the original wording of the amendment would be able to ignore OTSD ordinances.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy.

He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

The House rejected an effort to use highway trust fund money for urban mass transit and then passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill that critics said would slow removal of highway billboards.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $3 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connelly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 59th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B22s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Being statuesque can open some interesting doors for a girl. One tall beauty, who is a former Mount Prospect resident, was recently named first runner up to Miss Tall Florida. She is Jeanne Pollard, the 5 foot 10 inch daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollard.

Apparently Jeanne takes after her 6 foot 6 inch dad, a former pro star with the Minneapolis Lakers. Now he is athletic director and basketball coach at Fort Lauderdale University in Florida.

Jeanne recently was graduated from Florida university where she majored in education and maintained a four-point average. For six months she also took part in the university's overseas study program in Florence, Italy.

A cruise to Nassau, a wig, cosmetics, and clothes were among the gifts Jeanne received from the Miami Skyliners Club, sponsor of the Miss Tall Florida competition.

LESS CHEERFUL news come from the Joseph O'Brien family at 923 S. Sec-Gwin Ave. Their son, Jim, has been hospitalized for several weeks with a serious leg infection. Although he is doing pretty well according to one family member, he will probably be in the hospital for some time.

Days get pretty long for Jim, who planned to enter Forest View High School as a freshman this fall. Receiving cards, letters, or visits from his many friends in school, Little League, and midget football would help cheer him up.

Jim's address is Sherman Hospital, 934 Center St., Elgin, Ill.

Jim also needs donations of blood. Any one who wants to donate blood in his name can do so at any local blood donation facility. Donors should tell the staff they are donating blood for Jim O'Brien in Sherman Hospital.

CHORAL DIRECTION and music education are the fields Janis Jones plans to study in college next fall. This year the Prospect High School senior is getting some preliminary practice in her chosen field.

Janis has been named director of the two children's choirs at South Church-Community Baptist. Each week she will work with third through fifth grade children in the Carol Choir and sixth through eighth graders in the Choristers.

This young musician has been studying voice, piano, and organ. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Jones of 502 S. Owen St.

A GIGANTIC red-nosed creature has come to Westbrook School to oversee activities there.

It's huge totem pole, which has been erected in the school's nature center. Under the supervision of Bernice Kleinhaus, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grade children carved this colorful creature from an old telephone pole, then decorated it with bright paint.

"It's as tall as the first floor of the building," reported Phebe Hager, Westbrook's resource teacher, who thought up the whole idea. She also contacted Western Electric Co. about donating and delivering the pole.

"When it was ready to be erected, the company even came and helped with that," she added.

Westbrook's nature center is an oasis of trees and flowers in the building's courtyard. Children helped plan and set up the nature center. Another recent project was the planting of an evergreen purchased with money contributed by the children.

AIRMAN TIMOTHY Sisson has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi following his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. He will receive specialized training as a Morse code systems operator at the base's technical training center.

Airman Sisson is a 1972 graduate of Hersey High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murven Sisson of 1300 Burning Bush Ln.

BOB HORSCH, a member of the construction crew was caught by the photographer as he put one of the finishing touches on the cafeteria at the River Trails Junior High School, 1000 Wolf Rd. The cafeteria has been open for business for almost two weeks now.

Water Drainage Solution Could Cost $144,000

Solutions to a water drainage problem over which Prospect Heights Dist. 23 is being sued could cost between $15,000 and $144,000, according to an engineer's report released Wednesday.

The engineer, with the firm of Ciorba, Spies and Gustafson, was hired by Dist. 23 officials after owners of the Pleasant Run condominium development in Wheeling filed a suit against the district. Pleasant Run owners are charging that the district is preventing the natural flow of rain water from the development onto the John Muir School site, at Oak Street and Drake Terrace in Prospect Heights.

The report will be presented at a hearing at 10 a.m. today in Cook County Circuit Court.

"We'll present the report to the court, but the district is not in any financial position to pay this kind of money," said Henry Valley, Dist. 23 attorney. "With the judge's help, we'll just have to work out a solution."

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS listed in the report are:

—Use of existing drain tile and construction of a 6-foot detention basin. Cost estimated at $30,000;

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road to serve the Muir site, the Pleasant Run site and the Country Gardens subdivision which drains onto the Pleasant Run site. Cost estimated at $68,000.

—Construction of a 42-inch storm sewer to Echo retention pond in Wheeling. Cost estimated at $114,000;

—Construction of a 15-inch storm sewer to Hintz Road plus a detention basin. Cost estimated at $30,000.

—Installation of a storm water pump on the northeast corner of the Muir site taking water to Hintz Road. Cost estimated at $15,000 plus $500 annually for maintenance.

THE LAWSUIT follows more than a year of unsuccessful negotiations between Dist. 23 and Pleasant Run owners. Representatives of John Glorioso and Associates, developer of the complex, have asked the district for assessments to build a storm sewer and detention basin on the Muir property.

Wheeling officials in February approved the development, which included plans for a storm sewer and basin on the Muir site. "We assumed the school district would grant the necessary easements," said George Passolt, Wheeling village manager.

School officials have refused the basin because they believe it would create hazard for school children.

While Dist. 23 officials knew a drainage problem existed when the Muir site was purchased, the problem was not as bad then, "The problem gets worse and worse as the area develops," said Supt. Edward Grodsky. "As more housing is built, the problem is still going to be there."

School officials are worried that 11 acres next to the Pleasant Run site will be developed, causing further flood problems.

Fire Prevention Week Begins

October 8-14 is Fire Prevention Week in Mount Prospect, but the observance has started this week with tours of the fire stations by nursery school and kindergarten groups. These tours will also be conducted the week starting Oct. 15.

Other school activities will include a fire drill at each school next week. After each fire drill, students will be allowed to look over the fire equipment and will receive fire prevention literature to take home.

For the general public, there will be three open houses next week at the department's three fire stations. The times are from noon to 9 p.m. Sunday, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 13 and from noon to 9 p.m. Oct. 14. The three stations are located at 112 E. Northwest Hwy., 1601 W. Gold Rd., and 2000 E. Kensington Rd.

Bulletin boards, theater marquees and film shorts in theaters will stress fire prevention safety in the home this year, according to firefighter Lowell Fell, who handles publicity for the fire department.

The annual poster contest for school children and the window painting contest for junior high school students will also be held.

Urges All To Complete Flood Survey

All Mount Prospect residents, whether or not they suffered flood damage this summer, were urged Tuesday by Mayor Robert D. Teichert to fill out the village flooding surveys mailed out this week.

More than 13,000 surveys were mailed out as village officials attempt to get a complete picture of the community's flooding problems. The survey is the first stage of a three-stage "crash" program to prevent future flooding. The program was adopted recently by the village board.

The next two stages call for an engineering study of possible retention basins and other means of excess water control, and for the implementation of the resulting plan.

In related news, Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said that the temporary dike built on St. Cecilia Catholic Church property south of Lawrence Lane has proven to be effective during the last storm. He said that the residents of Lawrence Lane have written a letter of appreciation which also states the dike held back enough water to prevent serious flooding in their homes.

Eppley also said Tuesday that the village's application to the federal government for participation in the flood insurance program has been completed and he hopes to receive an answer within 10 days. Under the program flood insurance is made available for purchase to homeowners in a community, but first certain criteria must be met by the village. Meeting those criteria was the subject of the application Eppley has filed.

activities.

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

School Facilities, Phase II Completed

The Prospect Heights Park District has completed the second phase of its three-part agreement with School Dist. 23 on use of school facilities for park programs.

Park district employees Monday finished grading and seeding a play area at Eisenhower School, at Camp McDonald and Schoenbeck roads in Prospect Heights. The park district agreed to maintain the play area in an agreement with Dist. 23, reached after seven months of negotiations.

The park district has already repaired the gravel path from Elm Street to Eisenhower, the first phase of the agreement. All that remains, according to Ron Greenberg, park director, is maintenance of a ball field at John Muir School.

Greenberg said the school district has asked park officials to wait until spring before they begin work on the ball field.

In return for the park district's work, the school district has agreed to give the park district free use of school facilities on "an availability basis" to Sept. 1, 1973. A waiver of fees that the school district had charged the park district for use of facilities between July 15 and Sept. 1 is also included in the agreement.

GRADING OF the play area at Eisenhower brings the school building and site one step closer to completion. James Hendren, Dist. 23 business manager, said last week he expects the school to be fully completed by the end of October. Construction on the building began, nearly four years ago.

Installation of air-conditioning in the building began last Saturday. Lack of air-conditioning at the school has caused a controversy among parents of children at the school, which opened in September, 1968. Parents for several years complained about the summer heat in the building, designed for air-conditioning.

Hendren said the air-conditioning was not installed during construction because the Illinois School Building Commission (ISBC), which built the school, reduced its budget and eliminated the air-conditioning.

Dist. 23 then included a request for money for the air-conditioning, which cost about $47,520, in a nearly $1.2 million bond referendum passed by voters in 1970. This year was the earliest time the project could be done, Hendren said.

Summer School Has $2,000 Deficit, Percy Reveals

A $2,000 deficit was incurred by the Mount Prospect Dist. 57 summer school program this year, according to Supt. Richard Percy.

Percy told the school board this week that earlier predictions indicated the deficit would amount to only $800. Higher than expected salary costs raised that figure, however.

A total of 1,058 students attended the summer program this year. In a questionnaire filled out by each of the students, 67 per cent indicated they wanted to attend summer school, 23 per cent said they didn't want to. Yet, 71 per cent of the students said they enjoyed the program. In answer to the question, "Do you want to attend summer school next year?" 23 per cent said yes, 37 per cent said no and 40 per cent were undecided.

In his report to the board on the summer school program, Harry Trumfio, summer school director, made several recommendations. He asked that the summer program continue to operate under state aid financing and also that the board subsidize the difference between the expenditures and the income from state aid and fees. State aid provided the major source of income this year while a student fee of $5 was charged for students in grades one through eight.

Trumfio also asked that the fee for the prekindergarten class be raised from $25 to $30 if the length of the session remains the same. The district receives no state aid for the prekindergarten program.

$700 In Paintings Stolen At Home

Five paintings, valued at $700, were stolen Wednesday from the home of Roger O. Reindl, 100 S. Albert St., Mount Prospect.

Police said that entry was apparently made through the kitchen windows and the paintings then removed from the walls in the living room and downstairs room. The Reindls had gone out for dinner between 4 and 10 p.m. that day.

General Caucus Sets First Parley Tuesday

The general caucus of Mount Prospect School Dist. 57 will hold its first meeting of the year at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Lincoln Junior High School, 700 W. Lincoln St.

Speakers will be Richard Percy, superintendent of Dist. 57, and Robert Novy, president of the Dist. 57 board. The two will discuss the duties and responsibilities of school board members and the relationship of the school board and the district administration.

The purpose of the caucus is to obtain qualified residents as candidates to the school board. There will be three vacancies on the board this spring.

Toastmaster Slate Membership Drive

A membership drive and open house will be held by the Randhurst Toastmasters Club at 7:30 p.m. Monday at St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect.

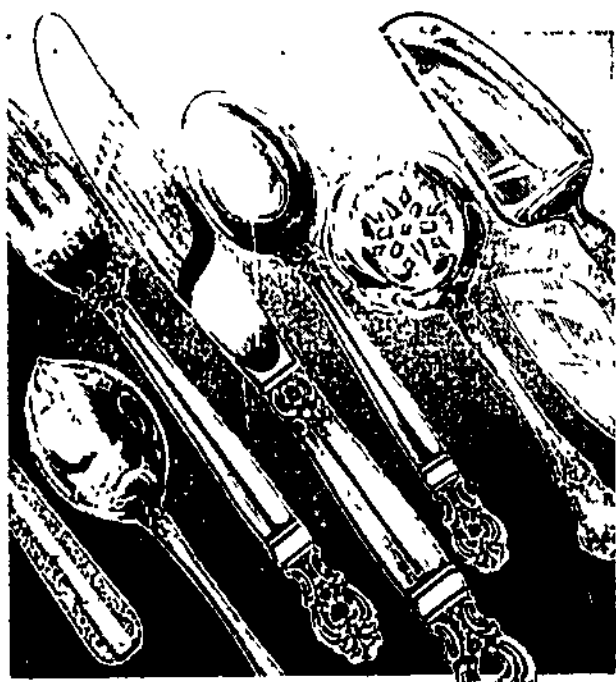

The club is open to all area men and women. Purpose of the club is to develop and improve member's communications skills. The club meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month at St. Mark church.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with license plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the rules played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would hand-cut him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph

Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search

ATA Unit: School Punishment Must Be More Specific

by CINDY TEW

The discipline policy in Arlington Heights School Dist. 25 should be more specific, especially in the area of corporal punishment, according to the executive board of the Arlington Teachers Association (ATA).

The discipline policy of the district is now under study by the administration and will be discussed at the Oct. 26 board of education meeting. At the present time the district policy on corporal punishment as stated in the teachers' manual is:

"Corporal punishment, while it is not forbidden by law, often leads to strained relations and bad feelings on the part of parents. It should be used, if at all, judiciously and as a last resort.

"In most cases, if corporal punishment is to be resorted to, the teacher should have given it some thought in advance. In that case, the teacher should discuss the matter with the principal before such action is taken."

The board recently fired a language arts teacher at Miner Junior High School, John D. Fender, for "cruelty and violence in relations with his students," which included hitting several students.

"We need advice on how to handle discipline problems. How does the administration define corporal punishment?" said James Modoc, acting president of the ATA. Fender is the current president of the association.

In a memo to teachers in early September, the ATA recommended a procedure to be followed with discipline problems:

"If there is a discipline problem, bring it to the principal's attention. If the problem is not solved, a grievance should be filed against the principal," according to the ATA board of directors. So far, no such grievances have been filed.

The ATA is recognized as the negotiating agent for the teachers and claims a membership of over 80 per cent of the teachers in Dist. 25.

"The ATA would also suggest that parents become more involved with the discipline problems in the schools," said Modoc. "Parents should be called right away if their child is involved in a discipline problem — if a mother misses a bridge club or a father misses part of a day's work, you can bet there will be a change in the behavior of the student."

According to the ATA board, discipline should be started at home, and carried through at home.

"Parents are the pattern of their children's behavior," Modoc said.

Members of the ATA board said there were about 10 per cent of the student body who were at some time considered a discipline problem.

"I'm a teacher, not a warden," said Jim Hamick, welfare chairman of the ATA. "With over 30 kids in the class it's impossible to pick one or two out for special help."

The ATA suggests that the administration hire back some counselors for

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday on River Road near Miner Street in an unsuccessful attempt to find a Hillside police officer abducted

Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive search for the officer that involved nearly every police department in the Northwest.

'I Guess All Of Our Little Prayers Helped'

by DAVID MAHSMAN

"I think all our little prayers must have helped," says Marilyn Twarog, of Arlington Heights.

The man Mrs. Twarog and her family has been praying for is Navy Lt. (J.G.) Norris Charles, who until recently was one of more than 500 Americans known captured and held prisoner by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

And also until very recently Mrs. Twarog, of 916 W. Hintz Rd., has been wearing a POW bracelet with Charles' name and date of capture inscribed on it.

But now, Lt. Charles is home. Just last week he returned to the United States, having been set free to an anti-war group by his Communist captors. Two other POWs were released at the same time.

"We prayed for him. And we all wear bracelets to remind us of that," Mrs. Twarog said. Her whole family wears POW bracelets. Mrs. Twarog's husband, a lieutenant commander in the Navy Reserve, picked up the bracelets for his wife and three children.

Mrs. Twarog said she picked the bracelet with Charles' name because he has not been a captive as long as some of the other POWs. Charles was reported missing Dec. 30, 1971.

"I took one that hadn't been missing long, because otherwise I would feel bad," Mrs. Twarog said. The POW named on her husband's bracelet has been missing since 1965.

And now Mrs. Twarog doesn't have to wear Lt. Charles' bracelet any more. She took it off when he was released.

"I was very surprised and very happy," she said of Charles' release. "I just wish they all could be released."

Now Mrs. Twarog will wear a bracelet bearing the name of another POW. Her husband traded the bracelet with Charles' name in for one with the name of a POW that hasn't been so lucky.

The mayor's round table will meet with the Northgate civic association at 8 p.m. at Riley School, 1209 Burr Oak Drive.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1968, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe, by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy.

He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

The House rejected an effort to use highway trust fund money for urban mass transit and then passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill that critics said would slow removal of highway billboards.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connolly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 888th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B22s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 of 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

New Chairman To Be Named Oct. 16

Village Youth Council Still Without Chairman

The Youth Council of Arlington Heights, which has not had a meeting since April, is temporarily without a chairman after the resignation of Jack Martin.

A new chairman of the 14-member council will be named at the Oct. 16 board of trustees meeting, according to John G. Woods, village president.

"I have to finish my doctoral thesis by spring. My job, my family and my education are too time-consuming to devote any time to the council right now," said Martin. "I will be willing to get involved again next spring."

Martin, assistant principal at Forest View High School in Arlington Heights, had been the council head for a year. During his term, Martin has seen three basic accomplishments of the council.

"THE COMMUNITY Action program (CAP) was merged with the Youth Council during the past year, out of which grew programs including the Turning Point hot line and a police-youth counciling program," Martin said.

Martin was formerly CAP chairman. The concept of that program is to motivate residents of the community to study the problems which lead to drug abuse and other human problems and initiate programs to solve them.

Martin also said the Youth Council has changed its make up in the last year to include more youth.

"Also, this spring, before the council fell apart, we were studying youth programs in the village in an attempt to identify voids in the programming," said Martin. He said the youth program study should be continued.

The Youth Council has come under sharp criticism during the past several years for its lapses into inactivity and its lack of accomplishments.

During the past five years, the council has been dormant for a year from fall, 1967 to fall, 1968. There also was no activity for eight months from January to September, 1971 and most recently for six months from April until now.

Several dialogues between council members and the village board have also been held in an attempt to determine if the council is worthwhile. In 1970, the village board determined that the council should be an investigative body after a few months of study.

AT A MEETING of the council a year ago Martin said the council needed some authority and direction. Council members agreed at that time that they were a sounding board and an advisory body with no one sounding off and no one to advise.

"I think the Youth Council can be helpful to the village in areas of coordination, liaison and communication," Woods said. "The council could also define what activities youth want, identify problems of youth and proposed solutions."

Martin said the entire burden of the council's effectiveness falls on the shoulders of the chairman as the system now stands, he said an administrative department to handle some of the work involved with the council would be helpful.

"I appreciate the willingness of the village to stretch its role into the area of youth and human relations, but an administrative department is needed to coordinate and evaluate youth programs and delve into the whole area of human aspects of suburban life," Martin said.

Woods said an administrative aid to the council may be a good idea.

Potboilers

HALF WAY HOME. The Arlington Heights Village Board, or at least three of its seven members, were sitting around Monday night waiting for a quorum so they could start their committee of the whole meeting. As a half hour went by and a majority-making trustee still hadn't arrived, Trustee Ted Salinsky came up with a proverbial better idea — "Let's just call it a committee of the half," he said.

A NON-CONFORMING USE? The plan commission got around to discussing various village-owned properties which have never been rezoned to the public land use category. Included on the list were well and pump stations, fire stations and even village hall itself. Seems the property at 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. is still zoned B-2, General Business District. At the very least a special use permit ought to be required to "own and operate a government on the premises."

LUCKY 13 — Maybe it was just a misprint, but John D. Fender thought it was lucky when the Herald printed "10 Women and 3 (instead of 2) Men Picked for Fender Jury," in a headline last week. "Is it good luck to have one extra?" he asked rhetorically. Must have been. He was acquitted of battery charges two days later.

THE PERFECT LENGTH? — Members of the Cultural Commission were trying to determine how much room was in a cultural center, recently proposed by a theater consultant. There was a scale on the plan but no one had a ruler. "That's easy to remedy," said Hank Degroh, president of Village Theater, Inc. as he pulled out a dollar bill. "Here, use this, it's exactly six inches long."

JUDICIAL JOSHIN: U.S. District Court Judge William Lynch had a little fun Wednesday when he found out that Jack Siegel was going to represent Arlington Heights in the Viatorian housing case. Even though Siegel wasn't in the judge's courtroom, Lynch reacted theatrically when he got the news. "You mean the great Mr. Siegel, municipal expert, is on this case. I'm impressed," the judge chuckled. In the next breath, Judge Lynch confessed that he has known the village attorney for years.

Search Northwest Suburbs For Cop Feared Kidnaped

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

Plan Commission Views Condominium Project

Parking and building code variations. confronted the plan commission during its first formal look at a 99-unit condominium project proposed for a triangular lot west of the railroad tracks and just north of the Jewel store in downtown Arlington Heights.

The Carroll Land Development Co. is proposing to build the three-story condominium project but is seeking a reduction in the required number of parking spaces, use of one outside exit and entrance per unit instead of two and permission to build part of each unit below grade.

The lot, bounded by Miner Street, Somerset Lane and the Chicago and North Western Ry., has been spoken of in the past as possible location for low and moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights.

The developer told the plan commission Wednesday night he hoped the price of the proposed one and two-bedroom condominiums would average around $30,000.

STORM WATER retention for the development was another unresolved problem at the hearing. The developer has proposed building a retention basin at the southeast corner of the property and using the parking lots to hold water.

The plan commission, however, objected to the parking lot proposal after they were told that as much as 23 inches of water would be stored there during heavy rains.

A deeper basin and rooftop retention were suggested as alternatives.

George Schipporeit, architect for the project, told the commission he wanted to be able to build a term one-half story high along one side of the project so residents would enter the condominium one-half story above grade.

Village building codes, however, prohibit the construction of below grade dwelling units.

The developer proposed building 1.33 parking spaces per unit. The village code requires a minimum of 1.5 spaces per unit.

At a ratio of 1.33 spaces per unit, the total number of parking stalls would be 132, the developer said. Although the number is below the village code minimum, he said the project's downtown location and proximity to the train station would reduce the number of cars parked at the project.

Several plan commissioners "praised the design concept of the condominium project, a single irregularly shaped building built around a series of interior courtyards."

The project plans were referred to the commission's plat and subdivision committee which will work on the various problems and return it to the commission for a continued hearing Nov. 29.

chies who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five..." before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department.

The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

500 Scouts Take Part In Camporee

More than 500 scouts and their leaders from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows will attend the annual three-day Fall Camporee, at the Lakota Scout Reservation near Woodstock this weekend.

The 20 troops, sponsored by the Sauk Woods District of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council, will participate in tests involving skills in hiking, camping, use of a compass and life saving.

$600, Diamond Ring Stolen By Burglar

Some $600 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $200 were reported stolen Wednesday night from the home of James R. Pallitucci, 1110 W. Haven St., Arlington Heights.

Pallitucci told police that his home was burglarized sometime between 7 and 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said entry was apparently gained through the rear door of the house. Pry marks were found on the storm door, and the burglar had apparently broken a window in the inside door with a brick. Police said the offender had put a door mat over the broken glass so he could enter the house without injury.

The only room burglarized was the master bedroom on the second floor of the house, police said. The room had been completely ransacked. Exit was made through a window in the bedroom. Police said the intruder was apparently not hurt in the jump from the second floor window.

chronic discipline problems who were let go when a referendum failed two years ago and the budget was cut. At the present time, there are three psychologists in the district and a multitude of learning specialists. There are no employees listed as "social workers," however.

The ATA also has "a tremendous interest in John Fender's being restored to a teaching position," according to the board of directors. So far the ATA Welfare Fund has helped Fender with over $2,000, mostly for legal fees. A drive is now on to replenish the fund.

The regional office of the Illinois Education Association (IEA), has helped Fender with about $1,500 worth of legal fees. The National Education Association (NEA) has helped Fender by lending research assistants to his lawyers.

Dollar Bill Changer Suspect Is Charged

Police have arrested and charged a security guard in connection with the theft Monday night of a dollar bill changer from Honeywell, Inc., 1500 W. Dundee Rd., Arlington Heights.

Harold Wright, 26, of Chicago, was arrested Wednesday and is being held in Arlington Heights Jail on $3,000 bond. Wright is a security guard employed by A-1 Security Service of Chicago and was on duty at Honeywell when the money changer was taken. He did not report to work the next day.

The change machine, valued at $800, was found an hour after it was stolen on Long Grove Road near Hicks Road in Palatine Township. The machine was found by Cook County Sheriff's Police. Unsuccessful attempts had been made to open the machine, and the $280 inside was still intact.

Station 'Shells' Out Currency And Checks

While the manager pumped gas and an attendant worked in the front office, someone entered the rear office of Arlington Park Shell service station, at the corner of Euclid and Wilke, Tuesday morning and made off with $1,353.16 in currency and checks.

Dan Pieri, manager of the station, told police that a bank pouch containing the money was noticed to be missing at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday from the rear office of the building. He said the money was last seen at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Pieri said the door to the rear office was open, and the office could be seen from the garage area of the building. No one was seen near the building Tuesday morning, but both manager and attendant said they were preoccupied with work to have noticed.

Village Seeks Bids For New Pumper Truck

The Village of Arlington Heights has begun advertising for bids on a new pumper truck for the fire department to replace a pumper that has been in use since 1948.

Fire Chief Harvey Caruthers estimates the new truck will cost some $60,000. He said it will have a pumping capacity of 1,250 gallons per minute (gpm) as opposed to only 750 gpm that the old truck can handle.

The purchase of the new pumper is part of a program to get modern equipment for the fire department and at the same time build up the reserve force. When the new pumper is purchased, the old truck will be put on reserve status.

"In a few years, we'll try for another new truck. Then we will be in pretty fair shape," Caruthers said. He said the department will have two reserve pumpers with acquisition of the new vehicle.

Rezoning Hearing Set On Station, Car Wash

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will hear testimony this afternoon on a request to rezone 1.12 acres at the southwest corner of Rand and Palatine roads for a gas station and car wash.

The corner, now part of a large undeveloped tract of land in unincorporated Cook County is potentially one of the prime commercial locations in Arlington Heights, according to Village Planner Joe Kesler.

The village of Arlington Heights is expected to be represented at the rezoning hearing to object to the proposed use.

The hearing is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the Wheeling Village Hall, 231 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Scouts Win Awards

Awards earned during summer camp were recently presented to members of scout troop 159, sponsored by St. Simons Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights.

Besides 12 promotions, 41 merit badges were presented to members of the troop along with 12-mile swim awards.

Promoted to life scout were Jon Gangelhoft and Bill Mitchell. Promoted to first class scout were Tim Drazba and Bill Prince.

New second class scouts include Bill Burch, Chris Carlson, Bill Flore, Tim Jacobson, Tim Klein, Ken Kuslak, Dan Mrozek and Ralph von Frantzius. Scout life guard awards were presented to John Amato, Brad Miller and Don Trimble.

4 On Dean's List

Four Arlington Heights students at the University of Dayton were named to the dean's list for the second term of the 1971-72 academic year. Cited were Susan M. Henn, 115 S. Harvard Ave.; Cynthia and Jacqueline Prasnikar, 10 S. Salem Ave.; and Greg M. Moore, 602 S. Yale.

The district is cleaning odds and ends out of the warehouse to make more storage room. According to officials, most articles will go to the person who makes the best offer — anything better than the junk offer.

The 700 desks for sale include about 500 combination desks and chairs for $1 each and about 200 two-piece student desks and chairs at $2 each.

Also to be included in the sale are two combination vacuum cleaner-scrubbers, two cafeteria sinks, two automatic potato peelers, a bookkeeping machine, two typewriters, and miscellaneous 250-watt the best offer, the large cafeteria sink ceiling fixtures.

While most of the items are going for will be sold for the best offer over $250 and the smaller sink will be sold for the best offer over $100. The bookkeeping machine will have a price tag of about $300.

Search Northwest Suburbs For 'Kidnaped' Policeman

A massive search involving nearly every police department in the Northwest suburbs was under way Thursday in an effort to find a Hillside police officer who supposedly was kidnaped Sunday.

The search was apparently started when Hillside police talked to an unidentified mystic who reported "seeing" patrolman Anthony Raymond, 24, tied up in a farmhouse on property with a barn on U.S. Rte. 14 (Northwest Hwy.) north of Des Plaines. The mystic reportedly told Hillside police that she saw a shiny gold car with horizontal taillights parked under brush at the southwest corner of the barn. The car had license plates beginning with an LL 5 prefix, the same prefix Raymond had reported over his radio Sunday before being cut off by another police department using the same frequency.

Des Plaines police checked out the owner of a green station wagon with Illinois plates bearing the number given by the mystic. The man was cleared by police and FBI agents working on the case.

But the search continued for any barn or abandoned building in the suburbs that could hide either the policeman or his abductors. A nationwide bulletin has been sent out alerting police departments to search any such building in their jurisdiction.

Here are the roles played by Northwest suburban police departments in the search for Raymond:

DES PLAINES — Police got a call at 8 a.m. Thursday from the Hillside Police Department asking them to search for a barn six miles north of Rte. 14. A barn known as Rand Mill on River Road near Miner Street was searched with no success. Police said this is the only barn known to them in their jurisdiction.

A helicopter also searched forest preserve lands bordering Des Plaines on the east Wednesday and Thursday. The crew was apparently looking for Raymond, who some authorities believe may have been tied or handcuffed to a tree in some wooded area of the Northwest suburbs.

WHEELING — Several Wheeling police, fire and civil defense men joined three Cook County forest rangers in a search covering forest preserves east of the village Thursday morning.

The 19 searchers split into two groups and combed the wooded area from Deerfield Road on the north and Foundry Road on the south. The groups walked toward each other and overlapped near Pal-Waukee Airport. The search lasted a little more than three hours.

Wheeling police Lt. Thomas Conte said the Wheeling departments thought that since the forest preserves in that village are close to the Illinois Tollway the policeman might have been left there.

The Wheeling searchers did not enter deeply into the woods because they believe the kidnapers would be in a hurry to get rid of Raymond and would handcuff him close to the roadway rather than walk several blocks into the forest.

The Wheeling Police Department said it will continue to search all areas where the missing policeman may be hidden until he is found.

MT. PROSPECT — Police Sgt. Ralph

Doney reported that his department has checked several Mount Prospect residents who have cars bearing license plates with the LL 5 prefix. He added that old barns and abandoned buildings in the area have also been checked with no success.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police and FBI agents began a search of barns at Arlington Park Race Track Thursday noon. Several squad cars of officers and cadets assisted in the search led by several FBI agents.

Palatine, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg police report that they have also joined the search in a response to a general leads message sent over the wire. There has been no special contact in these villages from the FBI or other agents involved in the widespread search

Abolishment Of Twp. Government Issue In Court

Court action begins this morning at 9:30 when Palatine Township tries to block a League of Women Voters (LWV) attempt to abolish the township government.

The issue centers around a proposed referendum allowing residents to vote on the township Nov. 7.

Township attorney Roger Bjorkvik said he filed a petition for Palatine officials to "quash the motion" of LWV members in court. Just a week ago, Palatine LWV members started the legal action to force township officials to place the referendum in the upcoming election.

At a meeting two weeks ago, Palatine officials refused to allow the referendum because there is no legal provision for another government to take over the township's functions.

LWV members claim that since they submitted the required number of signatures to get the referendum on the ballot, it must be allowed regardless of the legal argument.

It's Lions Candy Day In Des Plaines

Members of the Des Plaines Lions Club will be out on the streets today for the annual Lions Candy Day sale benefiting the blind.

More than 150 members, wives and friends of the local service organization will try to raise $4,500 in the Candy Day sale. The 600 Lions Clubs in Illinois hope to raise a total of $350,000 in the sale.

Part of the funds raised here will remain in Des Plaines for local aid to the blind activities. The remainder goes to state and area wide projects such as the Hadley School for the Blind in Winnetka, Leader Dogs for the Blind, the Dialogue and Intercam recording services for the blind and the Illinois Camp Lions for the Visually Handicapped Children in Lake Villa.

Charles Kline is local Candy Day chairman and division captains are Ernest Stuart, Fred Owens and Les Caudell. David Spiegler is Lions Club president.

A second "league" was formed Saturday after the LWV action. Township officials formed a Cook County Township League in an attempt to organize officials of Maine, Niles and Northfield townships to combat the LWV drive.

Earlier this week, Northfield auditors met and decided to put the referendum on the ballot. Niles and Maine officials are facing the same kind of court action as Palatine will be this morning.

Today's case will be heard by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Edward J. Egan, at the Civic Center in downtown Chicago.

Kucharski Campaigns In Des Plaines Today

Edward Kucharski, Republican secretary of state candidate, will campaign in Des Plaines today.

The current assistant secretary of state is to speak at a noon lunch, sponsored by the Maine Township Regular Republican Organization, at the Elks club.

Kucharski will be at the Chicago & North Western Rwy. station at 7:15 a.m. He will tour local banks at 9 a.m.

DES PLAINES POLICE searched a barn Thursday on River Road near Miner Street in an unsuccessful attempt to find a Hillside police officer abducted

Sunday night after stopping a car authorities believe to have been involved in an armed robbery. The Des Plaines effort was one part of a massive

Plans Countersuit On McGovern Headquarters

A former Des Plaines businessman said yesterday he will file a countersuit against the city, asking $425 a month damages, in a dispute over commercial use of the McGovern headquarters building here.

Des Plaines filed suit Sept. 29 against the owner, Robert Dooley, a Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. attorney, seeking $200 a day in fines for alleged commercial use of residentially zoned property at 1630 Miner St.

The suit names LaSalle National Bank as trustee for the property owned by Dooley and the suit was authorized last month by the city council.

Dooley is scheduled to appear in Niles district court Nov. 14 on the charges, in which the city asks for court injunction against continued commercial use of the office.

The attorney, a former real estate and insurance agent here for 14 years, arrived in Des Plaines Tuesday to prepare the countersuit.

THE PROPERTY was rezoned through petition by Dooley from C-2 commercial to R-5 residential in 1971 for possible high-density development. The office property and an adjoining tract that includes an adjoining house and barn, is still for sale with an asking price of $750,000.

Dooley claims that commercial use of the property is allowed under the city's nonconforming ordinance because the site was used commercially before the rezoning.

City officials said that Dooley "abandoned" claim to the nonconforming provision when the building was unoccupied last spring.

A local real estate firm attempted to rent the building for Dooley, leading to a $425 a month July 1 lease with a vacuum company distributor. The firm, Kirby Vacuum Co., received a building construction permit from Des Plaines which was revoked July 3 because of the R-5 zoning. The firm then terminated the lease.

Dooley claims that the city's ban on commercial use of the office has deprived him of the $425 a month rental.

McGOVERN HEADQUARTERS, not named in the suit, currently occupy the building through an informal $250 a month arrangement. Dooley claims he is a "Goldwater Republican" and was in Europe when McGovern supporters signed the letter-lease with his real estate agent.

On Aug. 18, Building Commissioner Alfred Prickett wrote Dooley, saying that the city would allow commercial use of the building by McGovern's workers until November. "It is also my intention to pursue such action . . . as is necessary to continue commercial use to which the property has been put for more than 60 years," Dooley wrote Prickett Aug. 29.

Dooley's insistence on continued commercial use led to council approval of the suit.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, declaring that Lyndon B. Johnson had made a "very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing" in 1969, said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Sen. George S. McGovern called for a new American foreign policy that would extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China, reduce U.S. forces in Europe by half and prevent "reflexive" interventionism in the affairs of other nations. He also charged that reelection of President Nixon would probably mean four more years in jail for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

President Nixon repeated his administration's pledge not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio tomorrow to explain his tax policy.

He limited his pledge to 1973, however.

The House rejected an effort to use highway trust fund money for urban mass transit and then passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill that critics said would slow removal of highway billboards.

A spokesman for Ralph Nader attacked mobile homes as potential fire traps which burn rapidly and offer occupants little hope of escape.

The State

W. Clement Stone, Chicago insurance magnate, attacked as "outrageous, false and purely political" Sen. McGovern's questioning of rate increases granted his company. McGovern said Stone gave $2 million to the GOP campaign in 1968 and asked how much he had given this year to "protect his stake" in a case in which Stone's company was granted rate increases by the Federal Price Commission.

People want to be paid more for what they do and work less for what they get, William S. Lowe, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber.

The World

The United States rejected a renewed Communist Vietnamese demand at the Paris peace talks that South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu be fired as the main obstacle to a peace settlement.

A bomb explosion in the living room of a Roman Catholic home in Northern Ireland killed a young man and an earlier blast closed a Belfast newspaper. The death of Patrick Connolly in Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, was the 598th known violent death in more than three years of strife.

Southern Yemen rebels destroyed an airliner carrying high-ranking members of the Marxist Southern government and killed all aboard, the Middle East News Agency said.

The War

Communist forces seized strategic high ground and heavily shelled an artillery post supporting a beleaguered South Vietnamese ranger camp along the Central coast, field reports said. In the war, B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troops and supplies around Saigon.

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange suffered one of their worst beatings in recent weeks with glamor stocks hit hardest. The Dow Jones Average fell 10.01 to 941.30. Declines shot ahead of advances, 1,017 to 399, and the average share of common stock lost 47 cents. Volume soared to 17,730,000 shares from 16,640,000 traded Wednesday. Prices also declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

'After 6' Meat Would Cost More

by LEA TONKIN

Fred Meeske has a beef with consumers who think they'd be getting a break buying fresh meat after 6 p.m.

Those juicy offers made by chain stores this week to union butchers for the privilege of selling meat during evening hours are going to cost consumers extra money, says Meeske, part owner of the Meeske's Super Market in Mount Prospect. He is a former member of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America. The organization was offered additional pay by at least two major supermarket chain operations this week in return for an opportunity to sell meat after 6 p.m.

JEWEL FOOD STORES made its offer Wednesday. This came after the union's decision two weeks ago not to consider a bid to sell meat after 6 p.m. A spokesman for Dominick's Finer Foods said the company had made an unpublished offer similar to Jewel's this week. The union contract with Chicago area food stores expired last weekend.

The Jewel offer included pay increases for meat cutters and other meat department personnel, if the union agrees that meat cut and packaged during regular working hours can be sold after 6 p.m. "Meat is going to cost more if it's sold at night, though," according to Meeske. "It's all in the cost of service."

"As far as we are concerned, it would mean poor service to sell after 6 p.m.," he added. "You can't anticipate how much of a particular cut of meat you'll need, or if a customer is going to want a cut of a special thickness of meat."

CONCERN FOR THE consumer is elicited by the major chains in their bid for extended butchers' hours, however. The Dominick's spokesman said, "All food operators have the care of the customer in mind, and they want to buy meat after 6 p.m."

"I doubt there would be an increase in prices if meat is sold after six," because we would hope for additional sales," he continued. "Right now we have a lot of meat on hand that is cut after 6 p.m., but we can't sell it."

"No negotiating sessions are set on the latest offer," said the Dominick's spokesman yesterday afternoon. "In the meantime, we are still open later hours in our stores. We're open to change," he said of the added evening hours in Chicago area stores. The company is studying the buying trends of shoppers in the Chicago area after 6 p.m., he said.

"We get quite a few letters from customers complaining they can't buy meat at night, but we tell them to write to the union or the newspapers to put the pressure on," he added.

Jewel officials said the company's latest offer to the butchers' union is made in response to overwhelming consumer demand and the concern expressed by meat cutters about evening and Sunday work. The firm withdrew from group negotiations with other food stores this week in making the offer.

A PREVIOUS OFFER requiring a journeyman on duty until 9 p.m. at overtime rates in return for the sale of meat after 6 p.m. was turned down by the union.

The Jewel offer includes an additional pay allowance of $10 a week for head meat cutters and journeymen; $8 a week for apprentices; and $4 a week for full-time wrappers and delicatessen employees, subject to Pay Board approval, in stores where meat can be sold after 6 p.m. Sunday and holiday work would be eliminated and no meat cutters or wrappers would have to work after 6 p.m.

Harry G. Beckner, Jewel president, noted many customers have few hours during the week in which they can purchase fresh meat because of their jobs. "Others find it presently impossible to provide for unexpected needs for fresh meats which arise after the present 6 p.m. sale restriction," he said.

Beckner noted that other area employers in the Chicago area are making similar offers.

The Jewel offer also included an added pay allowance to the union demand for a base pay contract boost of $10 for all full-time meat department personnel that would be retroactive to Oct. 1 of this year along with other fringe benefits.

A continued consumer interest in the later shopping hours for fresh meat is reported by Jim McLean, manager of the Jewel Food store in Elk Grove Village. Working men and women have a problem buying meat, he said, since they can only shop for meat on Saturday.

WEIGHING THE cost of meat sold after 6 p.m. could be a consideration for consumers if chain stores gain union approval of evening sales. New offers to butchers were made this week by area food store chains.

activities.

Search activities are being coordinated by the Hillside police department. A spokesman there said that several leads have been reported by mystics and psychics who claim to have had visions of the missing officer or his abductors.

"We don't disregard any leads," the spokesman said. He added that all police organizations contacted to help in the search have been cooperating and working as a team.

The missing police officer radioed his dispatcher Sunday night that he was stopping a car that was "acting a little funny" on the westbound ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway at Mannheim Road. Officer Raymond said only that the license number was "Double L, five."

before he was cut off by a transmission from another police department. The next message received by the Hillside police from Raymond was that "something don't look right." Another patrolman driving in the area rushed to the scene, arriving only two minutes after Raymond's last transmission. All he found was Raymond's empty squad car with its headlights on and red lights flashing.

Hillside Police Chief Robert L. Huffman said police were "surmising" that Raymond was kidnaped by two men who robbed the Swedish Manor Restaurant, 4012 Roosevelt, Hillside, at 10:10 p.m. Raymond stopped the suspicious car at 10:15 p.m.

No description is available of the men, because they wore ski masks during the armed holdup.

Police Probe Burglaries

Des Plaines police are investigating a string of 17 business burglaries that have occurred in a six-block-square area in central Des Plaines during the last month.

The busy thieves struck two more businesses Wednesday night but failed to escape with anything.

Sgt. Robert Strullini discovered break-ins early yesterday at Lee's Brake and Clutch Shop, 895 First Ave., and Des Plaines Lumber and Coal Co., 1000 Lee St.

Strullini discovered windows at both businesses had been pried open while on patrol about 4 a.m.

Lee's Brake and Clutch Shop was burglarized Sept. 23 when thieves entered by breaking a window. According to reports, $30 was stolen from the cash box during that burglary.

All 15 burglaries have occurred since Sept. 8 with one store, Van's Arts and Crafts, 1203 Oakwood Ave., being burglarized three times for a total of $2,245.

Police believe the same persons are responsible for all 15 burglaries.

You guys with the house, the two cars,

Gem, Mineral Show Here On Weekend

The Des Plaines Valley Geological Society will hold its eighth annual gem and mineral show Saturday and Sunday at the Rand Park Fieldhouse, 2025 Miner St., Des Plaines.

In addition to members' collections of gems, rocks, minerals, fossils, jewelry and lapidary work, the show will feature a display of moon rock fragments on loan from the Illinois State Museum. Live demonstrations will show jewelry making, faceting and rock polishing.

Show hours are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Admission for adults is 50 cents; ages 8 to 16 are 25 cents and under 8 are admitted free.

the room full of kids, the mortgage payments, the auto payments, the education bills, the loan bills...

Stop!
Take a look around. See where you've been. Check where you are. Determine where you're going. If you're satisfied with life as you live it, you're in good shape. If you're frustrated and in a rut, the future holds promise.

And it's how you mold the coming events in your life that is the key to living a better life.

YOUR SUCCESS as a person — the way you prepare yourself for the day to day world and how you adjust to its pressures and demands — depends on both your mental and physical outlook. And both areas of personal health are intertwined. It is difficult to be strong in one without being strong in the other. A healthy body nurtures a healthy mind. In life, you must deal from strength, from a positive mental and physical attitude.

Who you are, your worth as a person, your goals and whether you achieve them, your relationship with others and your commitment to self all contribute to whether you are living the best life you can.

Your chances of attaining a better life are good if your cardiovascular and respiratory systems can stand the rigors of the change in your body as you become older, if you can relieve the mental stresses of the sit down world by venting your energies in other directions and if your body looks and feels better.

Experts consider the mental and physical health of the nation a serious problem. With the change in family structure, the apparent lessening impact of the church, the increased use of automation and the resultant minimizing of self worth, the impact of communications and the transition to an urban, technological society, your whole being may need overhauling.

WHILE A GUIDE on how to live a better life is restricted — what is a better life for you may not be a better life for another person — it is important that you be prepared both mentally and physically so you can at least do your best toward achieving your highest standards of living.

Living The Better Life: A Challenge To Mind And Body

So how can you live a better life? It's a broad question with about as many variables as there are people.

"The major problem with people," according to Dr. Robert Simon, internist at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, "has always been identity, who am I; a purpose, what am I going to be; the method, how am I going to achieve my goals; and to establish one's individuality. If a person can resolve these stepping stones he'll have less of a problem coping. He can then function successfully."

Dr. Simon sees the suburban man with similar problems as his big city counterpart although he stressed that these problems, do not depend on where people live.

"FOR THE GUY in the suburbs with a big house," Dr. Simon said, "he still may feel uneasy about his importance. He's got problems, because of overhead, he's got to earn a buck, pay the mortgage, send the kids to school."

"If you're working and have a small piece of the action what can you do? What is your worth as a person? Are you important and appreciated? Are you more than just a contribution to a bigger gain? The guy may feel his job is terribly frustrating. The guy who thinks he's so independent suddenly finds he may not be so independent after all."

According to Dr. Simon, "it's easy to say, 'change jobs,' but it's ultimately more complex than that. Ultimately we have to live in society, in a world that's not always friendly, with so many and varied people. You still must function, sustain yourself."

"Ultimately we have to live in a society where either people are the most important thing or you have to suffer the consequences. You have to ask a basic question. What is more important and what can be done. What is needed is to add a dimension that meets the needs of the people."

The first requirement to living a better life, according to Dr. Simon, is a desire and commitment to do so. But, he said, that's where the fallacy lies. There are many things people would like to have happen, he said, but there is a lack of willingness to do the things necessary to make them a reality.

UNTIL PEOPLE establish what they feel is a priority, they won't accomplish anything. There's a big gap between a desire to do something and a commitment to action, he said.

According to members of the Community Counseling Center at Harper College in Palatine, what's one man's utopia is not necessarily that of another man's. Or, there would be as many utopias as there are people.

According to Gary Rankin, director of testing at the community counseling center, and Dennis Brokke of Schaumburg, counselor, the ideal life cannot be described or defined. They agree a goal should be where sensitivity, understanding and an environment where people can define their own lives exists.

They also agreed that another goal should be where a person achieves his maximum potential as a human being, whatever that potential is. Persons should be encouraged to explore other areas of life, to dabble, to try different things. People have created an idea about life, they said, and will make decisions without investigating or getting all the facts.

The Rev. Vernon Schrieber, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights, feels life is filled with frustrations, fear, guilt and failure and that the Church is man's salvation.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE have frustrations. They have an either/or situation, which they don't like. People come to me and say, 'I think I ought to do this buy, my conscience says no.' These people have a lot of guilt. Maybe a reinforcement or reevaluation of our values is necessary."

Rev. Schrieber listed examples of several types of problems he deals with every day in his role as pastor. They sum up his contention that a faith in God is needed.

"One of the biggest problems is parents who have a sense of failure with their children. They ask why their kids aren't like other kids they know. A tremendous amount of my work is in dealing with death. Death has no respect for persons. I have to help people face death realistically. Another big fear is middle aged man's insecurity in his job. He feels he can't handle it."

Rev. Schrieber said some people don't react soon enough to some of their problems and therefore it's too late in some cases to help them. For instance, "In marriage, the Church married you. It set up your goals, to love, honor, obey. Sometimes people don't come here soon enough to say it's not working too well."

TO LIVE A BETTER life, according to Rev. Schrieber, you must remove yourself from what he calls "Law oriented" situations and replace it with a "gospel oriented" life.

"People will find out their worth in life when it is not law oriented," Rev. Schrieber said. "It's not, I ought to do this or that or what do people think of me. We have to replace that with gospel oriented life. God and His mercy has set us apart from the law oriented."

"The law oriented person either follows the rules or says to hell with laws. Or he follows them and is guilty. The gospel oriented person says, 'I'm having trouble, I should seek help. God wants to help me. I'm secure enough rather than ashamed to talk about my problems.'"

"The better life is found when the person becomes Christ or gospel oriented. That reliance doesn't only reinforce you when you're following laws. With the actual knowledge of God you have experienced a kind of joyfulness or peace which you can live out that day. It doesn't give you all the answers but you're not dependent on any old kinds of standards to have a full life."

To help achieve a contentment in yourself, a concentration is needed to link your physical well being with your mental.

ACCORDING TO physical fitness instructors Art Michaely and Dottie Koelling of the Northwest Suburban YMCA, in Des Plaines, there is a great deal of stress on the heart in everyday living and if this stress is not relieved problems arise, such as heart attacks and strokes.

Stress results in the constriction of the blood vessels, which act as a plumbing system within your body. They expand and contract when needed. Expanded blood vessels help pump blood through your system to the heart. A problem arises when cholesterol gathers within your blood vessels because of an absence of physical activity.

In other words, a physically active person will help flush out the cholesterol. But you must be active more than once a week. The weekend athlete, they said is in for trouble. When his heart beats faster his blood vessels, which are clogged, constrict and his blood pressure rises. This could lead to very serious heart problems. People have a lot of stress but don't work it off.

The stress factor in people's lives can also be a contributing factor to the problems in some marriages today, they said.

When the husband builds up stress all day he may come home and take it out on his wife. She should understand this. But it would be better if the husband would go out and jog or do other forms of exercise, then shower and come back home not belligerent but with a whole-some attitude.

WOMEN, ESPECIALLY housewives, do a lot of physical work. As long as the woman stayed at home the stress factors were mainly with men. Now, with women's lib, with women in competition with men, there is more trouble with women. They explained that women are affected by stress as much as men are in our competitive society. The woman at home has a release from stress. She can scream at her children, letting her frustrations out. The women who work and have to come home have a lot of stress. She's never done. When she gets home she has to clean house, make supper, take care of the kids. Then she's resentful because her husband doesn't help out.

Michaely blamed the sit down world for our physical problems. "Once man began he walked upright. His muscles adapted to this position. Now man is in a seated society, at his desk, in front of the television, in his car. This is bad for posture. Kids today are first in the crib, then in a seat, a high chair, car seat. This is the generation that grew up with the playpen."

Michaely said the solution to what ails us can be gotten through physical fitness. "A person feels fresher in the morning after physical exercise at night. You can get renewed vitality you haven't had since you were a kid. You'll have a readiness for the day ahead."

"BUSINESSMEN HAVE gone to exercise programs and have come out of them with sharper, fresher, newer ideas and make more correct decisions, thus increasing their work production. More and more office buildings in the area have physical facilities included for their employees. Tired, overstressed executives don't make correct decisions."

One of the problems today is that physical labor has been taken out of the average job. We could work out our frustration and tension if we could be on a job where we would hammer-nails."

Michaely feels if a goal is worth reaching, if you feel it's necessary to achieve something, it will get done.

"People will only do what they feel is necessary. If they feel it's necessary to read a book once a week or to walk a mile they'll do so. If you say to yourself, 'I remember how I felt and looked 45 pounds ago and I want to attain that level again,' you can come very close to it if it's important enough to you."

"You owe it to yourself to accomplish this. You also owe it to your wife, you owe it to your job, you owe it to your boss. Come home 45 pounds lighter and in trim shape and tell me your wife wouldn't be happy."

MICHAELY SAID there is a direct relationship between overweight people and an unhealthy person.

"Weight creeps up on you," he said. One of the big problems that we develop our lifestyles when we're young. From the age of 8 to 16 are our most physically active years. At that time we also develop our eating styles and habits. Now, when you get to be 25 years old, when you're driving around and mostly sitting in a chair and not involved in a lot of physical activity, you still have the same eating habits you developed when you were younger."

New Hair Fashions, New Clothing Fashions

Beauticians Stage Double Feature

by MARIANNE SCOTT
Women's Editor

When the hairdressers put on a show it's really two shows in one. Not only do you get to view the latest fashions in clothing, but you also get to see and hear comments on the latest in hairdos.

There were 10 versions of Fall '72 hairdos Monday when Northwest Chapter of the Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Inc., along with the Lake County and Elgin chapters, presented "Beauty Caravan," a luncheon-fashion show at the Rolling Meadows Holiday Inn.

While most of the models were blonde, (hair style details show up better on blonde), one had only to look around at the tables to see tresses in every shade of brunette, brownette, red and, of course, blonde. And all beautifully coiffed. No self-respecting hairdresser would ever be caught among her trades-women without at least a well-coiffed wig. Well-coiffed salon customers and friends at the luncheon swelled the crowd to more than 400.

RUNWAY MODELS WORE their hair long and short, up and down, iron curled and roller curled, casual and formal. It was amazing the way the artists created styles that went as well with sports ensembles as with glamorous evening attire.

Runway ensembles were from the Lual Shop of the Plum Grove Shopping Center in Rolling Meadows. Donna Donges of Arlington Heights, whose hair was styled by Ruth Montgomery, Mount Prospect, modeled a really spectacular Oriental obi with long, fluttery sleeves. She also modeled a black halter gown with floor-length coat hooded in nutria.

Among the striking ensembles modeled by Doris Silver of Arlington Heights, whose flaming red hair was also done by Mrs. Montgomery, were several Butte knits and a simulated mink over a beige, black, brown and burnt orange dress with the new dolman sleeves.

Many of the runway colors were in muted fall tones including the once-popular hunter green. One such nostalgic outfit was a knit sweater and skirt in angora and lamb's wool, practically guaranteed to shed on your escort.

THERE WERE ALSO many plaids, both large and small. While it is never mentioned by commentators, buyers should watch for perfect matching of plaids. Not every pair of slacks and not every jacket or skirt is matched at the seams, even on some of the more expensive garments.

Monday's luncheon was preceded by an educational program featuring Thomas Mosley, who was assisted by Jo Ann Ostrowski and Armand Gentile, Arlington Heights, and Carole Breust, Schaumburg. Both Armand, who has his own shop in Arlington Heights, and Miss Breust created hair styles during the workshop session.

Ray Raines, owner of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Heights, commented the morning workshop, and Miss Breust, was commentator of the runway hair fashions that followed the luncheon show.

APPRENTICE HAIRDRESSER Karen Petersen, who is employed in Arlington Heights, served as a model during the educational program that preceded the hairdressers' fashion show and luncheon show held Monday at the Holiday Inn, Rolling Meadows.

For working around house or garden—dusting, workshop sanding, spraying insecticides, wherever there are airborne particles that might irritate—a new face mask. Molded of a non-woven synthetic fiber in face-fitting contours to prevent contact with mouth and nostrils, the Aseptex mask also is said to offer protection from ragweed and other pollens.

A compact refrigerator designed, literally, to fit into any corner. Styling of the space-saving triangular shaped refrigerator is a simulated dark wood furniture finish, with a deeply carved panel effect which makes it fit into almost any room—family room, bedroom, office as well as kitchen. Has 2.5 cubic foot capacity with two shelves, two racks, a freezer compartment and two ice cube trays. Sanyo Electric, Inc., Moonachie, N.J. 07074.

Thinking ahead to Christmas, there's a new automatic timer for Christmas trees designed to end the twice-nightly scramble under branches and over presents to plug in and disconnect the tree lights. The timer turns on the tree—or any other interior decorative lighting fixture—at a pre-selected hour and turns it off up to five hours later.

Theme of the show is "Harvest of Fashion," with ensembles from Joan's House of Fashion, Addison, Gingiss Bros. Men's Formal Wear and Rifken's Furs, both of Elgin. Weaver's Hammond Organ Studios, Elgin will provide the music and Feminine Coutures, Addison, will show the latest in hair styles.

The chapter coordinating the event is the Villa Park MU GAMMA chapter who will also be the models for the evening. The Home Line

Dear Dorothy: Noticed a reader said she brought back some pineapples from Hawaii. Isn't there some rule forbidding the importing of fruit from another country? — Marietta S.

You're forgetting that Hawaii is a regular state. The Department of Agriculture still maintains inspection stations to check plants, fruits, vegetables, meat and most product coming through and there is one species of pineapple that cannot be brought to the mainland. Checkpoints, of necessity, are on many state borders, too.

Even with these precautions, slips happen. You'll remember the little boy who brought in some snails, unbeknownst to anyone, and before their discovery, the snails had become a fierce problem in that part of the country. That's also the way the fire ant slipped into this country. Far, far cry from the pineapple, I'm glad to say.

Dear Dorothy: Too bad about your broken ankle. Don't know how big your cast is, but what I did several years ago when I had a broken toe might be of help to you. I wrapped the whole area in aluminum foil, then took my shower. — Liz Dwyer

Thanks for the thoughtful suggestion. But this is one of those "long-leg" casts — toes to high-thigh and it will have to be sponge baths for the duration.

Dear Dorothy: If you want to make a flaky pie crust that will practically melt in your mouth, add 1/4 teaspoon baking powder to your regular recipe. — M. Hart

Can attest to this as I've been using baking powder in my pie crust for years. I also add a smidgen of lemon juice for taste.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill.)

THE Arc RESTAURANT AND COCKTAIL LOUNGE
1813 Waukegan Road
Glenview, Illinois

A great restaurant, close to home, that offers excellent food . . . elegant atmosphere . . . entertainment nightly.

If you have thought of going out for dinner (or maybe planning a party) and wished you knew of a great place close to home, we would like to invite you to The Arc Restaurant. This dining mecca, one of the finest on the North Shore, has something for everyone. It is a favorite of honeymooners and families - of businessmen and the late-night crowd. The Arc is everything a great restaurant should be . . . and more . . .

for your dining pleasure. There are intimate booths for two, or large tables for groups and families. The decor of this restaurant gives diners an immediate sense of elegance. However rich and impressive the surroundings, the atmosphere is warm and friendly. This is due to the fact that the restaurant has been owned and operated by the Lange family for the past twenty-four years. While there is an "old world" touch to the decorating, the potato, Chef's salad with your choice of dressing, hot fresh bread, and beverage. In case you still have room for dessert, there are many from which to choose. Families are welcome, and a reduced priced children's selection is included on the menu.

For those who prefer to dine later, a separate Late Supper Menu is available after 10:30 P.M. This will appeal to those with a small appetite or the heartiest eater, because it not only features bacon and eggs and delicious hot sandwiches, but many items from the regular menu such as Steak, Bar-B-Q Ribs, Veal Parmigiana, and Seafood. It also includes potato and salad, hot bread, and beverage.

Incidentally, the ARC is only 10 minutes away from Golf Mill Theatre.

Luncheons with Fashions

Lunch here is a delightful part of the day. The restaurant and lounge open at 11:30 A.M. daily and features lively fashion shows from 12:30 to 2 P.M. A special Luncheon Menu includes a "Businessmen's Special" daily, and you can select a complete luncheon or a delicious salad or sandwich. We find many businessmen take a break from their busy schedule and entertain their clients or guests . . . or Mothers, when the children are in school, come in for lunch and see the latest in fashions.

Sunday has its own special menu, and dinners are served from Noon. Besides items on the regular menu, The Arc features delicious Roast Long Island Duckling with Rice Pilaf and Orange Sauce . . . a great favorite of many regulars!

Regardless of what time you visit the Arc Restaurant, you will find that here is a place where you are never rushed - where you can truly relax and enjoy that "after-dinner drink or second cup of coffee."

The Happy Hour

From 4 until 6 o'clock during the week, time is set aside for the "Happy Hour." The Arc has a complete selection of the finest wines, cocktails, after-dinner liquors and cordials . . . or a bottle of champagne for that special celebration! Stop in and chat with the friendliest bartender in town and watch him use the computerized Electro Bar, or whip up your favorite drink.

Entertainment

There is entertainment nightly at The Arc Restaurant. The Piano-Bar, which has been remodeled, is one of the most beautiful and liveliest in Chicagoland. Hal Otis is featured at the Piano, but he also plays an excellent organ and violin. Join the crowd to sing and dance until 4 A.M. every night including Sunday. A good time is practically guaranteed.

For something extra in the way of entertainment, a Tarot Card Reader is on duty during the lunch hour, and every evening after 8 P.M. (10 P.M. on Saturday). If you happen to be one of the many interested in ESP, come in and let Madame Carole tell you about your past, present, and future.

Private Party Rooms

If you are planning a special luncheon or dinner . . . birthday, anniversary, wedding reception, office party, or meeting . . .

Mohr Names Sherwood To Reelection Group

State Sen. Howard Mohr, R-Forest Park, has named Des Plaines Ald. Robert Sherwood (2nd) as chairman of his Des Plaines area reelection committee.

Mohr is seeking a third term in the 5th District, which includes 31 Des Plaines precincts in Maine Township, all west of the Des Plaines River and south of the Chicago and North Western Rwy. outbelt tracks.

Sherwood, of 1416 Henry, was defeated last spring in his bid to get on the GOP ballot in the 5th District Illinois House of Representatives race.

In a statement, Sherwood said that although Mohr is now in Des Plaines because of the recent redistricting, "he is serving us with the same interest and enthusiasm as he has represented his district over the past six years."

"Sen. Mohr, who is also mayor of his own home town of Forest Park, has served with our own Des Plaines Mayor Herb Behrel on the state, cities and villages commission," Sherwood said.

"MANY OF Sen. Mohr's chief interests coincide with those of us in Des Plaines, including O'Hare Airport noise and air pollution, railroad crossing improvements and solution to common flooding problems," he said.

ACCORDING TO Sherwood, Mohr "has indicated he will push for the necessary funds to relieve the serious flood damage that recently occurred in the Salt Creek area."

"He has further stated that he will urge similar attention in the Higgins-Wilow Creek area which has caused serious flood damage to the southern portion of Des Plaines as well as the Village of Rosemont," he said.

Sherwood said Mohr is available for public appearances in Des Plaines and hopes to meet local residents, civic and business groups. Persons or groups who would like to meet Mohr should call Sherwood at 296-3333 or 935-4000, he said. Mohr can also be contacted at his office by calling 771-6555, Sherwood said.

ARLINGTON TOYOTA

—North, South To Battle

Meanwhile, Gartner says his offense is "ready to shine" after just one touchdown in three games. "In that first game, we had to run (12 yards backwards against Meadows) because Brian Bradfield wasn't ready to throw."

"We think he's ready now which should balance our attack and open things up some," Gartner said.

"What we've got to start doing is stopping some people. I just can't believe Maine South has backs like Proviso."

"Our kids were in the right spots last week but sometimes we just couldn't get the job done because we're not good enough athletes," he said.

"Those kids over at Proviso are darn good athletes. We think we can contain Maine South. At least the talent is more equal than it has been in our last three games."

Winless North has attempted a more ambitious schedule; it's victors have a combined 9-0 record. But on a lesser scale, Maine South has been just slightly more successful, winning once.

The Hawks lost a 14-12 home opener to Wheeling by not converting either of two two-point conversion attempts. Then South picked up its lone win, 16-6 over Morton East, before last weekend's loss to Deerfield.

"We're very green and inexperienced," said Schmidt who returned just one offensive starter this fall. "But I've told our kids that point into a fourth ballgame, I can't consider that an excuse anymore."

Bowling Clubs Begin

Maine East's Boys' Bowling Club begins its highly competitive season of team bowling Sept. 28.

Sponsor Rodger Leys said 71 boys were present the first day getting in shape for the regular season, and the top bowler for the day was Scott Friedman of Morton Grove who bowled a 580 series — 193 average.

Team captains for this year from Des Plaines are Lou Brad, Dennis Drucker, Monte Pollard, and Howie Rogers.

Seven of the 20 team captains reside in Morton Grove. They are Stewart Becker, Ron Bezdon, Scott Friedman, Lee Goldstein, Bryan Lipson, Neal Shanoff, and Jeff Ungar.

From Niles the team captains are Dave Bunt, Dave Contorno, Brian Krone, Al Miller, John Mittelbrun, and Orin Trademan, and from Park Ridge the team captains are Jeff Kachigian, Guy Marshall, and Al Schultz.

While the first two bowling sessions for members of Maine East's Girls' Bowling Club are for handicap establishment, the girls were really knocking 'em down at the Golf Mill Lanes.

For Sept. 20 the high individual game (168) was bowled by Sharon Haskamp of Niles, and Judy Kaplan of Morton Grove had the high individual series for two games — a 372.

Oakton Scores

New Golf Mark

The Oakton Community College golf team set a new school record Tuesday at Glenview Park District Golf Course with a 304.

The double dual meet with Mayfair and Triton.

Mayfair also set a new school record for them with a total of 296, thereby beating OCC, but the Raiders scored a victory over Triton whose total score was 331.

The lowest score among all the players in the meet was turned in by OCC team captain, John Murnane, with a 72. A new addition to the team, Jim Lange, scored a 77 as did Joe Daneluck, followed by Bill Richardson with a 78, and Jim Weser's 83.

The next conference meet will be on Wednesday against McHenry at McHenry. At this point, the Raiders record is two wins and four defeats. Two of the defeats were against teams who established new low scorers for their school.

The golf team has improved considerably since the addition of Joe Daneluck and Jim Lange and its scoring beyond rowski. Projections are for a finish of qualifications for participation in the Oct. 27 and 28.

after he allegedly stole an iron from a Des Plaines hardware store and attempted to get a refund by telling the store clerk he purchased the appliance.

Scott Wolfgram, 19 of 1320 Rand Rd., Des Plaines, was arrested in downtown Des Plaines two hours after he reportedly attempted to sell it back at Ace Hardware Store, 694 Lee St. where police said it had been stolen.

According to reports, Wolfgram walked into the hardware store and removed the iron, valued at $13.83, from a shelf in the store. Wolfgram is accused of then taking the iron and attempting to get a refund.

A clerk in the store reportedly told police when Wolfgram was told he couldn't get a refund without a purchase receipt, he left the store, with the iron.

A CLERK AT Alonge's told police Wolfgram left the iron on a shelf in the store and walked out after being refused a refund.

Patrolmen Elmer Hausler and Jerry Liggit arrested Wolfgram two hours later while the youth was walking in the downtown section. He was later identified by the two store clerks.

A hypodermic needle was allegedly found in Wolfgram's pocket when he was arrested.

He was released on a $2,000 bond and scheduled to appear in the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court, Nov. 16 at 1:30 p.m.

MR. FERRARI DRIVES A FIAT.

The Mr. Ferrari we refer to is the very same Mr. Ferrari who makes some of the fastest and most expensive cars in the world.
And for his own personal use, he does drive a Fiat 128.
It's not that he feels the Fiat is any better than a Ferrari.
He just feels that the car we make is a more sensible car to drive around town in than the car he makes.
However, it is rather enlightening that out of all the small sensible cars sold in Europe—some fifty in all—he chose a Fiat.
Enlightening, but not astonishing, when you consider that in Europe, where they've been buying small cars for three generations, they buy more Fiats than anything else. Volkswagens included.
Now, if you're thinking about buying your first small car, you might keep all this in mind.
After all, when it comes to cars, you can't fool a Ferrari.

Criminal Justice Seminar Today

More than 80 suburban communities, including eight of the Northwest suburbs, will be represented at a conference on criminal justice today in Chicago.

The seminar, sponsored by the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission, will include a speech by Jesse James, the deputy regional administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA).

Other speakers will include Chicago Police Supt. James B. Conlisk, chairman of the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission, and Arthur Bilok, chairman of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ILEC).

Don Munson, a representative of the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National League of Cities will also speak to suburban mayors and police chiefs attending the seminar.

NORTHWEST SUBURBAN communities which will be represented at the conference include Des Plaines, Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Wheeling.

Heights Man Charged With Arrest Resist

A 24-year-old Prospect Heights man was charged with resisting arrest yesterday when he allegedly scuffled with a Des Plaines police sergeant after he was arrested for three traffic violations.

According to reports, Gerald C. Hawkins, 24, of 811 Wildwood, Prospect Heights, jumped from a table in the police station security room onto Sgt. Robert Sturini. As the two men scuffled, patrolmen Robert Neis and Robert Schultz helped subdue Hawkins.

Hawkins was brought to the station after Schultz reportedly observed him driving in an erratic manner at a high rate of speed along River Road near the Chicago North Western Bay outerbelt tracks.

Hawkins was charged with resisting arrest, speeding, improper lane usage and driving without tail lights. He was released on a $1,000 bond and scheduled to appear in the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court Nov. 9 at 1:30 p.m.

The LEAA, and ILEC, and the local criminal justice commission represent the three stages of approval for federal funding for various law enforcement and criminal justice projects.

Federal funds under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act are made available to local communities for police training, Operation Identification equipment, delinquency prevention programs, police communications equipment, and other projects.

To receive federal funding, local projects need approval both from the criminal justice commission and from the ILEC. Block grants of federal funds for Illinois are assigned to the ILEC by the LEAA which is an agency of the U.S. Department of Justice.

THE CONFERENCE for suburban officials Friday is the third sponsored by the criminal justice commission. Earlier seminars were held for Chicago officials and for private organizations in the city which seek federal funding through the criminal justice commission.

Northwest suburban communities are represented on a full-time basis on both the ILEC and the criminal justice commission.

Jack Walsh, former mayor of Arlington Heights, is a member of the ILEC and Jack Pahl, former mayor of Elk Grove Village, is a member of the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission.

In addition, both commissions include membership by officials of county circuit courts, state and local police agencies and other area-wide organizations.

First National Man In Moot Court Competition

Egile H. Krolls, assistant trust officer of First National Bank of Des Plaines, has been selected as a candidate to compete in the moot court competition program at John Marshall Law School in Chicago.

Participation in the Moot Court, an honors program, is recognized throughout the country as a symbol of superior legal skill. Each year law schools send representatives to compete in regional and national competitions and many law firms give preference to those who have had Moot Court background.

A member of First National's trust department since 1969, Krolls started his banking career 11 years ago at a loop bank and has specialized in taxation and probate matters. He has written articles in TAXES, a tax magazine, and has had an article dealing with farmers' tax problems published in the Commerce Clearing House's publication.

Valparaiso Honors

Alan Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hanson, 628 Nobel Ln., Des Plaines, has been recognized for academic achievement at Valparaiso University. Students receiving this honor have earned a grade point average of 2.5 points or better under a 3.0 system during spring semester.

From The Library

The Des Plaines Public Library will be host to a reading and discussion group on Wed., Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. Several Des Plaines women formed this group last year and welcome new participants on the third Wednesday of every month.

This month the book to be discussed is "Who Owns America?" by Walter J. Hickel. A new book is selected by the group each month. Mrs. Lawson of the library staff moderates the discussion in the Historical Room of the library. Anyone wishing further information may call Mrs. Lawson at the library (827-5551) or Mrs. Charles Knittle at 827-5733.

Wrong Price In Walgreens Ad

The Walgreens ad which appeared in yesterday's Herald indicated a price of $3.69 for 1/2 gal. White Vodka or Kerby House Gln. The price should have been $6.66 for those items. The Herald apologizes for any inconvenience this may have caused.
